MR. LEE'S WILL.

The will of George C. Lee, the banker, was filed in the Middlesex county probate court, East Cambridge, this week. It is dated Sept. 26, 1904, and his Newton and Boston homes, with their contents, are left to his wife, Mrs. Caroline H. Lee, who also receives half the net income of the personal property which is left in trust.

The remaining half of the net income of the trust is to be distributed in equal portions among Rose Lee West, Harriett Lee Hammond, Caroline E. Pessenden, Isabella Lee Mumford, daughters; George C. Lee, Jr., son, and Alice Lee Roosevelt (Longworth), grandchild.

A little vanity keeps a man keyed up to his best, while too much renders him obnoxious to his fellows.

ELIOT AIDS

The parlors of Eliot Church were well filled Tuesday evening when an entertainment was given by the Eliot Aids. The first part of the program was a representation of a wedding ceremony in Japanese high life. Mrs. Carlton Ellison sang the prologue. Mr. Ellison piano accompanist, and the characters were represented by Mildred Taylor, Evelyn Converse, Dorothy Duncanson, Marguerite Granger, Hazel Smith, Marjorie Warren, Helen Eustis, Phyllis Taylor, Helen Brooke, Harriet Ellison, Helen Robinson, Doris Caldwell and Marion Jackson. During the intermission violin solos were rendered by Miss Irene Brown, Miss Lydia Brown accompanist. The second part of the program was the presentation of the old sweethearts of the man and woman who are to be married which were given as living pictures in a neatly constructed frame. Mr. Edwin O. Childs, Jr., was the bachelor and his sweethearts were Betty, Miss Louise Bacon; Kate, Miss Dorothy Robinson; Blanche, Miss Marjorie Under; Elizabeth, Miss Helen Morton; Mildred, Miss Nina Granger; Clara, Miss Cordelia Litchfield; Jeanette, Miss Miriam Bacon; Helen, Miss Pauline Dunne; Fezia, Miss Hazel Snyder; Mary, Miss Helen Ganze. Miss Ganze, representing Mary, was the bride-to-be and her sweethearts were Billy, Edgar Birdsall; Jack, Walter G. Barrows; John, Theodore R. Lockwood; Algernon, James M. Hayward; Bob, Winslow A. Dunne; Henri, Harold B. Stanton; Charlie, Stephen Wilson; Burton, Herbert W. Kenway. During the evening the young ladies of the Aids Society dressed in costumes of white, sold flowers and candy.

MR. SEAVER BURIED.

Scores of friends, former business associates and relatives paid tribute to Joseph Seaver, who was a well-known citizen of the city, at funeral services held Sunday afternoon in the home of his son, at 78 Floral avenue, Newton Highlands. The deceased was for 27 years station master at Newton Lower Falls, on the Boston & Albany circuit, and a number of railroad men were present at the funeral Sunday.

The services were conducted by Rev. George G. Phipps, a retired clergyman, whose home is Newton Highlands. The body was taken to Forest Hills for burial and at the cemetery the funeral party was met by Meridian Lodge, A. F. and A. M., of Natick, in which Mr. Seaver held membership. The Masons formed an escort and at the grave conducted their ritual. Four sons acted as pallbearers. They were Edward W. E. Parker, Joshua H. and Nathaniel Seaver.

FIRE

The fire last Monday afternoon in the home corner of Centre street and Commonwealth avenue, Newton Centre, owned by Mr. A. L. Rand and occupied by Mr. E. Warren Foote, was caused by sparks from a defective flue and badly damaged the rooms on the third floor, with some water damage on the second floor. Mrs. Julia A. B. Cleveland, the mother of Mrs. Foote, who is an invalid, was taken from the house by the firemen, and Mr. Foote's son, Mr. W. Cleveland Foote, who is convalescing from an attack of pneumonia, was assisted by his physician and fiancée and walked to a neighbor's house. The damage was estimated at $500.

The absurd stories in the Boston papers relative to young Mr. Foote's efforts to aid his grandmother were absolutely untrue and deserve the severest criticism.

RECORD BROKEN.

Tuesday broke all records in this city for fires, there being nine bell alarms and 10 telephone calls received by the department during that day. The work began early with a call from Box 7 at 1:09 a. m. for a slight blaze in the Circuit block on Langley road, Newton Centre. At 11:15 Box 18 rang in for a grass fire off Newtonville avenue, 263 rang in at 1:15 for another off Homer street, 1:30 brought Box 29 for brush on Edinboro street, Box 56 rang at 2:15 for fire on the roof of house of George W. Hawkes on Beacon street, Waban, caused by sparks from railroad. This was quite a serious blaze, causing a loss of about $2000 and Mrs. Hawkes, who is quite an aged lady, had to be carried out of the house by neighbors. While this house was burning Box 75 rang at 3:15 for a serious fire, caused by spontaneous combustion in the stable on Cypress street, Newton Centre, owned by Thomas Frost and occupied by Darrell and Waugh. A second alarm was rung in for this fire, as two adjoining houses caught fire and were slightly damaged. The barn was a total loss. The damage is estimated at $3000. In the meantime Box 46 rang at 2:30 for brush fire on Auburn street, and there was another grass fire reported at 2:35 on Cook street. A still alarm about 1 o'clock brought the apparatus to the double house on Oakleigh road occupied by Mr. A. S. Partridge, where grass, ignited by sparks from the railroad, threatened the house. The crew of a freight train also extinguished a grass fire on the railroad bank near Braemar road about the same time. At 6:25 Box 48 was rung in for a fire in a couch in house of J. L. White, Auburndale avenue, where the damage was trifling.

BALL

The 12th annual ball of the Garden City Mutual Aid Association was held Monday evening in Bray Hall, Newton Centre, and there was an attendance of fully 300.

The guests were received by O. H. Hurd, George O. Walker and J. King, acting as a reception committee.

In the grand march, which was led by Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Walker, about 100 couples participated and several pretty figures were formed on the floor.

Dancing followed the march and continued until 2 o'clock, music being furnished by Flanagan's Orchestra. During intermission at 10:30 a supper was served by Caterer Ross.

The floor was in charge of W. H. Edwards, who was assisted by A. McKenzie, J. Skelton and the following aids: O. H. Hurd, B. J. Dangelo, J. McLaughlin, J. O. Hodgkins, S. K. Page, J. W. Bouchard, D. H. Murphy, W. Taft, M. J. Kenney and J. Kivlin.

The affair proved a decided success, both financially and socially and resulted in a large measure to the untiring efforts of the following committee in charge of arrangements: A. L. Moriarty, chairman; L. O. Richards, secretary; O. H. Hurd, J. McLaughlin, W. H. Edwards, J. King and D. Murphy.

The association is composed of employees of the different divisions of the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway Company and included in the membership are many Walthamites.

The officers are: President, G. O. Walker; vice-president, P. E. Kealey; financial secretary, P. F. Connolly; recording secretary, L. O. Richardson; treasurer, G. S. Sundling.

Among those present at the hall were guests from Lexington, Natick, Watertown, Framingham and Boston, together with officials of the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway Company.

N. H. S.

The second annual gymnasium carnival given by the members of the Newton High Schools last Saturday evening was very successful. The drill hall was well filled with an appreciative audience and the boys gave clever exhibitions of strength and skill.

The first event on the program was the class parallel bar work, which was led by Walker '11, captain of the gym team. Then a picked squad under the leadership of Everett '12 gave individual exercises in which "Pec" Wood '10 and Walker '11 were especially good. Then the horse work, led by Dillon '11 was followed by a tug-of-war between the Tech and High freshmen in which the Tech boys won easily.

The best work of the evening was done by Everett and Schofield on the horizontal bar. Their work consisted of flyaways, big drops and back lay-offs which particularly pleased the audience. The mat work led by Atkins '11 was interesting. A novelty was an exhibition of wrestling given by R. Blue '11 and S. Wilson '10, which after three minutes of hard work was declared a draw.

The remainder of the program consisted of ring work, high diving and a basket ball race won by the freshmen from the sophomores.

COLLISON

An automobile truck, a horse and its driver figured in an exciting mix-up in Nonantum square Monday morning. The truck is the property of T. Stuart & Son Company and was being operated by Michael Murphy. The horse and wagon were owned in Watertown and the driver declined to make known his name.

The wagon was standing in front of a hardware store on the west side of the square and the automobile came down Washington street, the chauffeur intending to turn to the left into Centre street. Just as he made the turn he spied an open manhole and swerved sharply to escape it. At the same time the horse started and turned out from the curb.

The auto struck the animal a glancing blow, tearing the harness completely off and knocking the steed from its feet. At the same time the driver was thrown from his seat but landed on his feet and escaped injury. The horse was not badly hurt and after damage had been repaired both vehicles moved off.

N. H. S. BASEBALL.

DOMESTIC UTILITIES COMPANY

Paul Revere KnightDISTRICT MANAGER 34 Austin Street, NewtonvilleHer Little Bluff.

"Ethel," said Lionel Herriman Jones as he dropped his slice of bread in the plate with a noise that set the canary in the left cage overhead chirping merrily—"Ethel, I have something to say to you."

They had been married only four weeks, and the time had not arrived when she did all the saying.
"Do you remember the day on which I proposed to you?"
"Yes," she replied. "I will never forget it.""Do you remember," he went on as he abstractedly drilled a hole in the loaf with the point of a carving knife, "how when I rang the bell you came to the door with your fingers sticky with dough and said you thought it was your little brother who wanted to get in?"
"Yes.""Oh, Ethel! How could you? How could you?"
"How could I what?" she responded as a guilty look crept into her face.
"How could you make me the victim of such a swindle?"It Was Mistaken Charity.

The athletic girl had been out in the woods taking pictures, and at evening she started for the car, wearily juggling the camera and tripod. The cars were thronged with workmen returning to their homes, and she had to wait some time before there came one with even standing room inside. She pushed her way across the platform and just inside the doorway. The legs of the tripod rested on the floor at her side, and she was trying to brace herself against the door when a woman who had been sitting in the corner suddenly rose from her seat and gently but firmly pushed the young woman into it, with the remark, "Now you sit right there, you poor thing!"

The girl remained seated passively and looked puzzled for a moment. Then a dull flush covered her face. "How awful!" she thought. "That woman saw the tripod legs and thought they were crutches. She thinks I'm lame." Then she shrunk back in the seat and tried not to show her face.—Exchange.

The Nerve of a Boy.

"Speaking of the nerve displayed by small boys," said a man who had a trip through the southwest, "reminds me of an incident that occurred in the Santa Ana mountains, in southern California. An eleven-year-old boy, a member of a family making their way to the coast, left the camp early one morning to stalk deer. He found tracks and had followed them until he was five or six miles from camp. In reaching up on a rock he disturbed a huge rattlesnake that was sunning himself, and the snake without warning struck, wounding the boy on the middle finger of his right hand. Knowing that unless prompt action was taken the wound would prove fatal, the youth placed the finger over the muzzle of the gun and pulled the trigger. Making a ligature above the wound to stop the flow of blood, he killed the snake and walked back to camp, where he fainted. The finger was blown off close to his hand, but he recovered."—Exchange.

Not Appreciated.

Apropos of the "delusion deep rooted in the minds of innumerable voters that a man can only be 'putting up for parliament' in order to better himself one way or another" and that no sacrifice has to be made by the candidate there is the speech that was made by Sir Richard Temple, who had returned from his duties in India, arriving after his own contest had begun. Sir Richard used words to the following effect: "I have traveled 8,000 miles and surrendered £5,000 a year for the privilege of representing this great constituency," but the proper sense of his generosity and public spirit was entirely marred by a remark from a loud voice in the crowd, "Oh, what a fool you must be!"—Lau Malcolin in Cornhill Magazine.

Money and Politics.

In his reminiscences of Grover Cleveland George F. Parker tells a story of the prodigal expenditures in politics. A rich man who had been nibbling at the Democratic nomination for governor of New York asked William C. Whitney's advice. This is the advice: "Of course you ought to run. Make your preliminary canvass, and when you have put in $200,000 you will have become so much interested in it that you will feel like going ahead and spending some money."

Impossible.

Dr. Chaberg—Your friend needs vigorous treatment. I never saw a man in such a state of mental depression. Can't you convince him that the future holds some brightness for him? Sympathetic Friend—That is unfortunately impossible. He has drawn his salary for three weeks ahead and spent the money.—Exchange.

Police and Press.

It was Senator Evans who paid this compliment to the police of New York at an annual dinner of the force: "As compared with the press you exhibit a striking contrast. You know a great many things about our citizens that you don't tell, and the press tells a great many things about our citizens that it doesn't know."

Torture.

A cowboy stopped a stage full of passengers and made them all wait while he read a poem of thirty-two verses dedicated to his Mary Jane. There are some things as bad as shooting.—Argonaut.

The best excuses are never given.—French Proverb.

How to Make Chop Suey.

When his sister came home from cooking school and asked him if he had ever heard a recipe for chop suey he didn't like to admit there was anything on earth that he did not know. He was just at that age. So he spared for time by asking what she wanted it for.

It seems that the cooking school teacher had given them the question to investigate for themselves. It was one for which there were many answers, but the girl who produced the best recipe was to receive a little prize of some sort. Her big brother must have found out how chop suey was made, she thought, during some of his trips to Chinatown.

The brother then smiled a wicked smile and said he would write out the best and easiest recipe for chop suey in the world. Next morning he handed her an envelope containing the information. She did not open it until her name was called in the class. Then this is what she read aloud, to the amazement of all, herself included: "Recipe for Chop Suey.—Take a bowl of nice, clean suey and then chop it."—Chicago Tribune.

A Pleasant Old Legend.

Many years ago, sailing from Constantinople to Marseilles, we passed close under the lee of Stromboli, off the north coast of Sicily. The irrevocable old volcano was not in active eruption, but from the crater a reddish smoke was rising, while from the fissures in its sides burst now and again tongues of lurid flame. "Ah," observed a sailor—the vessel was an English one—"old Rotty is at it again!" So far as I can remember there is a legend that one Captain Rotty, a master mariner trading to the Mediterranean in the seventeenth century, became so notorious for drinking and swearing that he was seized upon by the fleet and carried off to the interior of Stromboli, from which he has continued ever since to utter profane language by means of tongues of fire and puffs of smoke. This, however, did not prevent the ghost of the profane skipper from frightening his widow, who resided in Lower Thames street, half out of her senses by appearing to her at supper time smelling strongly of brimstone.—London Times.

A Tame Wild Mouse.

I was waiting at the drumming log of the ruffed grouse for the bird to come and perform before me. My place of concealment was in the branches of a fallen dead spruce. I had not been waiting long before a white footed mouse appeared among the branches on the ground almost under me. It was interesting to see how freely he moved from place to place, appearing now here and now there, all the while travelling under the snow, which had many caverns formed in it by the sun. For it was early spring. Another mouse soon made his appearance, and I watched the two for some time as they searched for food. It was not long before one of the mice was nibbling at my shoe, but the slightest movement of my foot, which was resting on the trunk of the tree, sent him scurrying to the shelter of the branches below. By patient advances, however, I was able to touch the little fellow with the tips of my extended fingers, and five minutes later I was stroking his back as you might stroke a kitten.—St. Nicholas.

A King's Old Clothes.

The posthumous sale of the wardrobe of King George IV. of England realized $75,000. Greville, who attended the sale, says that the king "hardly ever gave anything away except his linen, which was distributed every year. There are all the coats he has ever had for fifty years, 200 whips, canes without number, every sort of uniform, the costumes of all the orders in Europe, splendid furs, pelisses, hunting coats and breeches. His profusion in these articles was unbounded because he never paid for them, and his memory was so accurate that one of his pages told me he recollected every article of dress, no matter how old, and that they were always liable to be called on to produce some particular coat or other article of apparel of years gone by."

Oddest Parasite in Creation.

The royal Bengal tiger is infested with one of the strangest creatures that ever lived. It is said to be a fact easily demonstrated or proved by one who has access to a zoological collection that the web of the foot of tigers of the above named species is inhabited by a bloodsucking insect about the size of a common flea which is a perfect counterpart of a tiger in every particular, shape, claws, tail and stripes included.

Rough Passage.

"I hope and pray," remarked a gentleman as he left the steamer, "that I shall never have occasion to cross the Atlantic again."

"Tough passage, eh?" queried a friend.

"Tough is no name for it. I had four blugs beat three times."—New York Sun.

DRAMATICS.

The Junior Guild of St. John's Church of Newtonville gave some enjoyable dramatics on Wednesday evening in Players' Hall, West Newton, before a large and enthusiastic audience. The parts were well balanced and the performance was highly creditable to all. The one-act comedy, "His Model Wife," was first presented with Kenneth Wilson, John Condit, Ellis Gammons, Frances M. Richardson, Vera Rumery, Marion D. Dean, Vernon Douglas, Evelyn Cunningham, Alice Fessenden and Margaret Wheaton in the cast. This was followed by the farce, "Poor Pill-coddy," presented by John Condit, G. B. Macomber, Jr., Dorothy Cunningham, Eleanor West and Martha Condit. The acting manager was Mr. M. A. Richards and Ellis Gammons was stage manager.

The ushers were the Misses Gladys Avery, Bernha Blampied, Louise Belcher and Eleanor Fessenden. During the evening candy was sold under the direction of the Misses Helen Shelton and Madeline Hancock.

Waban.

—Mr. Lester B. Cardell has been away this week as usual on a business trip.

—Mr. W. R. Fisher of Pilgrim road went to New York for a few days' business trip on Monday.

—The regular meeting of the Guild of the Good Shepherd was held on Monday this week at the home of Mrs. A. B. Harlow, Kent road.

—Mr. F. H. Putnam of Upland road has improved so rapidly and materially the last few weeks that he is now going to business every few days.

—Mr. H. Stewart Bosson, formerly of Waban, is managing the big minstrel show to be given shortly by the Newton Masons and will take a leading part.

—Miss Emily Piser of Beacon street celebrated her fifth birthday on Wednesday entertaining a large number of little guests at a merry party from 3:30 till 5.

—Mr. George M. Angier of Pine Ridge road is cast for one of the leading parts in the "Players" production of "Why Jones Left Home," to be given week after next.

—Under the auspices of the Waban Women's Club "children's day" will be observed in the Moulton house on Monday, April 4. Rev. Jay T. Stocking, pastor of Central Congregational Church, will tell stories for the enjoyment of the little ones.

—Easter was celebrated by special services at the two churches, the Union Church having extra music in the morning, while at the Church of the Good Shepherd there was a big attendance at both morning and afternoon services. The latter was the annual "Children's Service" and included seven baptisms beside the singing of carols and the gifts of plants. Over 500 were given in by the children in their little boxes.

—One of the largest fires that has happened in Waban for some time happened on Tuesday afternoon and very nearly proved disastrous. A grass fire started by the railroad train caught the home of Mr. George Hawkes of Beacon street, burning on a side badly and consuming nearly the entire roof. Only the prompt work of the department saved the structure and as it was the less was in the neighborhood of $1000. Mr. Hawkes' aged and nearly helpless mother was rescued just in time by Thomas Doyle who carried her down to safety.

—One of the biggest and most enjoyable social events of the season in Waban was the bridge given at the Brae Burn Country Club on Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. Edmund Winchester of Pine Ridge road. The guests numbered over 80 and many beautiful spring costumes were in evidence. The decorations and the general color scheme during the collection were white and yellow and this was carried out in the gowns of the eight young ladies who assisted. They were Miss Gladys Wales of Newtonville, Miss Marjorie Usher of Newton, Miss Evelyn Conner of Longwood, Miss Dorothy Burnham, Miss Rosamund Spalding, Miss Constance Beekley and Miss Madeline Brackett of Newton Centre and Miss Dorothy Winchester. The fortunate winners of the several article prizes were Mrs. C. D. Stone, Mrs. T. H. Piser, Mrs. William Gilmore and the consolation prize, Mrs. H. C. Walker.

—On Friday and Saturday evenings of next week the Waban Tennis Club will present in Waban Hall their long anticipated annual drama performance. These shows in the past have always been of the highest histrionic merit and won for the club a more than local reputation for clever and original entertainments. This season many events have occurred to make the task of producing a first-class show more difficult than usual and the result is an almost entirely new body of performers. These have been faithfully at work for several weeks, however, and a show fully up to the standard is now assured. A number of new features and special effects will be introduced. Although the price of tickets has been doubled this year the applications for them show no diminution and as usual many who desire tickets will probably be disappointed because of the small seating capacity of the hall.

HUNNEWELL CLUB.

The last ladies' and gentlemen's whist for the season was held Tuesday evening with 15 tables in play. The winners being Mrs. A. C. Cummings, Mrs. R. C. Emery, Mrs. E. P. Tuttle, Mrs. R. W. Bartlett and Mrs. George Owen. Mrs. H. L. Dexter, Jr., was in charge, assisted by Mrs. G. Fred Simpson. Mrs. A. A. Brown won the ladies' bowling prize on Tuesday night. On Monday evening there was a small audience to hear Mr. William S. Youngman, secretary of the Charles River Commission, give a lecture on the Charles River Basin. Interesting views were shown of the work, mostly at the Boston end of the basin. The lecture was given under the joint auspices of the Charlesbank Boat Club and the Hunnewell Club.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME.

Some of the most interesting hearings of the session were held this week, including the proposed electrification of the steam railroads in Metropolitan Boston, the proposed change in the constitution to allow classification of property for taxation purposes, and on the bill to allow the Boston Elevated Company to hold stock in other street railways. In the House the most interesting action this week was on the so-called "bar and bottle" bill, which was passed by a good majority in concurrence with the Senate. It is rumored that this bill will be defeated in the Senate when it comes up for enactment, but the temperance people are alive to the situation and intend to hold all the advantage they now possess. The bill prohibits the selling of liquor by the bottle in places licensed to sell by the glass. Whether or not the separation of these classes of the liquor business will make for better conditions is problematical and it must be confessed that the efforts of the temperance interests along similar lines in the past have been rather chimerical. All three of our representatives voted against the referendum amendment and in favor of the bill and Mr. Ellis also spoke for the bill.

All the Newton representatives voted in the negative on the so-called initiative and referendum amendment to the constitution which, to everybody's surprise, was favorably reported by the committee which had reported adversely only the day previous on a similar proposition. The bill, which was passed, provides for a very large number of signatures before any proposition can be placed on the ballot and all good judges say that the conditions imposed are practically impossible. If such is the case it seems folly to place such laws on the statute books. As it takes favorable action by two successive Legislatures as well as favorable action by the people, it is still possible to defeat the proposition.

The so-called lobby bill was also passed on Monday, with our representatives voting against the White amendment which would prohibit members of political committees from acting as legislative counsel, as well as legislative agent. The amendment was defeated. This bill defines a legislative counsel as one who appears before legislative committees in relation to legislation, and legislative agent as one who does any act to influence legislation. Members of political committees will, if the bill becomes law, be prohibited from acting as the latter, although privileged to do the former. The obnoxious term of "lobbyist" will hereafter refer solely to legislative agents.

The hearing on the matter of electrification on Wednesday was well attended, with Hon. Seward W. Jones, Hon. John A. Penno, Charles E. Kelsey, A. P. Carter, Henry Whitmore, Howard Whitmore, G. H. Mollen, Reuben Forknall, M. A. Chandler, Joseph Byers, James S. Cannon, W. H. Coolidge and W. H. Cooley of Newton in the audience. The familiar arguments in favor of electricity were given by Mr. Ewing, who represented the United Improvement Association, including the abolition of the smoke nuisance, less noise, more frequent trains, and the possibility of utilizing the space over the present tracks and track yards. Mr. Kelsey spoke a few words in favor for the City Federation of Newton and the Newton Highlands, Newtonville and Norum Improvement Societies were recorded in favor. Mr. Cooley told a few personal experiences. The bills were opposed by Mr. Coolidge in behalf of the Boston & Maine railroad principally on the ground of expense, which he claimed would amount to $50,000,000, of which half would become a burden on this road. As the present capital is only $30,000,000 Mr. Coolidge asked where the road could obtain the increased income necessary to pay the interest and charges of this expense. He questioned the knowledge of the committee in this matter and claimed that operating expenses had not been reduced in New York by the substitution of electricity. He said that there was no inducement for moneyed people to invest in railroad securities if the Legislature requires the road to reduce fares, prohibits increase in freight rates and requires investments in non-earning projects like this.

Col. M. O. Adams opposed the bills for the Boston, Revere Beach & Lynn road, saying it would put them out of business to spend $1,250,000 on a capital of $850,000.

Mr. E. A. Whitman opposed the bill for the B. & A., saying that the New York Central had failed to make its annual rental for the past three years by about $1,000,000 a year. The Newton circuit, which would be affected is run each year at a loss of $200,000 and investigation shows that electrification would increase, not decrease this deficit. The road estimates an expense of $4,500,000 to electrify and if the New York experience counts for anything it may cost double that sum. The road is now engaged in spending large sums of money in equipment, additional terminal facilities and docks and cannot afford to spend money in experiments.

The Metropolitan Affairs Committee has reported a resolve asking the Metropolitan Park Commission to investigate the proposed Newton parkway project and to report to the Legislature. This resolve is now held by the Ways and Means Committee of the House. At a hearing last week it was opposed by Mr. A. L. Spring, in behalf of the city of Boston, and the committee is now waiting to hear from Representative Bothfield.

There will probably be considerable opposition to the Elevated holding bill, although I believe it would be good policy for this city. There are always some people, however, who see His Satanic Majesty in every bill enlarging the powers of a public service corporation.

The action of the State police in preventing a young girl from taking part in a church entertainment, on the ground that such performance had been declared illegal by the supreme court, is on a par with most of the acts of that arrogant and self-sufficient body. The board of aldermen clearly acted within its rights in granting the necessary permission under the provisions of section 76, chapter 514, acts of 1909, which states that this act shall not "prevent their taking part in any festival, concert or musical exhibition upon the special written permission of the mayor and aldermen of a city." The opinion of the supreme court on another section which states that such children shall not be "employed at work before 6 o'clock in the morning or after 7 o'clock in the evening" has been lugged in bodily by the state police as applicable to the other section above quoted. The state police say that they intend to rigorously enforce their view of the case and it is rumored that their attitude is taken at the request of the Boston theatrical managers, against whom the opinion of the supreme court was given. The situation is most peculiar and it is too bad that some one will not take issue with the state police and obtain a common sense decision of section 76.

Our three representatives who voted yesterday against the bill to give the ballot to women ought to hear something from the large and earnest body of women in this city who are working on that matter.

One cannot be too careful nowadays in setting grass and brush fires. The fire department has been kept busy this week thru carelessness in this respect.

The street department cannot get to work any too soon in laying the dust which has been most annoying the past few weeks.

CARNIVAL.

The athletic carnival to mark the end of the indoor season at the Newton Y. M. C. A. was held on Wednesday and Thursday evenings of this week and attracted large and enthusiastic audiences.

The programs were arranged to give an idea of the character of the work, as well as the skill of the boys who took part. Possibly the greatest interest was taken in the preparatory class of little fellows and their marching and drilling was much enjoyed. The potato race for the association record on Wednesday night was won by Vincent Jacobs, who established an official mark of 36 seconds. The Scottish hornpipe dance on this evening by the youngsters, the work of a special squad on the horizontal bars, and a baroque basketball game between the Dairy Maids and the Reubens, ending up with a free-for-all fight, was most amusing. Mr. P. D. Fuller, chairman of the physical department committee, presented certificates to Frank Chivers, Robinson Reid, Percy Eden, Kenneth Osborne, Albert Sims, Carl Rogers, Harold Wright, Fred Whitney and Frank DeMerritte for completing the most satisfactory work for the year and Chivers was also presented with a cup for making the best all-round test during the year. Thursday night was marked with exhibition of boxing and wrestling by Frank H. Baker and pupils, including three rounds of sparring, and a six-minute round of wrestling. There was also a fine exhibition of high jumping, Cloy clearing 5 feet 8 inches. The Indian club drill was a pretty sight and the three carnival refreshment credit up on Mr. William MacPherson, the physical director.

Women's Clubs

Edited by Miss Grace M. Burt.

The past week has seen practically the close of the State Federation year, with the exception of the annual meeting, at least, so far as the club women in general are concerned. The conference idea, which it was stated in the fall would be emphasized this year, has steadily grown in popularity and has already justified itself. The attendance at the Household Economics conference at Chicopee last week, if reports are correct, would seem to indicate that it is a good thing to hold at least one during the year at some distance from the "hub" of the club movement. The great value of these conferences seems to be the opportunity of discussing matters more informally than is possible at larger meetings and at times when a formal program has been arranged. This was particularly evident at the president's conference at Arlington on Wednesday of this week. That many clubs have similar difficulties came out repeatedly in the course of the afternoon and the more fact of finding this out is a help and the suggestions of how others have met them must needs be of assistance. The Federation has found a good thing, may it be continued and may it be used to the best advantage.

Questions are arising in regard to the School and Home Gardens, as to what is going to be done. It has been hinted that some are waiting to have that answered before making any contribution. The only reply the committee can give is that they cannot tell until they know how much money they are to have to work with. The situation reminds one of the boy whose father had promised him a pair of skates when he had learned how to skate.

As announced last week the Waban Women's Club will observe "Children's Day" on Monday, April 4, at Waban Hall, when Rev. J. T. Stocking will tell stories. Although addressed to the children, no grown-up will fail to enjoy them.

The Newton Mothers' Club will have "An Afternoon of Stories" at the home of Mrs. S. T. Walsh, 12 Valentine street, West Newton, on Monday, April 4.

On Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Isabella Haddon will speak before the Newtonville Woman's Guild upon "Chautauqua." Tickets for the luncheon at the annual meeting may be secured at this time.

The Social Science Club will hold its regular business meeting at the Hunnewell Club on April 6. There will be no speaker from outside, the morning being given up to reports of committees and the regular business. The annual meeting of the Newton Ladies' Home Circle will be held at the G. A. R. Hall, Newtonville, on Thursday afternoon, April 7, at 2 p. m.

Lynn has been chosen as the place of the annual meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation and the time, while not definitely decided, will be early in June after the delegates return from the Biennial Convention at Cincinnati. The Federation will be the guest of the Lynn clubs and of the Club House Corporation. The club house is well worth a trip to Lynn in order to inspect it.

A novel and attractive entertainment was the birthday party given by the West Newton Women's Educational Club at the Brae Burn Country Club on March 28. Among the features of the afternoon was the large birthday cake with its decoration of 36 lighted candles. These were in turn extinguished by the officers and directors, until but four were left, when the president, Mrs. Alvin H. Clifford, with one breath, put them all out. This they considered a good omen for the club, signifying that their wishes concerning the new club house will be realized. Mrs. G. G. Phillips, honorary vice-president, in appropriate remarks told of the history of the club, which, it will be remembered, is the oldest of the women's clubs of Newton, being now in its 30th year. All the details were carried out most carefully, making it a very enjoyable affair as well as netting a substantial sum for the club house fund.

The Newton Highlands Monday Club concluded its study of Carlyle on March 28, with papers upon the essays of "Heroes and Hero-Worship," after which an hour was given to the consideration of current events. At the next meeting, which will be with Mrs. P. A. MacCallum of 111 Clark street, Newton Centre, the report of the committee on work for next season will be presented.

The Perlan Club was entertained at an "Easter Luncheon" at the home of Mrs. Charles Mills on Wednesday at 1 o'clock. Tasteful decorations of yellow and white lent a springlike atmosphere and the delicious luncheon was much enjoyed. Between the courses toasts and anecdotes were given by the members. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Gallison on April 6.

Professional duties prevented Dr. Fawcett from giving the paper before the Social Science Club on Wednesday morning which had been announced. Mrs. F. H. Tucker substituted a talk upon "Forestry and Conservation" which she was to have given in April. Mrs. Tucker, it will be remembered, is chairman of the forestry committee of the State Federation and has spoken before a large number of the federated clubs upon this subject during the past two years. She told of the work of her committee, of the way in which it is subdivided, so that those particularly interested in a certain phase of the subject have that assigned them, and then outlined in detail a course of study which they have arranged for the use of the clubs. This course is complete in every particular and will no doubt be used by many clubs in their next season's work.

Mrs. Tucker dwelt upon the blind policy which has been employed in this country from the very beginning in the matter of using recklessly the natural resources of the country and pointed out the ultimate end of such lack of foresight. In closing she suggested a brief outline of topics which the Social Science Club might use for study another year, should they decide to take up the subject.

The last monthly meeting of the Newton Centre Woman's Club for the season was held on March 31, at 2:45 p. m. A program of humorous and dramatic readings was given by Mrs. Ada M. Phillips. The selections were as varied as they were excellent, and in all was clearly shown the charm of the reader's personality and talent. She received many encores from her audience. A few and a social hour followed the recital.

CONFERENCE OF PRESIDENTS.

To in some measure atone for the disappointment felt by the Arlington Women's Club at not entertaining the State Federation at its mid-winter meeting as originally planned, the conference of presidents met with them on the afternoon of March 30. Miss Bacon upon calling the meeting to order presented the president of the hostess club, Mrs. Charles A. Dennett, who is also a member of the state board. Mrs. Dennett greeted the guests cordially and there was the word of acknowledgment from Miss Bacon before beginning the program laid out for the afternoon. An hour was given to the consideration of the duties of the officers, including the president, the two secretaries and the treasurer, while the rest of the time was given to a discussion of methods of nominations, of payment of dues and guest privileges as these have been met in the different clubs.

Miss Bacon opened the discussion by reading a description of an ideal president as given by a paper in another state. The characteristics therein named included fairness, good judgment, dignity, the ability to so conduct herself that in the midst of debate and the putting of motions and declaring votes no one shall know upon which side she herself stands and as a final requisite a knowledge of parliamentary law. What to do with the ex-president was brought up and a member of wide experience suggested that to her mind the ideal club would be one made up entirely of ex-presidents, since they have had the experience and know what it means.

Mrs. Effie S. Nowers, clerk of the Federation, spoke briefly of duties of recording secretaries and urged promptness in carrying out matters entrusted to her and pointed out the advantage of writing in notes of meetings immediately while the circumstances are fresh in the mind. The Federation corresponding secretary explained the system of admission tickets to Federation meetings, besought the officers to read all notices carefully and to attend to all matters promptly. In fact the whole discussion of difficulties throughout the afternoon turned upon the necessity of good business methods, which, of course, mean prompt and careful attention to all details belonging to one's office.

The majority of clubs had found by experience that it is necessary to fix a definite time in which dues should be paid, and if that was made a short time after the annual meeting, the financial matters of the clubs were much more easily managed and the duties of the treasurer materially decreased. The Federation treasurer is in South America, but before she went away she left the encouraging message that the business methods of the clubs have greatly improved during her term of service.

In the question of methods of election and of securing nominations, several clubs have used the informal ballot with success, while others had found it very unsatisfactory. The majority believed the nominating committee to be the best plan. The difficulty of securing anyone to be the president was touched upon by several and more than one instance of a committee's bringing in a report with that office left blank was cited. One case was mentioned where the chairman of the nominating committee at such a time made an earnest plea that whoever was nominated from the floor must feel it a duty to accept. Upon sitting down she herself was immediately nominated and she served. The question was raised as to the attendance upon annual meetings and how to secure it. Many had solved the problem by having tea or a luncheon.

Before the session was adjourned Miss Bacon stated that the official trip to the biennial had been placed in the hands of Raymond & Whitcomb and all bookings should be made with them. The civics committee of the Federation urge that "Peace Day," May 18, be observed or at least some recognition be made of it in the schools, the public schools and in the churches.

At the close those present were cordially welcomed to the vestry below where the hostess club served light refreshments during the social hour. It was in every way a successful and enjoyable meeting.

The last of the committee conferences, that on Household Economics, was held by invitation of the Chicopee Falls Woman's Club at Chicopee Falls on Thursday, March 24. The following report of the conference is taken from the Springfield Republican:

The program was divided into two parts, one a paper by Miss Helen Louise Johnson of Springfield, an associate editor of Good Housekeeping, on the subject, "What home economics stands for in life efficiency," and the other a symposium on the "Domestic science education of children," participated in by Miss Bertha M. McConkey, supervisor of the primary schools of Springfield; Miss Bernice Allen, director of the home economics department of the Technical High School in Springfield; Mrs. Helen D. Chamberlain of Springfield and Mrs. Isabella L. Heustis of Belmont, a member of the Cantabrigia Club. The conference was presided over by Mrs. Hattie M. Douglas of Windham, chairman of the household economics committee. The conference was attended by about 300 women. Mrs. Douglas, the chairman, was introduced by Mrs. Luellen N. Lyon, president of the Chicopee Falls Woman's Club. At 4 o'clock a reception was held and refreshments were served.

Miss Johnson said that the nomenclature attached to the general subject of household economics is considerably vague, so much so that what is done under one name in one section has another name in another, and people don't know exactly what is meant when any domestic science term is used in any particular case. A good word for the advanced study of household economics is "eugenics," a term formed after the analogy of "eugenics," and employed by the Brown University authorities to avoid the term "household economics." For this reason the girls who want to enter a course under that name might be considered as belonging to the class of those about to be married, or anxious to get married. Miss Johnson said that the 19th century had done much to provide educational opportunities for boys and girls, particularly for girls, who in 1790 were allowed the use of the schools for two hours a day in the town of Gloucester as a result of the awakening of somebody to the fact that this "lender and interesting branch of the community" had been somewhat seriously neglected up to that time.

Miss Johnson spoke with enthusiasm of the progress which the education of women has made within 100 years, but said that the differentiation of education for boys and for girls had not been carried far enough, the schools and curriculum for boys having remained too long the model for schools and curriculum for girls. Miss Johnson read a passage from an interesting book written by Miss Katharine Beecher of Hartford in 1840, which contained the outline of domestic science education which has actually been carried out within the last decade or two in the schools. The complete statement of the theory of the subject was contained in one or two chapters of that book, Miss Johnson said. Household economics means a differentiation of man's and woman's activities in society, and stands for nothing more or less than right living, which means the totality of life-life in the organism, in the emotions and the intellect. It aims at the ideal home life of the present, unhampered by the traditions of the past, an understanding utilization of the resources of life, and above all a reaction from the dominance of things, and, by the means of a simplicity in surroundings, a due submission to ideals of home and society.

Miss McConkey said that sewing had been taught in the Springfield schools 20 years and cooking 18 years. It was to the Springfield Women's Club that the city owed the beginning of cooking courses in the schools, that club having equipped a kitchen in one of the schools, which soon persuaded the school committee of the value of that branch of instruction. Now sewing is taught in the fifth, sixth and eighth grades, and cooking in the seventh and ninth grades. The reason why cooking was added to the seventh grade curriculum was to take advantage of the child's "instinct to keep house," or the "keep-house age," as Miss McConkey called it. At this age children perform even the drudgery of household duties with absolute delight. To be sure, this age passes, and is followed by the age when the girl prefers making cakes and salads to rolling up her sleeves and "messing." In the second grade of the Springfield schools there is a doll's house, made by the pupils and furnished by them, not according to their own tastes—which is a pity—but according to the teachers'. This and other things are designed to give the child the play-interest in work.

Miss Allen said that the commercial spirit was predominant at the present time to a deplorable degree, manifesting itself in boys and girls who, without the necessity of going to work, get positions in stores after school hours and during vacations, for the sake of earning money. She said that the public schools had to fit pupils to meet a variety of needs, and she told how by the addition of the branches of domestic science the schools are better able than formerly to fit girls for the activities of the home. She gave an outline of the courses in the subject given at the Technical High School.

Mrs. Powers read a witty paper telling how she taught her son to save nerve force and thus to guard himself against the tendency of the age to be unnecessarily spendthrift in his energy and emotions. She gave an entertaining account of her role in the playroom for eliminating "whiners and party bosses," and teaching the principle that the majority rules, in cases where somebody has refused to play because he cannot have his own way and is threatening to go home. The rule is that he shall be assisted to put on his coat and politely led from the house with the least delay possible, and when it is her own son he is detached from his fellows and placed in solitary confinement.

Mrs. Chamberlain's subject was "How I have failed," and she said that she would not undertake to tell in six minutes all the ways in which she had failed to teach home economics. When children are small, parents prefer doing things themselves, or having them done by some competent servant, to permitting them to be done by children and then having to go about and correct the bungling efforts of the little ones. This was a mistake, however, for the value to be gained by the children in the formation of habits was worth more to the family than the mere saving of time and convenience. Mrs. Chamberlain spoke with keen appreciation of the humorous side of domestic affairs. She was followed by Mrs. Heustis, who told how her boys had been so instructed in household affairs that they kept house with much success for a term of six weeks while she was away, although they had their father to rely on for suggestions and assistance during that time. This was possible because she had taught her boys what she would have taught to girls.

Granaries Rat and Thief Proof.

In some sections of the corn and wheat growing districts of Mexico the rodent pest has had that extraordinary precautions have to be taken to prevent the destruction of the crops by the little animals. Sunk thieving of the natives must also be provided against. Corn and wheat bins of ordinary construction, such as are used in the United States, would not serve the purpose of protecting the grain. Instead of wooden structures the granaries are built of stone and brick. Most of them are of conical shape and vary in capacity from 500 to 5,000 bushels. The foundations of these granaries are sunk deep into the ground. At the top of the structure is a close fitting lid which covers the hole through which the grain is emptied into the granary. The ordinary method of filling the storehouse is to have the grain carried to the top in sacks upon the backs of laborers up steep ladders. At the bottom of the granary is a door which leads into a narrow chamber, which is separated from the grain room by a solid wall of brick or stone, containing a slatted opening, through which the grain is emptied when required.—Kansas City Star.

Two Hundred Per Cent Loss.

He was no college bred business man. He was just the other kind. In the course of his commercial ventures he was induced by an acquaintance to become a partner in the grain and feed line. After about a year of it the firm went to pieces, leaving him with the bag to hold. A college friend met him shortly after the collapse and was asking about it. "What per cent of the loss fell on you?" inquired the friend, who didn't know the particulars. "Two hundred," he responded promptly. "Two hundred?" exclaimed the friend. "Why, man, there can't be more than a hundred per cent loss." "Come off," he countered. "There was two of us. He lost a hundred and I lost a hundred. Don't that make 200?" "Of course not. Your loss is only 100 per cent." "Yes, but say," he explained. "I had to settle for it all." "Oh," said the friend.—New York Press.

Masquerading in the Past.

In the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries Venice set the fashion in all matters of amusement and was a sort of combination of our Monte Carlo and Paris. Throughout the eighteenth century the Venetians were seized with a perfect mania for masquerading and gambling. Paris and London followed suit, and the two most popular amusements, both public and private, were masquerades and gambling saloons. People not only wore their masks or visors at balls, but in the mall and the parks and the theaters. At length matters got to such a pass that when a police raid was made on a certain low dancing place in Soho and an order was given for every one to unmask what was the amusement of the police to find that at least a third of the company consisted of ladies and gentlemen of the highest aristocracy, some of whom had even brought their daughters.—London Saturday Review.

The Judges' Ride.

Customs change slowly with the lawyers, but the procession through the streets at the reopening of the law courts was not always the usual affair it now is. Until the middle of the sixteenth century the "judges' ride" to Westminster hall was quite an imposing spectacle, all the legal dignitaries being mounted on mules, like bishops and abbots on a pilgrimage. Mules presently gave place to horses, which in turn were abandoned for coaches. The last procession on horseback took place in the time of Charles II. and was then regarded as an interesting revival. It was not greatly appreciated, however, by the judges themselves, who found their efforts to remain in the saddle far from conducive to a dignified appearance, and before the journey's end one of their number, Lord Twisdon, had the misfortune to be thrown in the mud.—Westminster Gazette.

A New Excuse.

One of the men in a large pottery took two or three days' holiday now and again, and when he came back, on being asked what was wrong, he said he had been away burying his grandmother.

He did this two or three times, and then he thought he had better change his excuse, so, on being asked the next time, he replied:

"Well, my brother, the sailor, is at home just now, and he is so used to the sound of the waves that I had to lash pulleys of water on the window all night before he could sleep, and then I had to sleep during the day."—London Mail.

A Monumental Bull.

At Kilkenny castle may be seen a "monumental" Irish bull in the form of a tombstone erected to the memory of a former retainer of the Ormonde family. The stone bears the truly Hebraic inscription, "Erected by John Toole In Memory of His Posterity."—Britannia Magazine.

His Smoke.

Mr. Fijit—I say, that's the worst tobacco I ever smoked! Mrs. Fijit—Oh, George, you're smoking my fancy silk! I put it in your tobacco jar to keep it safe.

A Pessimist.

"A pessimist," said a philosopher, "is one who, when he has the choice of two evils, chooses both and hangs about waiting for more!"

Hazing.

Hazing is an indefinite and inexplicable something. When we are called before the faculty we deny the existence of the word. We call it gentle horse-play.

Nevertheless hazing, whatever it is, fills its place in man's life. The wonderful state of sophomorehood would be lost if not for it. What would become of our great Military academy at West Point if it were not for hazing?

There are three great periods of hazing in man's life—first the green apple period, then the college period and finally the married period, which, we are told, is one continuous round of hazing on both sides.

Hazing is an educational and desirable experience for those wishing to become slaveholders, superintendents of gangs, divorce seekers and fathers of large families.

What is the greatest press agent of this age? Hazing. Look at the free advertising different colleges receive every year.

Hazing is also very helpful to those wishing to test the strength of baseball clubs, fence pickets and bricks.—Rutgers Targum.

Millet and "The Angelus."

It was only after long years of struggle and dire poverty, through which Millet was consoled and supported by his wife, that the peasant painter was able to take the three roomed cottage at Barbizon and "try to do something really good." It was then that he began to paint that most beautiful "poem of poverty," "The Angelus," which is today one of the most valuable pictures in the world. Again and again he threw aside the picture in despair of ever finishing it to his satisfaction, and as often his wife replaced it on the easel and induced him to continue.

On one occasion he was so incensed at not being able to produce a certain effect that he seized a knife and would have destroyed the canvas and ended the matter once for all had not his wife fortunately seized his hand and induced him to give the picture another trial. Thus it was that at last "The Angelus" found a place on the walls of the Louvre. The success it won encouraged Millet to paint many more pictures and thus place himself among the immortals in art.

Shot His Own Hens.

Two neighbors kept hens and quarreled because they scratched each other's potato rows up. One sold his hens unknown to the other, who made a large run and fastened his hens up, saying:

"Now, the first hen I see in my garden I shall shoot."

Next day he saw a hen scratching as usual, so he got the gun and shot it and then threw it over his neighbor's fence, saying:

"Take your hen!"

The hen was picked up, taken in and cooked.

The following days the same thing happened. Still the neighbor took them up and said nothing till the seventh came over and bit him on the head. Then he picked it up and threw it back at his neighbor, saying:

"Eat your own old hens! We are tired of eating them and prefer a little pheasant. I sold my hens over a month since!"—Pearson's Weekly.

Ready For Market.

Two Canadians were boasting. "Where I come from," said the first, "we have a salmon river that rises in some boiling springs. As the salmon climb up the river they gradually get acclimated to the heat of the water and don't mind it. In fact, when we fish in the highest reaches of the stream we catch our salmon ready boiled."

"I don't doubt that," said the second Canadian calmly. "Down my way there's a curious salmon river too. It rises in some tin mines. As the fish work up they meet the suspended ore in gradually increasing quantities. They get quite mineralized if they keep on upstream, so that if we fish at the head of the river we catch our salmon ready tinned, and all we have to do is to pack and ship them to market."

Egyptian Embalming.

The modern embalmer is still ignorant of the secret that was so well known to the men of ancient Egypt. The process followed by the Egyptian embalmers is known only in part, the main part being still a mystery. As to the cost of becoming a mummy, Herodotus and Diodorus tell of three modes of embalming prevalent in Egypt, the first very costly, answering to about $2,000 of our money, the second $800 and the third within the reach of all.—New York American.

A Vegetable Cameo.

Spain is the land of the onion, a fact which tempted Mr. Shaw, the author of "Spain of Today," to fall into the appended easy verse. All returned travelers are sure to appreciate it for its feeling for truth rather than its resemblance to the form of "The Ancient Mariner:"

Garlic, garlic everywhere Except in what you drink.

Partial Cure.

"I fear you are a victim of the drink habit." "You misjudge me. Lack of the price cured me of the drink habit long ago. It's merely the thirst that bothers me now."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Hopeless.

"Love your neighbor as yourself." "I do." "Then why do you have such a grouch?" "I hate myself."—New York Journal.

The first catalogue of the stars was published about 1500.

NEWTON CENTRE PLAYGROUND NOTES.

There is sure to be a great deal of interest in the Hare-and-Hounds run of vacation week. This will be limited to boys under 15 and the exact day and time will be bulletined later. On Saturday afternoon, April 9, there will be a second run open to boys of any age. Full particulars may be had from Mr. Howard.

One hundred and fifty-five dollars were the net proceeds of Captain Bartlett's lecture, a splendid result reflecting much credit on the committee in charge. This money is to be used for the equipment of the new Thompsonville Playground, on the land tendered to the Playground League by the Newton Theological Institution for five years free use. With such equipment the grounds are sure to be in much use during the coming summer.

The "grown-up boys" of the town will, it is hoped, never cease to be interested in the annual spring appeal of the youngsters for funds for baseball equipment, yet the usual irresponsible methods of collecting cannot but seem unwise. To obviate this typewritten statements containing the collector's name and signed by Mr. Howard or Mr. Paul will be given to all boys whose soliciting has the approval of the Playground and Social Service League. All who contribute are requested to write the amounts given on the bottom of the paper containing such statement. The co-operation of everyone is urgently requested in this matter, as it is thus arranged solely for the good of the boys themselves and of the community.

There is to be a Playground Congress in Rochester, N. Y., June 7-11, 1910, with representatives so far as possible from all the playground interests in the country. It is desirable to appoint a committee of five from Newton, either to attend or to secure the attendance of others. Will those who are interested in this please communicate with William C. Brewer, 145 Gibbs street, Newton Centre, at an early date?

Castle Square Theatre—"The Boys of Company B" promises to have a successful career at the Castle Square. It will be played by the John Craig Stock Company next week, and it will offer a variety of scenes that blend comedy with many sorts of boyish exploits that always take well on the stage. The singing of college songs, a set of boxing matches, the drilling of an awkward squad and other manifestations of youthful energy help to give the play an abundance of dash and zest. Moreover, it has a plot that is well worth the telling and it concerns the adventures of a young militia man who is manly and brave with all the resources the lover should have except money. In the end he wins the young girl upon whom he has set his eyes and the play comes to a cheerful and sensible conclusion. One of the funniest episodes of the play in which the young soldier proposes to his sweetheart through a speaking tube.

LODGES.

Under the auspices of Boynton Lodge No. 20, U. O. of I. O. L., a pedlars' parade and dance will be given in Dennison Hall, Newtonville, Tuesday evening, April 12, at 8. The entertainment and music will be by the M. Millie Beardsley Concert Company.

On Tuesday evening, April 5, in I. O. O. F. Hall, West Newton, Tennyson Rebekah Lodge 119 will entertain the district deputy grand master, Able K. Barber, and suite of South Boston. The degree will be conferred on four candidates.

CRAWFORD RANGE MAKERS.

The Walker & Pratt Manufacturing Company, makers of Crawford cooking ranges, whose foundry and works are at Watertown, is building an extension to its plant which will add one-third to its capacity for output. This is the fourth enlargement of this plant within 10 years, made necessary by the increasing demand for the product.

This increase is due in a large measure to the strong newspaper advertising which the goods have been given. The company has been established 50 years and its reputation and that of its products has always been of the highest; a good foundation for advertising to build on.

NEW THEATRE AT NORUMBEGA PARKNorumbega Park will have a new theatre when the 14th season is begun at this Charles river amusement resort on Memorial Day, May 30This open-air playhouse is being built and promises to rival anything of its kind in the world. It will be a magnificent structure of steel and concrete and built to last for a generation. The estimated cost is $60,000.Contrasted with some of the earlier history of the park it may seem like a big jump, but the steady growth in popularity, not only of the park itself but of its several now theatres and needed enlargements of stage and seating capacity from season to season to meet the demands of the increasing patronage year after year has shown that it is warranted.J. L. Richards, president of the Norumbega Park Company, viewed the burning of the theatre last June and determined to rebuild. The board of directors decided to erect a theatre building that would as far surpass the one burned last summer as that exceeded the old rustic theatre of the first season of the park, 1897.A heavy retaining wall was built across the fountain basin to the south, a new pipe line was brought into the park, and a complete system of added fire protection, with three new hy-drants, was installed. Plans were considered then for the new theatre.The entire plan originated with Manager Carl Alberte, and these plans were worked out by Samuel J. Brown, architect. It is the result of many years of experience in the amusement business. The new theatre is made to fit conditions.Most important of all, it will be thoroughly fireproof. One hundred and seventy tons of steel will be used in its construction, spanning the great auditorium without a post or column.
The main trusses are 126 feet long and are said to be marvels of the engineer's skill. The J. R. Worcester Company, expert engineers, have charge of this work.The stage and dressing rooms will reveal a Spanish effect in that the roofs will be of pure red Spanish tile, while the walls inside and out will be of decorative cement. The lattice work, casements, and ornamental window work will be artistically effective and pleasing to the eye. The same general scheme of constructionin the old theatre will be followed in the new, but greatly improved and beautified in every detail.Since Carl Alberte was called upon in the spring of 1898 the work of development was commenced in earnest.
From that time the growth of Norum-bega Park has been steady, and additions and improvements have been made as fast as conditions warranted.
The department of the patrons, one of the main features to be observed by all visitors to this resort, has been taken care of to a fine degree.Nothing of the least objectionable nature likely to offend ladies and children is ever tolerated. The result is that every man of family feels that his charges are absolutely safe while there, and the splendid order that pervades has appealed greatly to the millions that have patronized this famous resort in the last 13 years.The untiring efforts, close watch over every department of the park and skill in handling the public are features of Carl Alberte's management which have contributed largely to the success of this park and account for the decision of the board of directors to build so elaborate a structure as that now under way.

Having had early in life a good business education and possessing a strong liking for landscape gardening work, it was not a very hard problem for Manager Alberte to fit into the conditions required for a bigger, better and busier Norumbega Park when he arrived on the scene in 1898. The 12 years have shown a vigorous and steady improvement in the park and an established personal popularity with the patrons which is most gratifying to him.The same policy in the matter of entertainment that has been followed heretofore will prevail the coming season.The Norumbega Park Company board of government consists of James L. Richards, president; E. M.
Richards, treasurer; Adams D. Claflin, Alden E. Viles, Charles W. Smith,
Sydney Harwood, Frank W. Remick and William F. Hammett, directors; Carl A. Sylvester, general manager;
Carl Alberte, manager; George M.
Cox, assistant treasurer.Building committee, Adams D. Claflin and Alden E. Viles; architect, Samuel J. Brown.THEATRESKeith's Theatre—The phrase "everything new in vaudeville starts at Keith's" is quoted country-wide and there never was a greater demonstration of this fact than last week when Mrs. La Salle Corbell Pickett, widow of the Confederate general, appeared at Mr. Keith's theatre in Boston and gave her description of Gettysburg.
Next week she will be heard in an entirely different line, possibly the famous Southern folk-lore stories. As usual there will be an exceptionally strong vaudeville bill headed by Mlle.
Dazie, unquestionably America's greatest dancer and pantomimist. Other features of the bill will be W. C.
Fields, the tramp juggler; Carson and Willard in "The Dutch in Egypt"; Tommy Wilson; Dolan and Lenhart; the Six Musical Nosses in "A Day in Old Seville"; Harry Breen, and the Amoros sisters.Shubert Theatre—When Miss Blanche Bates appears at the Shubert Theatre next Monday night, April 4, it is certain that she will be greeted by an audience not alone of large numerical proportions, but in every sense representative of the best element among Boston and New England theatregoers. This is assured through the unusual combination of the star, Blanche Bates, who is accorded a foremost position among the emotional actresses on the American stage;
the play, "The Fighting Hope," a notable success of last season in New York, where it was played 300 times at Mr. Belasco's theatres, and the management, David Belasco, who as an author, producer and manager has been such a vital force in the upbuilding of the American drama. The character that Miss Bates assumes is that of a stenographer, and the scene of "The Fighting Hope" are laid in the library of the suburban residence of the president of a New York trust company. In Miss Bates' support are Milton Sills, John W. Cope, Wedgwood Nowell and Loretta Wells.American Music Hall—There are so many really high-class acts on the bill at the American Music Hall this week that it is almost impossible to select any one for the headliner. As regards dramatic worth, however,
"The Operator," a tense sketch full of thrilling situations, will probably take first place. Another act which has peculiar interest for Bostonians will be that of William Wolff and company in the original comic opera sketch entitled "The Head of the House." The sketch is replete with good music, comedy and real dramatic situations. Scarle Allen and company will present his famous sketch, "The General Salesman." Rinaldo, the famous violinist, needs little or no comment. The balance of the bill will include Carroll and Harris in a comedy and dancing sketch; Mosher, Hayes and Mosher, said to have one of the best bicycle acts in vaudeville; La Petite Mignone, a little French girl who gives impersonations of such stars as Blanche Ring, Nora Bayes, Bessie McCoy and others; Four Nightingales, European gladiators and gymnasts, who do stunts that show them to be possessed of remarkable strength, and others.Boston Theatre—"The Yankee Prince," by America's most famous author, actor, composer and playwright, George M. Cohan, comes to the Boston Theatre Monday evening, April 2. Mr. Tom Lewis, well known for his wonderful success as the "Unknown" in Mr. Cohan's "Little Johnny Jones" is heading the cast which contains 75 singers and comedians and a chorus which is said to be the best drilled in the world.
George M. Cohan has evolved a church and stage would certainly re-charming musical comedy in "The Yankee Prince" and it is small wonder the play has scored the success of this young man's meteoric career.
Especially effective in the play is the work of Tom Lewis as Steve Daly, a trainer of prize fighters, who is on a visit to England with a letter of introduction to King Edward VII.No play from Mr. Cohan's pen would be complete without music, and in "The Yankee Prince" there is said to be a riot of it interspersed with such an abundance of witty lines and bright repartee that the average auditor is lost in amazement in contemplating the fact that the entire performance in lines, lyrics and dialogues all emanated from Mr. Cohan's gifted pen.Miss Edith Tallafiero, who has been playing the role of Rebecca Rowena Randall in "Rebecca of Sun-nybrook Farm," was recently confirmed in the Church of the Advent, Boston, by Bishop Lawrence. The pastor of the church, the Rev. Dr.
William Van Allen, is an old friend of Miss Tallafiero. Writing of her in the Living Church, the organ of the Episcopal Church, Dr. Allen said:"I wonder if you would be interested in a memory that has just been brought back very vividly to me.
Thirteen years ago I was travelling west in a railway train. The other occupants of the Pullman were members of a theatrical company, with dear old Herne for their head, who had been playing 'Shore Acres.' The tiniest member of the troupe was a little 4-year-old girl, whose important duty was, in the barnyard scene, to splash water up into the face of the old uncle. She was the pet of the whole company, naturally, and she made friends with me with a charming readiness and sweet simplicity that I have found to be characteristic of children of the stage always. She told me, with a proper pride, that she had a star dressing room already;
but I discovered that she was not the least bit unpleasantly precocious, and that she loved fairy tales and dolls quite as much as other normal children of her age. It was my first contact with a child actress, and I own to you frankly that I lost my heart to her. Ever since then we have been good friends, and some of my brightest memories have to do with visits behind the scenes, when, in the intervals of the play, the dolls were brought forth, and dressed and un-dressed, and the doll's tea parties given partly in my honor; or of frolics on the green grass under the blue spring skies, when we made believe to be just of an age. I taught her the sweetest old prayer that some of you know already:"God bless this house from roof to floor.
The twelve Apostles guard the door,
And four good angels round my bed,
Two at the foot, two at the head.
For Jesus' sake, Amen."
"She told me at the end of the season: 'I said that dear little prayer every night while we were on the road, and I am sure God heard it, because I got back safely. But I often wondered how the four good angels were going to get round my upper berth.'"
"Well, I saw my little friend the other night, and lo! it was not a metropolitan playhouse at all. It was the estate of Maine, and a little village called Riverboro, and a brick house by the bank of the river where Rebecca Rowena Randall lived with her two maiden aunts. If ever there was white magic it brooded over that theatre. The very spirit of that exquisite, elusive, delicate, eager, thrilling child, abode in the actress who took her part. It wasn't a play, it was reality; and my companion stopped his applause every now and then to wipe his eyes, and forgot to wipe his eyes because of the need of more applause. If plays were always like that, the old alliance between church and stage would certainly re-

80 YEARS

On Tuesday, April 5, the 80th anniversary of his birthday, Charles Partridge Hill had hoped to entertain his friends at his home on Washington street, West Newton, but an attack of illness upset this plan, and he was able to receive only congratulations and good wishes.

He was born in Augusta, Me., and when nine years old removed with his parents to Sherborn in this state. He early learned the carpenter's trade and for some years was employed as a foreman by the late David C. Sanger, a prominent builder in West Newton. In 1864 he entered the employ of the Mason & Hamlin Organ Company as a fly-finisher; he was one of the best mechanics in his line and set up the largest instrument exhibited by that company at the Centennial Exhibition in Philadelphia. Having served the company well and faithfully for more than 45 years, he put aside his tools at the beginning of the present year, and now plans to pass his remaining days in well earned quiet retirement. Fifty-six years ago he married Martha J., daughter of Curtis Coolidge, late of Sherborn, and with the exception of four years they have made their home in West Newton.

Boston Opera House.—The coming week will see the inaugural of the spring season of popular classics at popular prices at the Boston Opera House, where the Aborn English Grand Opera Company will give an elaborate staging of "Aida," one of the latter works of Verdi, and by many critics considered his greatest, for their opening week. Two sopranos and two tenors will divide with each other the eight performances of the week, each appearing at four presentations. The title part will thus be shared by Estelle Wentworth and Lois Ewell, and the tenor solos by Joseph Sheehan and Alfred Shaw. Others of the first week's cast will be Louise Le Baron, contralto, as Amneris; H. L. Watrous, basso, as Ramfis; Otley Cranston, baritone, as Amnassaro; George W. Dunstan, baritone, as the King, and John De Pils as the Messenger.

Verdi's "Aida," while partaking of the more pompous modern school, is as rich in beautiful melodies as any of his earlier works, its score is full of Oriental color, and it is altogether one of the most popular operas of the present day repertoire. The prices for evenings and Saturday matinees are 25, 50, 75 cents and $1, and for Wednesday matinees 25 and 50 cents.

RUNAWAY

Walter L. Granger, a 10-year-old Worcester boy, was picked up by the police in the railroad yards at Riverside Monday afternoon and told a weird story of having been thrown onto a coal car in a moving freight car in Worcester by two men, was turned over to his father on Tuesday. The police discredited the boy's story of his long trip from Worcester and say that he was a runaway.

WHAT PLAY REALLY IS.

In an exceedingly readable and timely article in Suburban Life for April, J. Horace McFarland, president of the American Civic Association, says: "Play, in the 1910 sense of words, is an essential exercise for the development of the human animal. It is the necessary work of youth; it is not fooling or trifling. It may be bad play, or good play, or indifferent play, according to its location, leading, or oversight. Spontaneous, but not a reality. The child does not play spontaneously. The mother is the first and most efficient teacher of play, and the family, friends and visitors all take turns with the play-tuition of the little one. If there is silly tuition, the child learns to say and to do things that will need to be unlearned later. If there is enlightened, sensible, thoughtful tuition, the child gains real knowledge, and does not have to unlearn 'baby-talk,' and be punished for the foolish actions of foolish teachers."

CALEB STARK CHAPTER.

The entertainment last Saturday afternoon in Temple Hall, Newtonville, by Caleb Stark Chapter, Junior Sons and Daughters of the Revolution, was a great success, socially as well as financially. Nearly $50 above expenses was netted by the young people. This sum will be devoted to patriotic work. A little play, "The Champion of Her Sex," was given by Alice Shumway, Marion Campbell, Dorothy Pray, Eleanor Shumway, Louise Pinkham, Clifford Green and Ralph Moore, members of Caleb Stark Chapter. This was followed by dancing and there was a cake and candy sale. Several members from other Junior chapters were present and a general good time was enjoyed. Miss Marion D. Tucker, director of the chapter, managed the whole affair and received much commendation for the successful manner in which it was conducted.

It isn't worth while to call in a veterinarian for a bad case of eggs.

SMART SET

The annual dancing party of the Smart Set Club, an organization of young women from Allston and Newton, was held at Whitney Hall, Brookline, Monday evening. The members entertained about 100 couples and were the recipients of warm congratulations upon the social success of the party.

The matrons were Mrs. James Spillane, Mrs. Louis Glazier, Mrs. Martin Whalen. The ushers included Dr. Albert Fitzpatrick, Dr. J. F. Costello, Mr. Walter Joyce, James Farrell, Roy Miller and Edward Bryson.

Some very pretty gowns were seen among those present. The president, Miss Hanna Condon, wore lavender messaline trimmed with amethyste jewels; the vice-president, Miss May Spillane, pompadour muslin; the treasurer, Miss Edith Waalen, yellow satin; Miss Ethel Joyce, lavender silk de sole, with black lace; Miss Helen Farrell, white messaline; Miss Catherine Morlessey, white silk with duchesse lace.

Among those present were guests from the Newtons, Watertown, Brookline, Allston and Everett.

W. C. T. U.

The regular Monday evening entertainment at the Seaman's Bethel, 332 Hanover street, Boston, was furnished April 12 by the West Newton Woman's Christian Temperance Union and members of their families. After a praise service, readings and recitations were given by Mrs. E. E. Mason and Mr. William H. Rand, Miss Cenary Earnest and Miss Hazel Fogel. Vocal solos were given by Mrs. M. E. Beardsley and Miss Helen Dower. A chorus of Italian girls and members of Dr. Rand's class at the Bethel added variety to the entertainment which was declared to be one of the best of the season.

At the close of the entertainment Dr. Louise Rand presented the advantages of a life of total abstinence to the men present, over 200, among whom were many from the steamboats in port. Dr. Brady, the pastor, called for men to sign the pledge and 22 responded, representing six nationalities; on signing the pledge they were presented with a Testament. Mrs. Beardsley and Mrs. Chandler sang "Put on the Old Gray Bonnet" and the men joined in the chorus with much enjoyment, after which they partook with a relish of the coffee rolls, doughnuts and coffee served by the West Newton ladies.

A grand work has been going on at the Bethel for 50 years and donations of literature and clothing can be used to advantage in their work for sailors and also Italian work. The Italian Sunday school has an attendance of over 100.

BURGLARS

While the family of Mr. C. P. Kelly was absent last Sunday night a rear window of their home at 28 Bowdoin street, Newton Highlands, was forced and the interior of the dwelling ransacked in the most approved fashion. At 10 o'clock the maid returned to the house and apparently frightened the intruders away. Although there was much silverware and articles of value in the place nothing was taken and it was evident that the thieves wanted nothing but jewelry.

THE IMMEDIATE JEWEL.

"Good name in man and woman (dear my Lord).
"Is the immediate jewel of their Soul."

"The word character is Greek and signifies a stamp. Character consists of habits animated by motive, and good character of good habits animated by good motives."

So clearly is the value of a good name manifested to everyone, that its preservation becomes of paramount importance. Now two classes of people may use a name, one class animated by good motives, and another by the reverse. It is the privilege of the individual as to where, when, and how, such a jewel shall be used. There must always exist the frontier line between prerogative or personal right, and the mere curiosity of a stranger. Personal acquaintance is necessary, if we seek the truth, to do more than generalize. It is at this point that motive becomes apparent. Non-acquaintance must quote "They Say," always most untrustworthy witnesses, and when called as such generally itinerant. It is justifiable for characters animated by good motives to discuss anyone, they will bury all that is evil and disseminate only the good. Character, not animated by good motives is reprehensible, and unfit to discuss topics sacred to another. This second class may be truly compared to coiners of counterfeit money. One coins the story, the other the money, that confounds. Each leaves somebody poor indeed; both are subject to the laws of repression and punishment. But why indulge in this pernicious and least improving of all occupations for the mind called gossip? With free lectures, organ recitals, Museums of Art, for cultivating higher ideals and furnishing something for nothing as topics, why still remain a gossip?

Substitute some good book in which day by day try to discover the object for which it was written. One man, prominent in public life, admits his success is due to the careful perusal of Holmes' "Common Law," the gift of a friend.

There is a course worth following in a short poem called "How shall I a habit break." And above and beyond all, is follow the Golden Rule—more frequently "honored in the breach than in the observance." The practical Christian is one who practices precept. E. H. C. Newton, Mass., April 5, 1910.

Improved Car Service

Subway and Boylston Street

On account of the large number of cars now run over the tracks on Boylston Street and in the Subway, between Copley Square and Park Street, and in order to provide for a more rapid movement on these tracks, and to better utilize other surface and subway tracks, it has been determined to run some of these cars on other tracks which are not so much used. It is the Company's intention to run some of these cars to Park Street by that part of the Subway which is entered at Pleasant Street, at the Junction of Tremont Street and Shawmut Avenue, and other cars by the way of the Cambridge Bridge to Scollay Square. During the "rush hours" in the forenoon and afternoon about forty cars an hour will be diverted from the Boylston Street tracks. Accordingly, on and after Tuesday, April 5th, 1910, the following changes will be made:

The Newton and Watertown Line via Mt. Auburn Street, and the North Cambridge Line via Beacon Street, Somerville will be run to Scollay Square via Cambridge Bridge.

The Spring Hill-Subway Line via Prospect Street will be run in part through Central Square to River St. Car House, Cambridge.

The Milton-Crossdown Regular Line and the Grove Hall-Crossdown Extras will be run via Northampton Street and SHAWMUT AVENUE to the Subway.

The Fields Corner-Crossdown Afternoon Extras will be run outward on Huntington Avenue from Dartmouth Street only.

The Elephant's Revenge.
In the autobiography of Mr. Lindley Murray a passage occurs from which it appears that one of the clearest heads that ever engaged in the business of analysis was well nigh cracked by a simple agent for a small offense. In the year 1771 he visited the elephants at the queen's palace and, from whatever motive, ventured to withdraw a portion of the hay which one of them had been collecting with his proboscis on the floor. The little affronted the sagacious animal highly. The keeper remarked that he would never forget, and it was obvious from the rapid convolutions of his trunk that he only wanted an opportunity to avenge the misappropriation of his property on the spot. The grammarian, however, kept out of his way, probably thinking no more of the matter, until he chanced to revisit the same place after an interval of several weeks. On this occasion a number of other persons were present, but of the whole the elephant singled out his enemy and aimed a desperate blow at his head, which, fortunately, neither proved fatal nor took effect.

Made His Ideas Flow.

I used to write for a medical periodical. On returning home one day after a very heavy day's work at the hospital and feeling completely exhausted I found a note from the editor, "Please let me have an article on such and such a subject tonight." I sat down with pen and paper before me, but not a word could I write. Then I lay back lazily and began to speculate as to the cause of my want of ideas. I thought: "The brain is the same as it was yesterday, but yesterday I was not tired. Perhaps it is the feeble circulation that prevents the brain from acting. If the blood does not go up to the brain I may bring the brain down to the blood." I therefore placed my head flat on the table, looking sideways at the paper, and began to write easily. On raising my head again every idea fled, so I placed my head again down on the table and finished the article with my head in that position.—Sir T. Lauder Brunton in Practitioner.

Work of the Earthworm.

When we behold a wide, turf covered expanse we should remember that its smoothness, on which so much of its beauty depends, is mainly due to all the inequalities having been slowly leveled by worms. It is a marvellous reflection that the whole of the superficial mold over any such expanse has passed and will pass again every few years through the bodies of worms. The plow is one of the most ancient and most valuable of man's inventions, but long before he existed the land was, in fact, regularly plowed by earthworms. It may be doubted whether there are many other animals which have played so important a part in the history of the world as have these lowly organized creatures. Some other animals, however, still more lowly organized—namely, corals—have done far more conspicuous work in having constructed innumerable reefs and islands in the great oceans, but these are almost confined to the tropical zones.

Not Literary.

"The late Frederick Burton was the world's foremost authority on the American Indian," said a Yale ethnologist. "Burton was almost alone in his field. There are, you know, so few students of Indian lore."

"He said to me once, with a vexed laugh, that he found it quite as impossible to discuss the Indian with people as a Boston critic found it to discuss poetry with the girl he took down to dinner."

"The girl was very pretty. Leaning her dimpled elbows on the table, she said to the critic: 'And what is your lecture to be about, professor?'"

"I shall lecture on Keats," he replied.

Tarring and Feathering.

The first recorded instance of tarring and feathering a human being was in 1189, during the time of the crusades. In that year, the first of the reign of Richard I., a law was passed that "any robber voyaging with the crusaders shall be first shaved, then hot pitch shall be poured upon him and a cushion of feathers shook over him." After this the criminal was to be put ashore at the first landing place the ship reached.

What Might Have Been.

"That man Hillin lacks courage and energy."
"Yes, confound him!"
"Why do you say that?"
"Because he was courting my wife long before I met her. If he had had a little more courage and energy— But what's the use of talking about it now?"

Well He Knew.

Emperor Francis of Austria and his empress once attended the performance of a play which abounded in political allusions. On leaving the theater he remarked good naturedly, "We may congratulate ourselves on having seen the piece at all, for I am sure that it will be speedily forbidden."

His Time Wasn't.

"Time is money."
"Cut that lie out!"
"Why do you call it a lie?"
"Say, I've just done ten years in the penitentiary and come out busted!"—Cleveland Leader.

Knowledge, in truth, is the great sun in the firmament. Life and power are scattered with its beams.—Webster

WE HEARD THE OTHER DAY OF A MAN WHO HAD AN ORDER TO PLACE FOR PAPERING, BUT "IT WAS SMALL AND BEMIS & JEWETT WOULDN'T WANT TO BOTHER WITH IT." WE DOUBT IF THIS IDEA IS VERY WIDELY SPREAD, BUT WE DON'T WANT A SINGLE PERSON TO HAVE IT.

FROM OUR STANDPOINT, AN ORDER IS AN ORDER—A CUSTOMER A CUSTOMER. THERE IS NO SUCH THING AS LARGE OR SMALL. TO BE SURE, ALL MERCHANDISE COSTS LESS IN BULK—WALL PAPERS, ETC., INCLUDED—BUT QUALITY, CARE AND PROMPTNESS NEVER VARY—AT LEAST NOT WHEN A MAN IS DEALING WITH US.

IF THAT MAN TELLS YOU SUCH A THING, BE FAIR AND GIVE US THE CHANCE TO DISAPPROVE IT.

The result of the poll of Republican newspapers of Massachusetts by the Chicago Tribune, regarding current opinion of the Aldrich tariff bill, and the continuance of Mr. Cannon as speaker, leads inevitably to the conclusion that the so-called "insurgent movement" is not confined to the west and northwest, but is almost national in its scope. Indeed, the Tribune finds that New England editors are more strongly opposed to the present tariff and to Speaker Cannon than their brother editors in other sections of the country. The figures for Massachusetts are particularly interesting, when viewed by the recent result in the 14th district and the change in the committee on Rules of the National House, both of which have occurred since the Tribune's poll was made. Seventy-nine Massachusetts editors are opposed to the Aldrich tariff, 24 in favor, with 54 not answering. New England as a whole votes 184 in opposition, 39 in favor and 157 not answering. On the question is Cannon your choice for speaker? Massachusetts votes 87 no, 19 yes, and 51 fail to answer, while New England totals 32 yes, 205 no and 143 not answering.

These figures simply go to show that the Republican party will have the fight of its life the coming fall, when, with Congressmen to be elected, the tariff and the high cost of living will enter more largely into the campaign than it did last year in the gubernatorial election. In addition, the Republicans of Massachusetts will probably make the state fight with a ticket headed by a governor, who, while a splendid executive—one of the best the state has had for many years—still lacks that personal popularity which is such a large factor in most campaigns.

The work for the coming elections, from a Republican standpoint, cannot be commenced too soon, and should be the most active and aggressive campaign possible.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME.

The Committee on Cities has at last reported leave to withdraw on the bill of Boston College to annex land at Chestnut Hill to the city of Boston. The committee has acted in a most singular manner on this proposition. After the formal hearing some weeks ago it gave a private hearing to representatives of the college and then gave the city authorities an opportunity to appear at another conference. The college amended its bill so that the land to be annexed included only the property occupied by the college, but even this bill failed to satisfy the city authorities and so another hearing was held Wednesday morning at which Mr. McLaughlin appeared for the college, and City Solicitor Slocum, Alderman Blakemore and Ex-Representative E. B. Bishop spoke in remonstrance. Yesterday the committee reported leave to withdraw with Senator Lomasney dissenting.

The committee on Ways and Means has favorably reported a resolve appropriating $2000 for the Metropolitan Park Commission to investigate the advisability of the so-called Newton parkway scheme. It will be $2000 wasted if the Governor does not put his veto on the proposition, as he should. The commission is to report by January, 1911.

The House has adopted the bill to relieve the Commonwealth and its cities and towns from any part of the expense of abolition of grade crossings. The vote was close. The only interest Newton has in the proposition is that we have incurred a large expense under the present law, and it would seem only justice in case the law is changed to reimburse us for some portion of the expense of this work in Newton.

Representatives Ellis and White were in the minority on the vote to allow a jury trial on all cases of contempt of court, committed outside the presence of the court itself. While this bill is presented as a pure labor measure, it has elements of justice which should receive attention from all fair-minded persons. I do not believe our representatives correctly reflect the sentiment of this city on the bill.

The so-called eight hour bill has passed the House, Mr. Ellis making a telling speech against its passage and all our representatives recorded in opposition.

The Senate, somewhat to the surprise of those interested, has passed the corporation tax bill by a vote of nearly two to one. Senator Mulligan of this district being in the minority. This bill is a most serious one for Newton as it will reduce our income nearly $50,000. The action of the Senate is the death blow to the hopes of our representatives, who have worked hard against this bill.

The Governor's reception Wednesday evening, held in the Hall of Flags,

In consequence of the recent fire in the Draper mansion, was largely attended, and was a most enjoyable affair for its kind. Among the Newton people present were noticed Representative and Mrs. Ellis, Representative and Mrs. Bothfield, Representative and Mrs. White, Mr. E. F. Hamlin, Mr. R. L. Bridgman, Mayor and Mrs. Hatfield, General and Mrs. James G. White, General and Mrs. W. R. Emery, Major and Mrs. M. E. Cobb, Major and Mrs. Fred P. Barnes, Captain and Mrs. W. L. Sanborn, Captain and Mrs. G. F. Gullford, Lieutenant and Mrs. Harry T. Kane, Lieutenant and Mrs. B. F. Blake, Lieutenant and Mrs. G. W. Daniels and Lieutenant Joseph G. Holmes and Miss Cora A. Hayes.

Representative White has interested himself in the matter mentioned in this column last week regarding the action of the state police in refusing permission to children to take part in church entertainments as clearly authorized by the law of 1909. Mr. White has taken the matter to the Attorney-General and there is a prospect that the state police may hear something drop.

Considerable interest is manifested in the hearings begun this week before the Highway Commission on the matter of telephone rates and service in Boston and the suburbs. Inasmuch as the Jackson report is not yet in print, it is manifestly impossible to take definite action in the matter at present.

J. C. BRIMBLECOM.

DIED.

DONALDSON—Suddenly in Newton, April 6, Charles Wilson, infant son of James and Sarah Donaldson, aged 2 yrs. 6 mos. 26 days.

Newtonville.

Box 242, the sounding of which invariably creates anxiety among the firemen, was rung in Tuesday night for a blaze in a small barn belonging to F. C. Perry of 53 Court street. The cause was unknown and the damage trifling. On account of the fact that there is no signal box between Newtonville square and Crafts street the firemen had to work at a disadvantage. They were forced to run their apparatus through the lumber yards, tear down a section of fence and then lay lines of hose across a plowed field before they could get water on the fire. Mr. Perry is an amateur rose grower and many shrubs were trampled by the crowds that walked over the grounds.

Edited by Miss Grace M. Burt.

The Federation Bulletin for April is at hand. It contains much of interest regarding the tenth biennial which comes at Cincinnati, May 11 to 18. Plans as announced remind one of those for the Boston biennial two years ago, long morning sessions, committee conferences in the afternoon and evening sessions which will probably be open to the public. Mrs. Moore, president of the General Federation, in her monthly message answers questions relative to the biennial and tells of arrangements as follows:

"The social functions will be few in number, as requested by the General Federation Board. Excursions are in the nature of things, not a large part of the Cincinnati offering, as they were in Boston.

"It will be but a sort of time before you know about the speakers. Each department chairman is desirous of having the best for her work, and will be constantly alert to obtain the best. Come and see and hear, and I assure you that you will not be disappointed. Remember always that the spirit you bring to the convention will be the glasses through which you will view everything and which will color everything you see."

A prominent article in the Bulletin this month is by Mrs. F. H. Tucker, entitled "Hints on Children's Gardens." This gives definite and helpful suggestions for the assistance of clubs in carrying on this work. It is illustrated by pictures taken in the gardens of Waltham children and one needs but to glance over to be convinced of the real value of these gardens.

May 3 is the date set for the annual meeting of the Newton Federation and the place the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville. Luncheon tickets at 60 cents each have been sent to the clubs and members are reminded that they must be secured early as none will be sold on the day of the meeting.

Under the auspices of the West Newton W. C. T. U. Mrs. Edith Smith Davis, A. M., Lit. D., national superintendent of scientific temperance instruction, will address the Newton teachers on that subject on Tuesday, April 12, at 3 p. m., at the Technical High School. The meeting is open to the public and their cordial support is desired.

The postponed lecture by Dr. Deborah Fawcett on "Practical Application of the New Methods of Preventing Disease" will be given before the Social Science Club on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. Guests may be invited.

On Friday, April 1, the West Newton Women's Educational Club held its last meeting, having been postponed one week. Byron's "Manfred" was given with musical accompaniment, the entertainers coming from Rhode Island. The performance was highly creditable and the audience enthusiastically appreciative of one of the best programs of the season. Tea was served during the social hour.

At the annual "Children's Day" of the Waban Woman's Club observed last Monday afternoon, the speaker was Rev. J. T. Stocking. Mr. Stocking told a number of original stories for the edification of the children and ice cream and cake added to their enjoyment.

On April 18 Mrs. Archie C. Burnett will be the hostess of the club, the meeting taking the form of a musical, "An Afternoon with MacDowell."

The Newton Mothers' Club met with Mrs. E. C. Hinckley on April 4. Mrs. Charles S. Cook gave the club an "Afternoon of Stories," which was followed by the usual social hour. The next meeting will be the annual meeting for election of officers.

On Monday afternoon the Monday Club of Newton Highlands began the study of Thackeray with a sketch of his life, a review of Pendennis and readings from this novel. The committee on work for next year presented a course similar to the one being used this season and in reality a continuation of it which the club voted unanimously to adopt. It is probable that there will be more lectures by outside speakers than has formerly been the custom. Next week the club will meet with Miss Clara White of Centre street.

Mrs. Isabella Hardon of Newton gave a most interesting paper entitled "My Finding Chautauqua," before the Newtonville Woman's Guild at its meeting on Tuesday, April 5. The paper was full of information regarding the numerous activities of this unique place and some account of the coming season's activities was also included. Besides the paper the program included piano selections by Miss Isabel Puffer. The annual meeting, scheduled for April 19, will not be held until the following week when in addition to the regular business there will be a luncheon.

The Merian Club met at the home of Mrs. W. E. Gallison on Wednesday afternoon. The program included "Current Events" and was in charge of Mrs. Charles Brown. The ladies were also delightfully entertained by piano solos by Miss Elsie Dyson and readings by Miss Agnes Newey.

The monthly business meeting of the Social Science Club was held on Wednesday at the Hunnewell Club. As several committees had not been able to give any extended report for some time the morning was a full one.

Letters were read from Hampton Institute acknowledging the scholarship money sent by the club and one from the Indian boy recipient showed considerable progress over the one received from him last year.

The forestry committee submitted further details regarding plans for the gardens as they will be worked out later. The bird committee told of more encouraging conditions existing at present in the laws relative to bird protection.

In addition to the Hampton scholarship of $70 the club voted these appropriations from its philanthropic fund: Stearns Neighborhood House, $225; tuberculosis work of the Newton Federation for an emergency fund, $50; Newton Hospital, $100. The club has raised for such work nearly $500 by the annual pledges.

The course of study for next year was discussed, but final decision was delayed until next week.

Waban.

—Miss Sibyl Wardwell of Plainfield street is ill with a mild case of German measles.

—Mrs. Charles E. Comer of Chestnut street is staying in Washington, D. C., for a fortnight.

—Mr. W. R. Fisher of Pilgrim road made a short business trip to New York the first of the week.

—The Waban school's spring vacation closed on Tuesday, the pupils returning this week for the final term.

—The Waban young people held a small but merry dance in Waban Hall on Wednesday night, 14 couples participating.

—The Luncheon Whist Club was entertained on Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Edmund Winchester of Pine Ridge road.

—The usual meeting of the Guild of the Good Shepherd was held this week with Mrs. R. H. Chadbourne, Irvington street.

—The much anticipated annual dramatics of the Waban Tennis Courts will have their first presentation in Waban Hall this evening.

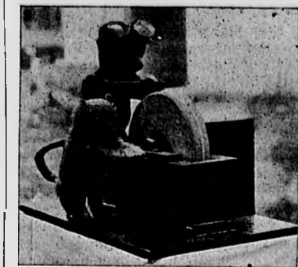

—Master Elliot M. Buffum of Beacon street has been confined to the house this week with a slight illness which was at first pronounced scarlet fever but which proved to be merely a form of grip.

—Mrs. F. W. Webster of Windsor road was the hostess at a charming bridge at the Brao Burn Country Club on Tuesday afternoon at which were nearly 50 guests. The prizes were unusually artistic, the fortunate ladies being Mrs. H. S. Kimball, Mrs. Edmund Winchester, Mrs. F. W. Davis and Mrs. William Gilmore, while Mrs. Joseph Congdon and Mrs. J. P. True received the consolation gifts. A large collation followed the decorations being pink and white.

—The annual children's afternoon of the Waban Women's Club was held on Monday, Waban Hall being filled to the limit by little folks and their mothers. The entertainment was furnished by the Rev. Jay T. Stocking of Newtonville, who told a number of original children's stories delightfully. Both the stories and the way they were given kept his audience, young and old, deeply interested throughout and it proved one of the most pleasing entertainments the club has ever had for the children.

THEATRES
Park Theatre—The engagement of William Hodge in "The Man from Home" at the Park Theatre, Boston, is one of the most remarkable in the history of theatricals in this section. Ever since the opening performance 14 weeks ago, capacity business has been the rule and people are turned away nightly. "The Man from Home" is hearing its 150th performance and there is no indication of any let-up in the attendance. "The Man from Home" is one of those cleverly constructed plays which appeals to all classes; clean, wholesome and invigorating and presented by a cast the equal of which has not been seen on a Boston stage for years. Mr. Hodge is such a fine actor and has such a unique and attractive personality that half the honor of the absorbing entertainment of the play are due to his delightful acting and undeniably he is never out of the heart of the story or the stage centre for two minutes after he climbs into it. He opens up with a rapid fire of Americanisms, which are kindled by the Hodge humor and temperament.

Boston Theatre—Miss Anna Held, who it will be remembered made such a distinct hit in Boston earlier in the season at the Colonial Theatre, comes to the Boston Theatre for a single week's engagement beginning Monday, April 11, in Ziegfeld's musical production, "Miss Innocence." The plot is not divulged, but in the play, according to all announcements, there is an endless number of up-to-date novelties and startling features. The work is in two acts and eight big scenes, the first of which is a girls' seminary, located on the Isle of Innocence, the second is a railway train running between Marseilles and Paris; the third an exact reproduction of the famous Abbaye Restaurant in Paris, showing the Moulin Rouge by night in the distance. Miss Held will wear her famous dress with 3000 diamonds. The dress complete is said to represent an outlay of $30,000. This engagement will mark Miss Held's first and only appearance in Boston at Boston Theatre prices.

Kelth's Theatre—It would appear that vaudeville has reached the limit in the production Gertrude Hoffmann will put on at Kelth's next week. As a matter of fact, it is a series of productions embracing about everything of importance which has appeared in the past year in vaudeville, musical comedy or on the legitimate stage. It is nothing short of a Ziegfeld revue, for although Miss Hoffmann does all the impersonations herself and a half a dozen burlesques, she is supported by a company of 25 people and there is constant change of scene, some of the settings being of the most elaborate character. This is particularly true when she burlesques Annette Kellermann, the "Diving Venus," in this the entire company appears, no less than 12 girls in Kellermann costumes going into the tank, one after another. In her imitation of Isadora Duncan she has 12 dancers in the "Blue Danube." Again as Ruth St. Denis she has a troupe of East Indians who sing and dance and so on through all the impersonations, including Harry Lauder, Eddie Leonard, Eva Tanguay, Eddie Foy, Valeska Surratt, Anna Held, Alice Lloyd and a score of others. This production has been one of the sensations of the year in New York, and as it comes to Boston for only one week crowded houses are assured. The entire bill will be of equal interest in character. One feature of it new to Boston will be an original New York sensation, a magician named Jarro, who has set the Metropolis talking by his wonderful "lemon" trick, paper money being taken from a lemon dripping with juice. This trick must be seen to be appreciated. Other features will be the Holloways, one of the biggest wire acts; Haines and Vidocq; Madelon and Fitzpatrick; Ha Granna, and Tap Handy.

Colonial Theatre—No play presented in Boston in recent years scored a more emphatic success than was registered by the "Third Degree" when that remarkable drama was presented here for the first time a trifle more than a year ago. For the engagement at the Colonial Mr. Harris is sending the New York cast and production. Few if any of those who attended the opening performances of this play have forgotten the remarkable character portrayal of Miss Helen Ware in the role of Annie Jeffries. Her work was instantly stamped as exceedingly remarkable and it is doubtful if during the life of "The Third Degree" the American stage has seen such an appealing bit of acting as Miss Ware presents in her delineation of the part of the young wife of a millionaire's son, who has been cast off by his family for marrying a waitress while a student at college. Miss Ware continues in this role and her acting has lost none of its charm or artistic value. Ralph Dehorne will be seen again as the criminal dogging police captain of hypnotic powers and the remainder of the cast includes James Seelye, for several seasons a popular member of the Castle Square stock company; Frazer Coulter and Malcolm Duncan, Walter Craven, William Herbert, Edward Leahy, William Wray and James Cody. The return engagement at the Colonial will be a limited one. Evening performances will be given at 8 and matinees on Wednesdays and Saturdays at 2. The prices range from 35 cents to $1.50.

American Music Hall—Considerable interest will centre in the return of Europe's bathing sensation, the Diving Myrna, none other than Miss Ethel Macdonough, at one time the popular drummer of the Boston Fadedettes. She does everything that a diver before the public does and a great deal more. Another pleasing feature will be Collins and Hart, two strong men. This is an act that is ludicrously funny from start to finish. John C. Rice and Sally Cohen will be seen in their latest one-act farce, "Our Honey-moon." Dave Genaro and Ray Bailey, big vaudeville favorites, will present an up-to-date novelty introducing their latest sensation, "The Filtration Dance." Sophie Tucker, who is in a class by herself as an up-to-date comic shouter, will offer advanced fashions in comic songs. Another headline feature will be the international comedy success, "My Wife Won't Let Me," by Wilson Franklin and company. The balance of the bill will include the Orfika, whitewinged Russian dancers from the Imperial Russian Ballet, and Mlle. Berthe, a high-class violinist, and others.

DEDICATION

The new Technical High School will be dedicated next Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock with exercises in the lecture hall. Hon. Henry E. Bothfield, chairman of the school committee, will preside, and remarks are expected from Mr. Frederick P. Fish, chairman of the state board of education; Mayor Charles E. Hatfield, Superintendent of Schools Spaulding, Headmaster C. L. Kirschner, and possibly from Miss Sarah L. Arnold of Simmons College. All the departments of the school, including sewing, cooking, wood working, wood turning, typewriting, bookkeeping, and freehand and mechanical drawing will be opened with pupils at work. As the capacity of the hall is limited the admission is limited to adults.

ANNUAL MEETING.

Channing Alliance of Newton held its annual meeting in the church parlors on Tuesday morning. The annual reports were of much interest, showing as they do how much work is being done quietly during the year. A substantial sum of money has been raised and used for many worthy objects. All the appeals sent out by the National Alliance for helping struggling churches to secure much needed equipment have been responded to, contributions of money and clothing have been sent to Morgan Memorial, the Newton Associated Churches, the Newton Hospital, the New England Hospital and Children's Mission, in addition to the home work. The officers for next year will be: President, Miss Jessie M. Fisher; vice-presidents, Mrs. E. W. Howe, Mrs. F. A. Wetherbee, Mrs. J. W. McIntyre; recording secretary, Miss Grace M. Burt; corresponding secretary, Mrs. F. E. Harwood; directors, Miss M. R. Wheeler, Mrs. J. N. Palmer, Mrs. George M. Nash. A delectable course luncheon was served by a committee of ladies with Mrs. C. B. Beason as chairman. After which there were short exercises. Mrs. George Saville of Quincy, a director of the National Alliance, brought greetings from the national board and spoke of the work being done over the country. Mrs. Susan Whiting Ives brought greetings from her new home at Andover, N. H., and told how well everything is going on with their church and Proctor Academy. Mrs. F. H. Tucker gave an original sketch in which she portrayed the organizing of a club which should take neither time nor money and set out the follies and foibles of fashion in a most amusing way. As a fitting close to a very delightful occasion came a few words from the minister-elect, Rev. Harry Lutz, both Mr. and Mrs. Lutz were the special guests of the Alliance.

CONVENTION

The annual Middlesex county convention of Christian Endeavor will be held April 19 at Woburn, Mass., in the First Congregational Church. There will be two sessions, one in the afternoon at 2:30 and in the evening at 7 o'clock. Plan to be on time so as to have a part in the praise service which will be a very important part of the program. Subject of the convention is: "Consecrated Christian Courage." Speakers and their subjects are as follows: Afternoon session—Mr. E. S. Hoeford, Malden, "Christian Courage and Business Problems"; Rev. Herbert Johnson, Boston, "High Power Men and Women." Evening session—Mr. John J. Higgins, Somerville, district attorney of Middlesex county, "Facing the Facts in Middlesex"; Rev. Smith Baker, D. D., Lowell, "Standing Alone."

A rather unique program has been arranged and the best speakers to secure enthusiasm on the different subjects have been procured. Come and meet these speakers with equal enthusiasm and thereby help to make our convention this year the best in history.

There will be a supper and social hour between the two sessions.

A LIEDERHEIM PUPIL.

Nearly 300 enthusiastic friends of Miss Marion E. Watson listened to a program of arias and songs presented by her in Tufts Hall, Somerville, last Tuesday evening. Miss Watson sang two operatic arias and four groups of songs and a duet with her teacher, Mrs. Ruggles, who also sang two groups of songs. Most able assistance was given by Miss Carolyn Weekes in violin selections and the accompanist, Mr. Norman Cole of Harvard University, was most sympathetic and finished.

Miss Watson has a beautiful lyric voice, under splendid control, and her easy manner of singing and pleasing stage presence called forth highest praise. All were repeatedly encouraged and Miss Watson was the recipient of many handsome floral offerings.

This is the first large musicale of the season connected with Liedersheim School of Vocal Music in Auburndale. Five or six more will follow.

Liederheim vesper next Sunday evening at 7:30 there will be a vesper service. The singing will be by the Liedersheim Glee Club and the organ. It will be Prof. C. G. Hamilton of Wellesley College. He is a member of Liedersheim Advisory Board and will give a number of fine organ selections.

All friends welcome to Liedersheim 33 Hancock street, Auburndale, Wednesday evenings. No special invitations.

THE PLAYERS

The closing performance of The Players for this, the 21st season, took place on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings in Players' Hall, West Newton, before large audiences. The farce, "What Happened to Jones" was given with Messrs. T. E. Stutson, G. M. Angier, A. W. Hollis, H. C. Johnson, E. S. Locke, Osgood Perkins, R. G. Whiting, Mrs. F. B. Bancroft, Jr., and the Misses Margaret Hatfield, Margaret Stutson, Gladys M. Chandler, Margaret Tapley and Ethel Jaynes in the cast. Mr. G. R. Puleifer was acting manager, Mr. A. G. Hosmer, stage manager, and Messrs. H. L. Burrage, W. T. Farley, Elery Peabody and Hon. C. E. Hatfield were ushers. An orchestra, under direction of Mr. A. H. Handley, furnished appropriate music.

TABLET PRESENTED.

The Lucy Jackson Chapter, D. A. R., of Newton, met last Monday at the Newton Club house, the board of directors held the hostesses. The hall was handsomely decorated with large flags, and there were many guests present.

Mrs. Bonney, accompanied by Miss Morton, sang very charmingly, and then the regent, Mrs. Arthur P. Friend, gave a short history of the efforts of the chapter to mark authentic historic spots. The Old Powder House at Newton Centre and a very old homestead at Waban, where eight generations have lived, the old Woodward house, have been marked by tablets; and at this meeting the chapter presented to the city of Newton the granite stone which marks the spot of Roger Sherman's birth, on Waverley avenue, Newton, what is known as "the old Skinner place."

Mayor Charles E. Hatfield responded in a very happy and dignified manner and accepted the stone for the city of Newton.

The orator of the day, Mr. Roger Sherman Warner, then spoke most impressively of the life and deeds of his ancestor, Roger Sherman, who was patriot, judge, member of the Continental Congress, signer of the Declaration of Independence, and one of the men who framed the Constitution of the United States.

After singing "America," the company adjourned to the parlors, where Mrs. Friend, Mayor Hatfield, Mr. Warner and a former regent, Miss Allen, received the members of the chapter and their friends. Refreshments were served later, the daughters of members proving very efficient assistants.

WATCHED

Mr. Charles E. Braman, for the past four years the deputy collector and paymaster at City Hall, was agreeably surprised last Friday afternoon at a little gathering of his many friends at City Hall in the office of the city physician, and presented with a beautiful gold, open face, Waltham watch. The presentation was made by Dr. Francis George Curtis, chairman of the Board of Health, and to which Mr. Braman made a brief but heartfelt response. Dr. F. M. Lowe, city physician, who had been originally selected to present the watch, was delayed and arrived after Dr. Curtis had taken his place. Dr. Lowe was not informed of what Dr. Curtis had done and was induced to make a second presentation of the watch, to which the party listened with perfectly sober faces, but many inward chuckles of glee.

The watch is a fine specimen of Waltham workmanship and bears the inscription, "Presented to Mr. Charles E. Braman by his friends in City Hall."

HIGH PRAISE

In the United States Senate the present week, Senator Lodge of Massachusetts spoke as follows in regard to Governor Eben S. Draper:

"I desire to say here in the Senate, where intimations have been made to reflect upon the governor of my State, that no more honorable man, no more high minded man, no man less subject to dictation from any quarter, lives in the United States today than the present governor of Massachusetts. There is not a more fearless man occupying any great public office than he. He is as ready to resist the threat of the demagogue as the threat of the head of a great corporation. No one who knows him would, or could, attempt to threaten him or dictate to him more than once. No doubt he is open, like all the rest of us, to criticism, and no doubt he makes mistakes, but his purposes are high, his public spirit is as lofty as those of any man that has ever filled the governor's chair in that or any other State."

NYE ESTATE

The Nye estate in Auburndale, with 720 feet frontage on Central street and 400 feet frontage on Grove street, sloping down to the new Nye Park and Auburndale railroad station, comprising in all some two acres of land and considered one of the very finest locations in all Newton (south side of track), has been sold by R. Patterson to E. Arthur Robinson, who will cut it up and sell it off in building lots, and in so doing will offer some rare bargains for those particular about location.

THE NEW ENGLAND PEACE CONGRESS.

The announcement that a Peace Congress will be held at Hartford is of special interest to the people of Newton. Many of its foremost citizens are members of the American Peace Society. Among them is the general secretary, Dr. Benjamin F. Trueblood, who has been a recognized leader in the world peace movement for nearly 20 years. Dr. Trueblood will deliver one of the principal addresses at the opening of the Congress. Other speakers from the neighborhood of Boston will be Dr. O. P. Gifford, Rev. Samuel W. Crothers, Rev. J. L. Barton, Mr. and Mrs. Mead and Mrs. Fannie Fern Andrews. A special feature of the program will be a visit to the monument to Elihu Burritt in New Britain. Exercises at the monument will include choruses by children and an address by Professor James Brown Scott. There will also be exercises in the evening at which Rabbi Wise of New York City will be the orator. Congressmen Tawney, Bartholdt and McCall, Hon. John W. Foster and Secretary of War Dickinson are expected to make addresses.

NARROW ESCAPE.

Daniel Kinslea, an electrician, whose whom is in Nonantum, had a painful experience in Nonantum square Tuesday. He was at work fixing the incandescent lamps on an advertising sign when in some manner he came in contact with a live wire carrying the voltage necessary for 24 lamps.

He was severely burned about the hands and had difficulty in extricating himself from his position 20 feet above the sidewalk. Some moment and other persons who witnessed the accident aided him to the ground. His injuries are not regarded as serious.

POLICE NOTES.

Chief of Police Mitchell, acting under orders from the mayor, has officers stationed at the various primary schools where street cars pass, twice each day, when the seasons close. In this way it is hoped to prevent a repetition of the recent accident at West Newton where a careless boy ran in front of an automobile and was severely hurt. Joseph Barba of Watertown street, Nonantum, who was given a hearing Saturday on a charge of keeping and exposing for sale intoxicating liquors, was fined $50 on Monday and appealed, bonds being placed at $300. On the question of the forfeiture of the 90 gallons of wine seized in the raid on his premises another appeal was entered, with bonds of $20.

Peculiar Optical Effects.

If one places a pinhead up close to the eye and directly in front of it the head of the pin appears transparent and things may be seen as easily through it as through a sheet of Isinglass, the head appearing simply as a large round cloud. If it is placed somewhat closer no pin or head can be seen at all.

If one goes into a very dark room and puts a lighted candle near the side of one eye very pretty and peculiar effects are observed. A tracery, forming a regular network, can be easily detected, and this is merely the shadow thrown by the candle on the retina of the eye of the small capillary blood vessels between the retina and the candle.

If one looks to the side of a dim star in the heavens the star appears a great drop brighter than direct vision makes it appear. This is because the light in the indirect view falls on what is known as the "yellow spot" or point of keenest vision. As this is not put directly behind the front of the eye the side glance is necessary. Some people can see stars that way that they cannot perceive at all on direct vision.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

A Sacred Bath.

The number of queer things the various peoples do in the name of religion are legion, but no sight is more odd than that which may be witnessed on Badrinath, a peak of the Himalayan range to northwestern India. The peak looms 22,001 feet above the sea, and at an altitude of 10,400 feet there is built a shrine of Vishnu overhanging a great tank fed by water from the sacred thermal spring. Annually about 15,000 pilgrims climb the weary path to the shrine, and every twelfth year, when the Kumbh Mela is celebrated, the number increases to at least 50,000. Arriving at the shrine, the pilgrims adore the great idol, liberally fee the Brahmin priests and bathe in the sacred tank. This latter performance is slightly startling, as men and women, absolutely nude, plunge into the water with cries of joy until the entire tank is a seething mass of humanity, resembling very much the familiar "wrigglers" of an infrequently emptied rain barrel.—New York Times.

Why He Hadn't Tried It.

A party was encamped on the Bear river in eastern Utah, when a prospector came along one morning on a mule. He had his jaw tied up and at first seemed inclined to pass on without a word. On second thought, however, he halted and gruffly queried:

"How far to Salt Lake?"
"Three hundred miles."
"Bum!"
"Travelled far?"
"About 200 miles."
"Get your jaw hurt?"
"No; it's just an infernal toothache, and I'm a-riding five hundred miles to get it pulled."

We invited him down, and one of the crowd got a piece of string round the tooth and jerked it out as quick as you please. After the overjoyed man had ceased dancing about it queried:

"Why didn't you try the string before starting out on such a long ride?"

The Chief's Error.

Goron was chief of the Paris police when the following incident took place: Lombroso had written a book in 1888 on criminality among women, so runs the story, and when it was finished wrote to Goron to send him "forthwith" some portraits of Parisian woman criminals. Anxious to please the writer, the package was made up and started on its tour to Italy. When the book came out Lombroso sent a copy, bandonously bound, to Goron, who saw his gift acknowledged on the first page. "It was a scholarly book," said the chief, "and would have had a large sale but for an error on my part. The pictures came out of the wrong drawer of my desk. They were not criminals at all, but women who had applied for bookkeepers' licenses, and a new edition had to be printed to make good a police mistake."

An Exchange of Courtesies.

A couple of men got into a warm argument and finally came to blows. After the fracas a spectator remarked: "A soft answer turneth away wrath, and vice versa. We should all keep polite tongues in our heads. Only last night I heard a very fat man say with a loud laugh to a bowlegged friend: "Jim, old man, you look as if you'd been riding a barrel!" "And you," snapped Jim sourly, "look as if you'd swallowed one."

Let's Him Out.

Mrs. Nagger—Oh, James, how awkward! Mr. Smith has come, and now we shall be thirteen at table. Mr. Nagger—What then? Mrs. Nagger (with a shriek)—Why, one of us will die before the year is out! Mr. Nagger (brutally)—Never mind; I'm tough.—London Pick-Me-Up.

A Cute Child.

"Every time the baby looks into my face he smiles," said Mr. Meekins. "Well," answered his wife, "it may not be exactly polite, but it shows he has a sense of humor."

Gallant.

Beautiful Widow—Do you know, I am forty years old today. Gallant Bachelor—Madam, you are just twenty. I never believe more than half of what I hear.

Reckless Driving.

"What is the matter with your wife? I see she's got her hand in a sling." "Reckless driving." "Horse?" "No; ball."

WABAN TENNIS CLUB DRAMATICS

The Waban Tennis Court's annual dramatics were presented on the local stage Friday and Saturday evenings of last week, before two enthusiastic audiences which taxed the seating capacity of the hall, and unanimously agreed that the show surpassed any of its predecessors for general excellence, and was indeed an amateur performance of the highest order.

As the primary intention of the committee this year was not to make money but rather to give an excellent production, no expense was spared, and the scenic effects were more artistic and elaborate than ever before attempted in Waban. Further, an excellent orchestra of club members added greatly to the musical program.

Following the overture, the new drop curtain, embellished with the club's seal in silver, rose, showing a dark stage, and the well trained chorus of excellent voices sang the first number of the opening chorus out of eight, except for the gleams of numerous electric flashlights.

Then the lights sprang up disclosing an effective and faithfully reproduced scene on shipboard, the interior, Mr. C. C. Blaney, as the captain, magnificent in full dress uniform, the chorus and orchestra in white sailor suits and the end men, Messrs. H. O. Sietson, F. W. Davis, C. A. Sawyer and L. B. Cardell, in gaudy uniforms. From the start the minstrels went with a snap and the comedians, though all undergoing their "baptism of fire," acquitted themselves with much credit.

The songs were especially effective; humorous numbers with several original verses being sung by the end men and by Mr. W. R. Fisher, whose singing of "The Hat, My Father Wore" had the audience shouting with him on the choruses. Mr. R. F. Williams made a hit as "Waban's boy soprano," singing "Put On Your Old Gray Bonnet" in a clear and amusing falsetto, and on Saturday night Mr. Gould was able to give "Any Old Port in a Storm" only through handicapped by a severe cold. Of a different order was "The Garden of Roses" effectively rendered by Mr. Robinson with string and male quartet accompaniment. The quartet also sang in the last two numbers pleasingly.

Throughout encores were insistently and impartially given to every number. No small credit is due to the chorus, whose faithful rehearsal and excellent singing made the music the best ever. They were, beside the end men, Messrs. R. F. Williams, E. H. Robinson, G. Williams, A. C. Turner, D. M. Hill, W. R. Fisher, W. M. Buffum and G. S. Gould. The orchestra consisted of Mrs. T. H. Piser, Mr. Piser, Mr. Barnshaw, Mr. Tarr and Mr. Kimball, and their splendid playing added new pleasure and interest to the performance.

The choruses and vocal and instrumental arrangements were written by Mr. Robinson, and at the eleventh hour he was called out of the circle to play the piano owing to the unfortunate illness of Mrs. Dow, who was to accompany and had rehearsed most faithfully.

Four vaudeville acts out of the common followed. First came Mrs. P. H. Putnam, Waban's favorite reader, who showed her well recognized ability and gave much pleasure with her two numbers, "An Afternoon at Whist" and "Puffer First."

Robert Brigham was again on hand in a new comedy character skit which proved a scream and added to his reputation as a real comedian. He changed his costume and made in full view of the audience, using dust pans and brushes, feather dusters, mops, shovels and the like and being ably assisted by Phoebe Nemo whose pantomime acting was the funniest thing of the evening.

They were followed by Messrs. C. A. Sawyer and C. W. Elmer in a remarkable exhibition of buck and wing dancing equal to much seen on the professional stage, and for which stunt the two had rehearsed almost nightly for over a month. They were insistently encored.

The closing act was a burlesque on "Chanticleer" by Mr. and Mrs. Davis as two crows in specially designed and made costumes, and their whole act and dialogue was of the most original and clever imaginable and proved a fitting finale.

The show netted a good sum and further reflected great credit on the committee and the club.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME.

Probably the most expeditious piece of legislation for many years was the passage last Thursday and Friday of the act to allow the mayor of Newton to appoint persons to temporarily perform the duties of city officials. This bill, made necessary by the illness of City Auditor Otis, was presented on Thursday morning by Representative Bothfield, on whose motion all rules were suspended and it passed the House that morning. Senator Mulligan performed the same service in the Senate, and but for the delay in engrossment it would have been enacted the same day. As it was, both branches passed it on Friday and that afternoon it received the governor's approval.

An attempt to reopen the Riverbank subway matter was made this week, in order to make the terminal near the Buckminster hotel instead of at Charlesgate East, as originally planned. It is to be hoped that the matter will not be rehearsed again, as it will open the way for further delay in the consummation of a rapid transit service to Newton.

The corporation tax bill, which was thought would receive its death blow in the Senate was passed by a vote of two to one, and amended so as to apply to the present year. This will be a most serious matter to Newton, as it means a large loss of income. I hear that the men favoring this bill were willing to accept a ten per cent increase for the next five years, but that the proposition was rejected by the Taxation committee. While it is now too late to cry over what might have happened, from a Newton standpoint the refusal of the committee to accept this plan will be most costly for us.

AMONG WOMEN.

The annual breakfast of the Woman's Charity Club of Newton, under direction of Miss G. W. Pfeiffer, chairman of committee, will be held at the Hotel Vendome on Monday, the 18th, and bids well to be a large social gathering.

An attractive musical program has been arranged and several prominent speakers will be heard, among them being Rev. Dr. Edw. A. Horton, Rev. Dr. Winship and His Honor, John F. Fitzgerald, Mayor of Boston.

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Newton Parliamentary Law and Debating Club was held at 23 Boyd street on Thursday.

Subsidiary motions were practiced under direction of the leader.

The election of officers resulted in the following choice: President, Miss Eunice J. Simpson; first vice-president, Mrs. James I. Wingate; second vice-president, Miss Minnie R. Wheeler; third vice-president, Mrs. John Leavitt; secretary, Mrs. W. A. Beedle; treasurer, Mrs. W. D. Tripp; auditor, Mrs. C. B. Faith. The club has secured Mrs. L. W. Sherman as its leader for next season and with increased membership is looking forward to a series of pleasant and instructive meetings.

SIGNAL LANTERN SOCIETY.

The Signal Lantern Society, Children of the American Revolution, the Junior auxiliary of the Paul Revere Chapter, D. A. R., will meet at 96 Shorncliffe road, Newton, on Saturday, April 16, at 2:30 P. M. Mrs. Edgar W. Hodgson and Mrs. John A. Keefe will be the hostesses. The annual spring dance will be given in Howe hall, Boston, on the afternoon of Saturday, April 23. Mrs. Laura P. Ingles, one of the managers of the Tree Pageant, will give the joy dance from that spectacle. The Morris dance, moonlight dance and the dance of the elves also from the Tree Pageant, will be given. The proceeds of the party are for the patriotic work of the society.

LODGES.

Palestine Chapter, O. E. S., held one of the largest meetings in its grand officers present and over 100 grand officers present with over 100 guests.

Farewell to winter was appropriately observed by a Jack Frost spread in the banquet hall, in which the decorations were all white, including real snowballs. The affair was in charge of the worthy matron, Mrs. Eta M. Whitney, and the worthy patron, Mr. Ludwig Gerhard, and was a great success. Over $200 was reported as the proceeds of the recent pop concert.

CONCERT.

A large audience was present last evening at the third meeting of the Newton Teachers' Association held in the Technical High School, Newtonville. The entertainment was furnished by the Highland Glee Club, assisted by Sig. Capolloni, baritone; Mr. Charles W. Ellis, tenor, and Mr. A. J. Fairbanks, accompanist. The Newton High School Orchestra furnished the preliminary music. During the intermission there was a delightful social hour in the school library the president of the Association Mr. Louis J. West of West Newton receiving.

Dainty refreshments were served and the afternoon enjoyed by all.

MR. SNOW DEAD.

Mr. Charles Warren Snow, an old resident of Newton and paying teller in the Boylston National Bank, Boston, died at his home on Washington street Wednesday. He had been in failing health for about a year and for several months had not been able to attend to his duties in the bank. He is survived by a widow and one daughter. The funeral will be held from the house Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

STREET RAILWAY NOTES.

The success of the Suburban limited has been so marked that it will be continued, with change of time, advertised in another column. The new schedule provides for two round trips daily so arranged as to accommodate business men in and out of Boston.

The local street railway company are completing arrangements for adequate car service between this city and Lexington next Tuesday, when the 135th anniversary of the Battle of Lexington will be observed in that town with a fine parade and other exercises.

ACCIDENT.

While Dennis Hennessey of Faxon street was returning from work, yesterday afternoon, driving a team of the T. Stuart Co., his horse became frightened by a passing train, while on the Lewis Terrace bridge, and ran down the hill. Hennessey jumped off when approaching an electric car and the wheels of the wagon passed over his leg, making a bad fracture. He was taken to the Newton Hospital.

CITY HALL.

The Committee on Public Franchises were the guests last evening of the chairman, Alderman F. H. Underwood, at the Woodland Park Hotel.

Forest Commissioner Bucknam has rolled Farlow Park and planted some magnolia trees. Thomas Smith, the former caretaker will resume his old position for the season.

Nye park has the best lawn in the vicinity owing to the care given it by the Forestry Department.

Queer Creatures.

There are microscopic creatures which live in roof gutters and on the bark of trees and are known as water bears and wheel animalcules. If allowed to dry up under the microscope they can be seen to shrivel into shapeless masses, which may be kept for years uninjured in the dried state. On being placed, after this long interval, in water they gradually plump up, resume their proper shape and move about in search of food just as if nothing had happened. Much the same is true for the minute worms which, from the substances in which they live, are known as paste and vinegar eels. Well known is the famous case of the desert snail which, retracted into its shell, was fastened to a tablet in the British museum and showed no sign of life for seven years, when one morning it was found crawling hungrily about the glass case that formed its prison.—Westminster Gazette.

Saluting With the Hat.

Before the invention of wigs the hat was rarely removed except to salute others, especially royal personages. It was worn at table when ladies or persons of rank were present. Except when saluting royalty it was the custom merely to raise the hand to the hat somewhat after the manner of a military salute. When it became the mode to wear a profusion of false hair the hat was less needed as a protection for the head and was carried under the arm.

A Retiary.

A retiary was the name of a Roman gladiator armed in a peculiar way. He was furnished with a trident and net, with no more covering than a short tunic, and with these implements he endeavored to entangle and dispatch his adversary, who was called a secutor (from sequel, to follow) and was armed with a helmet, a shield and a sword. The name of the first is pronounced as if spelled re-shi-a-ry, the accent on the first syllable.

Improving on Euclid.

The Pioneer of Allahabad tells stories of some "kindergarten" classes in the English army. Among the deductions given in an examination is one of a circle peculiarly happy, which gives a freshness to Euclid. It is, "A straight line which starts at a certain point and gets back to the same point as quickly as possible."

Your Chances.

The little chances linger and return, but the great chances come and go and never come again. If we could look back over the lives of the people by whom we are surrounded, how many great and rich opportunities would we see that they have permitted to drift by them unimproved!

A largely attended mass meeting was held in Bray Hall, Newton Centre, on Sunday evening, under the direction of the Middlesex County Federation of Catholic Societies. The auditorium was crowded and included members of the several Catholic societies in the city, together with their auxiliaries and others.

The meeting was in charge of Rev. Father D. C. Riordan, pastor of the Sacred Heart Church of Newton Centre. He delivered the opening address and introduced the several speakers. The program was interspersed with musical numbers by the church choir.

Those who addressed the meeting were County President Timothy W. Haley of Cambridge, P. Sarsfield (Cuniff), chairman of the Watertown Board of Selectmen; Rev. Father Ambrose F. Roche, pastor of St. Patrick's Church, Watertown, who is county chaplain; Hon. James H. Vahey of Watertown and Charles T. Daly of Medford, secretary of the county federation. All told of the relation of the church and the federation, the need of organization of the kind and the effect of such union on Catholics as a body. In addition Mr. Haley gave interesting facts relating to the aims and purposes of the federation and told of the work accomplished all over this country and throughout its possessions. He said that there are at present 600,000 members of the federation, with 60,000 in Middlesex county.

In the opening address Rev. Father Riordan outlined the mission of the federation, saying, in part: "Needless to say, federation is not a marshalling of forces for a race struggle; Slav and Teuton and Celt are of us. It is no sullen, bitter revolt against existing conditions and circumstances, however unsatisfactory. No more is it a partisan political movement, for every shade of legitimate rational opinion is reflected in the views of our members."

Nothing is further removed from federation than proselytism and such a charge comes with ill grace from those who foster that rank growth by tolerating it. It is a movement to unite the energies of Catholics in the doing of good, in defence of faith and home and country against the evils of the time, the lawlessness of corruption, the dangerous theories and practices that are undermining our nation. That there are such evils none but the unthinking can deny.

"What of the arrogance of wealth, its wide-sweeping sinful extravagance and the revolting self-complacency of its votaries. What of the immunity from punishment, from arrest even, of plutocratic lawbreakers, and the rapidly growing distrust and contempt of law begotten of it? What of the specious doctrine of supply and demand that makes it moral to buy as low as the cost can be forced by means however cruel and unchristian, and sell as high as a long suffering people can be forced to pay monopolized capital and special legislation? This evil is worse than the corresponding tyranny of labor, so called. Federation is designed to rouse all Catholics to greater loyalty to faith and its demands, to intensify their efforts to provoke what makes for the safety of religion of home, of country, to mass them in a solid phalanx against social, industrial and political aggressors."

"Here in Newton we are disunited and inert. The five parishes are prosperous and prospering but that is not enough. The problems of the day and its dangers demand of us wider outlook and more virile effort."

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

A committee composed of representatives of many of the churches of Newton met at the Boston City Club to make plans for the Smith meetings to be held May 7th and 8th at Elliot church. As far as possible Sunday, May 8th will be made young men's Sunday throughout the Newtons.The building committee appointed last December has been holding meetings regularly each week and plans for the new building are very nearly perfected. At a recent meeting it was decided to locate the building well back on the lot fronting Church St., thus making a spacious lawn in front of the building, and placing it on a higher level than the rest of the grounds, affording a fine view from the rooms. On Saturday the buildings will be sold at auction, and work on the grounds and building will be begun as soon as possible. It has been conceived by all who have seen the preliminary plans that the Newton Association will be finely equipped for both its indoor and outdoor work.
On Saturday at 2 o'clock a record meet for the Juniors and Intermediate of the Association will be held in the gymnasium. Much interest is being taken in this last indoor event of the season.

BOYS DEPARTMENT.

The Boys' Department believes in outdoor work. From now on trips will be planned for holidays and Saturdays of interest to every boy. Last week the Camera Club of the Boys' Department took a two days trip to Lexington and Concord, where points of historical interest were photographed. This trip was taken on wheels, and in all the fellows covered at least 100 miles. There are twelve or thirteen members, but only six were able to take the trip, these being William Cady, President; Samuel Gardner, Vice President; George Morrill, Treasurer; Channing Harwood, Russell Viles and the Boys' Work Director.On Friday the Stamp Club of the Association took a trip to the Quality Chocolate Factory where they were shown how chocolates are made.
The trip was purely educational, and the boys are deeply grateful to Mr.
Foss and Mr. Rice, the owner of the works for their courtesy. From this place the Club went to the Navy Yard where an unprecedented thing happened. After some efforts the Club was admitted to a submarine boat, and here the boys were allowed to examine and handle the batteries, wheels and machinery.Saturday of this week the Boys' Department will have its first game of base ball when the gymnasium boys will play the game room boys.
This game promises to be exciting as well as interesting.The Y. M. C. A. Seniors baseball team will open its season April 19 at 3:30 P. M. with the Boston Y.
M. C. A. team as its opponent.

MRS. BARTHOLOMEW DEAD.

Mrs. Emma V. Bartholomew, widow of the late Charles W. Bartholomew omew of West Newton, passed away Sunday evening last after a brief illness.Mrs. Bartholomew has been a resident of West Newton for about two years, coming from Hyde Park where she had resided for the preceding twelve years. She had been a regular attendant at the First Congregational church up to the time of her recent illness.Funeral services were held at her late residence 245 Highland avenue, Tuesday afternoon. Rev. Guy C. Lam-son of the First Baptist church of Hyde Park, and Rev. J. Edgar Clark of the First Congregational Church of West Newton officiating. The interment followed immediately after the service at the Newton cemetery.

Women's Clubs

Edited by Miss Grace M. Burt.

There is a pertinent article in the Federation Bulletin for this month on "The Movement for a Safe Fourth of July." Investigations along this line have been going on for the past seven years and it has been discovered that many deaths from the effect of noise alone have resulted, among the very young, the very old,
and these very ill, but it has been demonstrated that it is the well-strong, active children who are the chief victims of our passion for explosives. The article goes on to say:
"Thirty-four thousand killed and wounded is the record for the last seven years—more than were killed and injured during the War for Independence which we are supposed to celebrate with this slaughter." Surely such an astounding statement should open the eyes and minds of American men and women and bring them to a realizing sense of the incongruity. Several cities have already awakened to the situation and have adopted restrictive or prohibitive ordinances. The writer suggests that restrictive laws are not of much avail. "So long as dangerous appliances are on sale, legally or illegally, so long they will be bought and used by children of thoughtless and overindulgent parents."Springfield has in a measure solved the problem by introducing a really patriotic celebration with historic pageants, bands, and fire-works. The school-children take part in the various floats and spend some time in studying up in preparation and incidentally learning much local history.
Is there any reason why Newton might not do the same? There surely is plenty of opportunity for such a celebration.The annual meeting of the Newton Federation will be held at the Central Congregational church, Newtonville, on Tuesday, May 3, at 10:15 A. M.
Reports and the election of officers will occupy the morning. Luncheon will be served at one o'clock after which the program will be furnished by the Auburndale Review and Pleasant Clubs. Tickets for the luncheon at sixty cents each must be secured by April 30 from the presidents of the clubs.The Newtonville Woman's Guild would ordinarily hold its annual meeting on Tuesday of next week, but owing to its being the holiday the meeting will be adjourned one week.On Wednesday, April 20 Mr. Francis E. Stanley will address the Social Science Club upon "Navigating the Air; Aeroplanes, Airships, and Dirigible Balloons." Guests may be invited.The Ladies' Home Circle will meet in G. A. R. hall, Newtonville, on Thursday, April 21, at 2:30 P. M.The West Newton Women's Educational Club will hold its annual meeting on Friday, April 22 at 10:30 at the Brae Burn Country Club to be followed by luncheon at one o'clock.On April 11 the Newton Highlands Monday Club had a paper on "Thackeray: His Art and Satire" and a review of "Henry Esmond." At the next meeting the study of the club year will be completed. It will be held with Mrs. C. G. Wetherbee of 47 Terrace avenue.At the annual meeting of the Ladies' Home Circle the following list of officers was elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. H. B. Glazier; first vice-president, Mrs. Arthur S.
Kimball; second vice-president, Mrs.
Jacob Childs; recording secretary, Mrs. Willis F. Hadlock; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Bertram D. Childs; treasurer, Mrs. George F. Keyes.The Review Club of Auburndale held its annual meeting at the Brae Burn Country Club on Tuesday, April 12. The business meeting was called to order in the billiard room at eleven o'clock. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Edward F.
Miller; vice-president, Mrs. William A. Knowlton; secretary, Miss Louise Peloubet; treasurer, Mrs. William Fuller.The retiring president, Mrs. Henry G. Hildreth, made a farewell address and presented flowers to the president-elect, who replied in a few words; after which the club presented Mrs. Hildreth with flowers in token of their warm appreciation of her efficient service.Luncheon was served at one o'clock in the glass dining room, many former club members being present. Miss Alice Ranlett, Miss Emma Porter,
Mrs. Joseph Cook, several ex-presidents of the club and the president of the Newton Federation were guests of honor. Miss Ella Smith acted as toastmistress and the following toasts were proposed: "The Beginnings of the Club," which was responded to by Mrs. Samuel Dike. "The Charter Members," responded to by Mrs. M.
E. Herron. "The Old to the Young,"
by Mrs. F. N. Peloubet; "The Ex-Presidents," by Mrs. Edward Almy;
"Our President," by Mrs. Amos H.
Wells; "The Club Chats," by Mrs.
F. F. Davidson; "Our Culture," by Mrs. Charles D. Pickard; "Modern Drama," by Mrs. Arthur Farley; "The Federation," by Mrs. Henry Turner;
"Our Club," by Mrs. William Fuller; after which Mrs. John H.
Pillsbury, president of the Newton Federation, gave a short address, followed by Miss Ranlett and Mrs. Cook.Dr. Deborah Fawcett, one of the club members, spoke before the Social Science Club on Wednesday morning upon "Practical Applications of the New Methods of Preventing Disease." Dr. Fawcett opened her paper by quoting an ancient Eastern proverb which says, "He alone is a true physician who can cure disease." She said that soon there will be an American version. "He alone is the true physician who can prevent as well as cure disease." She dwelt upon the necessity of an extension of general knowledge of the nature and causes of disease until we have an intelligent public. Already the educa-tion of the people has brought about a decrease in the death rate in tuberculosis, through the adoption of preventive measures.Typhoid fever is an entirely pre-ventible disease and yet in 1909 there were 400,000 cases in the United States. The dangers of house-flies as germ carriers and the necessity of careful house screening were pointed out.Dr. Fawcett explained the theory regarding the treatment of disease by means of the various serums and vaccines. Anti-toxin, she said, has become almost a specific for diphtheria and its use is being extended to many other diseases.She stated that there should be stricter laws for the examination of immigrants. Investigations have shown that one-third of the insane in the public institutions are foreign-born and that 60 percent are either foreign-born or of foreign-born parentage.She urged protective hygiene measures being adopted by cities and towns, as for example, the abolishment of the smoke nuisance, the attempt to secure clean streets and a pure milk supply. She pointed out the value of a national department of public health and of medical inspection in the public schools.In conclusion she enumerated the great preventive measures as being, plenty of fresh air, exercise, wholesome nourishing food, an abundance of sleep and a right mental attitude.
At the close of her paper Dr. Fawcett answered many practical questions which were asked by the members and guests.

ALCOHOL.

Mrs. Edith Smith Davis, national superintendent of hygienic instruction of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, gave a most instructive and inspiring address in the hall of the new High School, on Tuesday afternoon, April 12. Mrs. Davis is remarkably fitted for her work by many years of teaching in the public schools and her knowledge of the physical effects of alcohol and other narcotics obtained by wide travel in Europe and this country, among all classes of society. Her knowledge of the subject was enforced by convictions which made her address most impressive and convincing. She began with the teacher's problem in regard to the foreign children in our schools.
It was shown that both parents and children and even babies are subject to the beer habit to such an extent in their home lands, that they enter on citizenship in our country so handicapped, as to make the teachers success with them almost impossible.Mrs. Davis in visiting the public schools in our large cities found large numbers of children incapable of study, through physical weakness, brought on by being given beer instead of bread at home. While in a schoolroom in St. Louis, the teacher in giving a language lesson, asked, what does the baby drink? She received the answer, "baby drinks beer."After pointing out the extent of the evil of alcohol in the schools, among the foreign born, Mrs. Davis made clear, that though hygienic instruction is a legal obligation, it is largely ignored in the schools. One superintendent told her he did not want prohibition. Thirty years ago science had not spoken as to the injurious effects of narcotics, and teachers did not know that now they do or can, and the hygienic instruction may be made so clear and simplified that the youngest child can understand it. Its importance is shown, in its solution of the great problem, how to live.This scientific instruction is put in such general propositions as the child's proper use of the natural organs, and the moral duty to have a healthy body, by the use of fresh air and wholesome food. These general statements are illustrated and enforced by exhibiting the specific effects of alcohol and tobacco on the physical system. Dr. Hodge, an eminent specialist has demonstrated the need of moderate drinking, on the nervous system, by experimenting with living animals. These results showed a greater susceptibility to germ diseases and specially tuberculosis, and an overworked system, that would not promptly respond to industrial incentives. This has a direct bearing on business life and should be clearly taught in the schools.This teaching need not be put as preaching or moralizing, but woven into the general work of instruction.
For instance in literature, the quotations from great authors might be selected with more or less bearing on this subject. Shakespeare has plenty of reference to it and even as far back as Xenophon; also from living men, up to President Taft himself.Mrs. Davis, in this connection showed the usefulness of charts, that speak to the eye, in strong language; showing for instance that a barrel of beer, called the poor man's food, contains two per cent food value and ninety eight per cent poisoned water, while a barrel of pure food, called milk, contains 2 per cent food value.
Race degeneracy was also pointed out. Experiments with dogs showed that eighty two per cent were born dead where the parents had been under the influence of alcohol.Mrs. Davis visited a school room in St. Louis and listened to a row of children who did not answer the simplest questions. The teacher told her they were almost idiots, and from rich families addicted to alcohol. It was shown that tobacco poison goes straight to the lungs and induces disease. The real peril is not cigarettes but tobacco.The importance of this address to the Newton teachers seemed to be overestimated and Superintendent Spaulding expressed his own and the teachers hearty appreciation of it. If now this appreciation can be put into actual execution it will mark an era in the usefulness of our schools in teaching the coming generation how to live. The credit of bringing about this result is due to Mrs. W. H. Rand.

NEWTON SAVINGS BANK.

The quarterly meeting of this corporation was held Tuesday, April 12th, President Charles T. Pulsifer presiding. The Treasurer's statement showed an increase in deposits of $33,000since April 1909. The total of deposits due April 1909 is $5,550,887. The guaranty fund is $247,000 and the undivided earnings are $107,183, the total of same being invested in mortgages, call and time loans mostly with collateral, public funds, railroad and other bonds, real estate, etc. The cash on hand and in banks is $142-297. The public has noted that the four largest banks in Boston are now on a 3-1-2 per cent dividend basis which would seem to be a conservative course with the limitations in investments which the state places upon savings banks.So much is being said about professional auditing of savings bank work that it seems in order to state how that this bank did not wait for a requiring law to be passed but began in 1904 by contracting with a firm of high repute as professional auditors to audit the bank's accounts quarterly, two of such audits to be made just before declaration of semi-annual dividends. The bank has for years taken off twice each year absolutely correct trial balances of its depositors' ledgers. This requires skill and care for errors creep in the task is indefinite. By an ingenious block system adopted by the late Mr. Alden A. Howe an error can be located so that only a section of the work has to be searched, instead of reviewing the entire list. The present method of card work is a daily trial balance, practically preventing any error from going into the depositors' accounts.Savings bank work is such a specialty in itself and requires so much of close application and patience it would seem that advocates of the Postal Savings Bank bill, or of including industrial insurance business in savings bank quarters can know but little of the subjects of which they talk so glibly. It is rather an interesting and practical commentary that of 189 savings banks in this State but two have as yet availed themselves of the option of opening an industrial insurance department.Savings banks are all under control of the State and all their movements are regulated by State law, from the manner of accepting deposits and making payments to the making of loans and investing in securities. The deposits in a savings bank being strictly trust funds the greatest care is exercised in taking mortgages suitable for such funds. The State law is properly very strict and the savings bank trustee realizes his responsibility.The State law requires all savings banks to call in their pass books every third year for official verification. It is a pity that the indifference or confidence of the depositors permits this wise law from doing its full work. Three years ago less than forty per cent of our books were presented during the term set for verification. This year the entire month of May is set for books to be presented to be verified and any errors discovered by a special official will be reported to the State. We shall advertise with the Boston Banks in the Boston daily papers as well as in Newton and we hope to have presented a large percentage of our books.In this report we have included subjects about which the public take most interest and make most inquiry.
A. J. Blanchard, Treasurer.

The Bank for Suburbanites

Suburban people have to hurry to business in the morning, and they leave before local banks are open. For that reason they frequently find it more convenient to do their banking in Boston.

Located near South Station, our banking rooms are especially accessible for suburban people desiring to do their banking with a good city institution.

Independent as to control, strong in resources and efficient in service, this bank seeks new business and promises personal interest and attention to each account.

Small accounts are cordially invited and interest is paid on balances of $300 or over. Come in and talk banking relations with us.

That for communications from one telephone to another, within such districts, there shall be no toll charge to flat rate subscribers and no initial charge of more than five cents per call from any measured service or pay station telephone;

That all exchanges within a 7.12 mile radius shall be included in the five-cent toll rate between the Metropolitan and suburban exchanges, the same rate to apply to toll calls from any suburban exchange outside its district.

trict. An additional toll of five cents to be charged for each additional 7.12 miles or fraction thereof, measurements being on an air line basis. Under this arrangement the Newton North District would have free service with Newton West, Newton South, Waltham, Belmont, Cambridge and Brighton, with toll charges for calls outside of those exchanges. Newton South District includes Newton West, Newton North, Wellesley, Needham, Jamaica Plain, Brookline and possibly Brighton. Newton West District includes Newton South, Newton North, Waltham and Wellesley.

That the service be improved by limiting the number of subscribers on any party line, excepting a prepayment line, to two, and by installing divided ringing.

That there be a reduction from $18 to $12 per year on extension sets for unlimited Metropolitan service and from $15 (business) and $12 (residence) to $9 on extension sets for all classes of unlimited suburban service; measured service extension set rates of $6 and $5 per year to remain unchanged.

That in the coin box service an excess of calls above the guaranty in one month shall apply against a deficiency another month within the year so that the subscriber would only have to pay for calls actually made, provided the money collected is sufficient to equal the yearly guaranty which includes Boston and suburban tolls.

E districts having less than 2500 subscribers, F districts having 2500 to 5000 subscribers, G districts having 5000 to 10,000 subscribers and H districts having 10,000 to 25,000 subscribers.

RESIDENCE RATES.

Special line, unlimited, reduced from $54 to $39. Two party line, unlimited, reduced from $42 to $30. Two party line, measured service reduced from 600 calls, $36, to 480 calls for $24. Additional calls 3 cents each.

NEW LODGE.

The Sumner P. Lawrence Rebekah Lodge, No. 177, was instituted Thursday at 4 p. m. before about 200 by the board of grand officers of the Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F., of Massachusetts—Charles B. Perry of Worcester, grand master; Horace M. Sargent of Haverhill, D. G. M.; George W. Marshall of Somerville, G. W.; George H. Fuller of Allston, G. S.; Grand Instructor William Webber, acting as grand marshal; J. Lawrence Martin of East Boston, grand treasurer. The charter list represented Ella E. Dow, P. N. G., and 30 others.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies the officers of the lodge were installed by the officers of the Rebekah Assembly—Grace Mitchell, president; Annie L. Stanley, Sarah A. Barry, Francis Kaulback, Bessie K. Hunt, May H. Gaynor, Grand Master Perry announced the appointment of Rosamond Dukeshire of Allston as D. D. G. M. The officers installed: N. G. Theresa K. Fawkes; V. G. Helen M. Merriam; recording secretary, Charles P. Dow; F. S. Minnie L. Plaisted; treasurer, Belle Speare; chaplain, Ida F. Peterson; warden, Angie A. Weeks; cond., Francis Wilson; I. G., Ella E. Dow; O. G., Hiram W. Forgie; R. S. N. G., George A. Fawkes; L. S. N. G., Fannie Cunningham; R. S. V. G., Miriam Kilbin; L. S. V. G., Catherine Vinny. After the installation the session adjourned until 7:30 p. m. The invited guests led by Grand Master Perry and Grace M. Mitchell marched to the banquet hall, where most bountiful tables were spread for the 200 guests.

Upon the assembling at 7:30 about 500 were present. The grand officers, Rebekah Assembly officers and the D. D. G. M. and suite were received. Grand Master Perry in the most laudatory terms presented P. G. Charles F. Dow with an elaborate gold watch chain charm for the labor performed in securing the charter. All the grand officers commended P. G. Dow for his increasing efforts in securing all but six of the 104 who became members.

Brighton Lodge, through Sister P. N. G. Sadie Danell, presented the lodge with four beautiful hand-painted banners. The Brighton Lodge degree staff, through Sister Brown, presented two very fine batons. D. D. G. M. Rosamond Dukeshire for herself and D. D. G. Marshall, D. N. G. Sister Alice Rand presented another elegant baton. The D. D. G. M. also presented Star P. N. G. Ella E. Dow with a large beautiful bouquet. Past G. D. Charles F. Dow presented the lodge with a very large beautiful Bible from Laura H. A. Jordan.

The degree was then placed upon the floor and 72 candidates were the recipients. The lodge starts out with over $200 in its treasury above all expenses. The meetings will be held on the second and fourth Thursdays in Odd Fellows' Hall, Newtonville.

few others would be sold

In the saving of time, trouble and labor and in superior cooking ability, no other range can compare with them.

The Single Damper (patented) is the only perfect fire and oven control; one motion—slide the knob to "kindle," "bake" or "check," and the range does the rest.

The Two Hods in the base (patented) is a wonderful trouble-saving feature. One Hod for ashes, instead of the old, clumsy ash pan; the other Hod for coal.

The Oven with its cup-joint flues is heated all over alike; no "cold corners," no "scorching spots."

The Patented Grates save trouble and money.

THEATRES

Boston Theatre—With the biggest cast of stars that has ever been seen in one production, the latest Ziegfeld Revue, "Polka of 1908," will play an engagement here for one week only beginning Monday night, April 18. Miss Eva Tanguay, the highest salaried comedienne in this country, heads the list. Other prominent artists are Bessie Clayton, who is one of America's best dancers; Arthur Hadden, the robust singing comedian; Billie Reeves, the original fevered all whose specialty this year is said to be even funnier than the famous prize fight of last year's revue; Josephine Whittelee, who has another new creation; Rosie Green, another dancer of exceptional ability; William Schrodde and Evelyn Carleton; Maxwell, Gertrude Moyer and Will Philbrick, whose "The Island of Roosevelt" hunting expedition in the African Jungles is said to be one of the funniest skits in the show.

American Music Hall—Theatre patrons who have laughed themselves tired at the extremely funny monologue of the famous Hebrew character artist, Joe Welch, will undoubtedly welcome the announcement that he is to be at the American Music Hall this coming week in a mammoth production called "The Island of Roosevelt." Reine Davies will be another pleasing number on the big bill. She is a beautiful woman and wears gowns that are the envy of other women and the admiration of men. Eddie Girard and Jessie Gardner are too well known as vaudeville fun-makers to require any comment. Clarke and Hamilton are new importations from Europe. Cocon, the robust mystery attaches to the Moto Girl, who has been a big feature in several of the largest cities in the country. Shaped like a doll, looking like a doll and acting like a doll, this person, if she be a person, does such wonderful things that it is hard to associate them with a mere mechanical thing. The audience will certainly be kept guessing as to whether it is alive or not. The balance of the bill will include Billy Imman in a new sketch; Besnah and Miller, song and dance artists, who always score heavily; the Orpheus Comedy Four, a quartet of clever singers and comedians, and others.

Keith's Theatre—Of all the sensational features which have been presented at Keith's during this season, probably there has been not one that will create more talk than Le Compto, who comes next week. He seems to be, and is, impervious to fire and heat. Le Compto takes two carbons at a white heat and bites off the ends of them with his teeth. He explodes gunpowder with his bare hands and chews heated sealing wax and drinks molten metal, lead and solder like water. He does all these things in full view of the audience. He will be a feature of an exceptionally strong bill, which will include "The Vital Question," a sketch that has an important bearing on the trust question and politics; Countess Rossi and Monsieur Paulo, in their singing sketch entitled "During the Performance," Cunningham and Marion, in an acrobatic comedy; the Three Lightnings, in a sketch called "A One Night Stand in Minstrelsy"; Charles Lovenberg's "Petite Revue," one of the most ambitious singing productions ever staged, employing a dozen people, and other big features yet to be announced.

Boston Opera House—The opening week of the Aborn English Grand Opera Company at the Boston Opera House has proved successful to the fullest expectations, and the enthusiasm shown by music lovers who are attracted by popular prices has confirmed the wisdom of this marked innovation—for the scale of prices is such as has never been tried, even as an experiment, in an opera house of this class.

The second week of the Aborn series, starting next Monday night, April 18, will be devoted to Verdi's
"Il Trovatore." It was announced before the opening of the Aborn engagement that they would confine their series to the popular classics, and the selection of "Il Trovatore" for the second week is entirely in keeping with this declared intention, for it is not only one of the most familiar works of the great Italian master, but is a favorite the world over. This opera will be presented with the usual double cast, the eight performances being divided between Lois Ewell and Estelle Wentworth, soprano; Louise Le Baron and Vera Roberts, contraltos; Joseph Sheehan and Alfred Shaw, tenors; Otley (Sheehan), baritone, and H. L. Waterous, basso.

Castle Square Theatre—A week of romantic drama begins at the Castle Square on Monday. "The Prisoner of Zenda," famous both as a play and as a novel, will be produced by the John Craig Stock Company. It is now some years since "The Prisoner of Zenda" has been seen in Boston and Mr. Craig's production will be in every way one of the best ever offered to our public. The stage settings will be both beautiful and picturesque, and as the marvellous adventures of Rudolf Rassendyll and his resemblance to the heir to the throne of the principality of Zenda are unfolded, the audience will listen to and watch one of the most entertaining and exciting plays ever written. Mr. Craig will of course act the dual roles of Rudolf the Fifth and Rudolf Rassendyll and the Castle Square theatregoers will never have a better opportunity to see what a versatile actor he is. Mary Young will appear as the Princess Flavia, and the long cast will include the entire membership of the John Craig Stock Company.

Fifty per cent interest is forty-four per cent higher than the legal rate, but you can make it by installing a
"WINCHESTER" steam or hot water heater in your house. Make your own comparisons with your old apparatus. It is modern and scientific.
Smith & Thayer Company, 236 Congress street, Boston, Mass.

TECHNICAL HIGH SCHOOL DEDICATED

THE NEWTON TECHNICAL HIGH SCHOOL.

The new Technical High School at Newtonville was dedicated on Wednesday evening, although the building has been in use since the opening of the school term last September. Owing to delays with the contractor the building was not formally accepted until a few weeks ago.

The exercises on Wednesday evening were largely attended, nearly one thousand persons crowding the assembly hall and overflowing into the various school rooms, where pupils were at work in the different branches of study which are taught in the building.

Hon. Henry E. Bothfeld, chairman of the school committee, presided at the formal exercises and the speakers were Mayor Charles E. Hatfield, Mr. Charles L. Kirschner, master of the school; Hon. Charles A. Prosser, deputy commissioner of education for the state, and Miss Sarah L. Arnold, dean of Simmons College.

Hon. H. E. Bothfeld.

Mr. Bothfeld said:
It is with great pleasure that I welcome you to this dedication of the Newton Technical High School this evening and regret that through a mistake of scheduling the time for these exercises on Good Friday evening and then the postponement until tonight, we have missed some of the speakers. But I assure you that we have with us tonight those whom you will all enjoy.

For a long time it has been a question to us how we could cope with the ever growing necessity of the practical training of our school children, and it was finally determined that the wise thing to do was to erect a new structure especially fitted to technical training and you have the result before you tonight.

At the close of the brief remarks that will be made by our invited guests, you will find all the rooms opened for your inspection under their several lines of work.

I suppose that it will be generally agreed upon that the end of education is to fit men and women to the work of life in a thorough and efficient way. I claim that if there can be coupled with education, a more technical training which can be supplied in schools of this sort, that the result must necessarily be that the boys and girls who here get an intimation of that result will be fired with a new and awakened interest.

Hon. Charles E. Hatfield.

Mayor Hatfield said:

The dedication of this magnificent building, the Newton Technical High School, marks a new era in the educational work of the city of Newton. When this building is completely finished it will be undoubtedly one of the finest, if not the finest, in the state of Massachusetts.

I have been surprised in looking around to see how far ahead we are of other states in this work. There is only one other such institution, I believe, in the state that in any way compares with it and that is the Technical High School in Springfield, and it is with great pride that I congratulate ourselves on this building.

Let us not forget the public-spirited and generous man who made it possible. (Continued on Page 3.)

REV. HARRY LUTZ,
Minister of Channing Church.

A representative audience filled the main auditorium of Channing Church Sunday evening when the recently chosen minister, Rev. Harry Lutz, was installed. The platform was decorated with flowering plants and tall palms for the occasion and on it were seated the various ministers who were to participate in the exercises. After the organ prelude by Mr. Henry T. Wade, the organist, with violin obligato by Miss Florence I. Jones, the invocation was given

of the program were a soprano solo; prayer of installation by Rev. Dr. Charles William Wendt of Newton; soprano solo with violin obligato; charge to the minister by Rev. Edward Cummings of Boston; right hand of fellowship by Rev. Dr. Samuel McChord Crothers of Cambridge; hymn by the congregation; address of welcome by Rev. Dr. George S. Butters of the Newton Methodist Church; the singing of the doxology, and the benediction by Rev. Harry Lutz.

Rev. Harry Lutz is a native of Ohio. His early life was spent on a farm at Whislerville, O., his birthplace. Sept. 9, 1870. In 1889, he graduated from the Kingston High School. The two following years he taught school and studied law. He then entered Wampanoag College, Weymouth, Pa., from which he was graduated in 1894, with the degree of bachelor of arts. He returned to Ohio and resumed the study of law. He was admitted to the bar and opened an office in Cleveland, O. After three years of law practice he gave up a promising career to follow his interest in the liberal ministry. He studied at the Meadville Theological School and Harvard Divinity School. June 21, 1900, he was ordained to the ministry at King's Chapel of Boston, prior to which he had accepted a call to the Unitarian Church at Rockland, Mass., where he was soon afterward installed. Jan. 1, 1902, he became pastor of the Unitarian Church of Belfast, Me., where he served five years. For nearly four years past he was pastor of the Unitarian Church of Billerica, Mass., from which he has recently resigned to accept a call from Channing Church of Newton, Mass.

Newton Centre.

—The annual meeting of the Newton Centre Improvement Association will be held Tuesday evening in the Mason School house.

—On Wednesday evening the last supper of the year was held by the ladies of the Methodist Church. After a bountiful spread had been served under the direction of Mrs. Arthur Brayton, a delightful entertainment was given in which Miss Alice Hopkins rendered several vocal solos, Miss Margaret Melden gave several readings in a truly professional style, and Mr. Bertrand Degen ended the performance with an essay entitled "Economy in the Kitchen." About a hundred were present.

—At the entertainment given under the auspices of the Epworth League last Wednesday evening in the Methodist church about fifty dollars was raised. The following members of the league took the prominent parts. Two shows were given, the first being a baby show in which the following young ladies attempted to recall their childhood days: the Misses Vivian Morris, Genevieve Huntington, Margaret Melcher, Mamie Gould, Bernice Marriner, Alice West, Gladys Flanders Anita Morris, Flora Boyd, Margaret Ferguson, Margaret Merrill and Grace Raymond. After a few selections by the High School Orchestra, a second show was given entitled "Aunt Sarah's Album" in which Miss Margaret Melcher acted as Aunt Sarah and recalled several reminiscences as the album opened and revealed the features of well known faces. The following who appeared dressed up in the styles of ancient years showed excellent histrionic ability: Mother Miss Della Boyd; Father, Whitman Armstrong; "Mrs. Little Girl", Grace Raymond; Eben, her husband, Mr. Bertrand Groth; The Twins, Louise Hopkins and Miriam Huntington; The Parson, Mr. Paul V. Barker; Sister Jane, Miss Kathryn M. Murray; The Deacon, Mr. Gordon Lyford; Sophia, Miss Vivian Morris; Avaleza, Miss Dorothy M. Melden; The Village Beauty, Miss Sybil Manning; while the album closed on the familiar face of Mr. Wendell H. Brayton in the impersonation of Grandpa. About two hundred were present.

West Newton.

—Mr. and Mrs. Caleb Francis Eddy of Cherry street announce the engagement of their daughter, Katherine Cleveland, to Dr. Thomas Almy of Fall River.

—Rev. Julian C. Jaynes of the Unitarian Church and Rev. Robert Van Kirk of the Lincoln Park Baptist Church will exchange pulpits next Sunday morning.

—A Sunday school social will be held at the Unitarian Church this evening. The stage performance will be the presentation of the one-act play, "A Love of a Bonnet," under the direction of Miss Ethel Jaynes.

—The many friends here of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll B. Nichols of Germantown, Pa., will congratulate them on the birth of a daughter. Previous to her marriage Mrs. Nichols was Miss Marjorie Bullivant of Mount Vernon street.

—Mr. Arthur P. Gay of Highland street will have the sympathy of his many friends in the death of his mother, Mrs. Beulah A. Gay, wife of Richard L. Gay, secretary of the State Board of Trade, which occurred Friday at her home in Brookline.

—A vesper service was held at the Unitarian Church Sunday afternoon under the direction of Mr. H. G. Tucker, the organist. Selections were rendered by Mr. Louis Schalk, baritone; Mr. William W. Hicks, tenor, and a choir of young ladies of the parish.

Funeral services for Mr. John W. Blanchard, who died Monday at the age of 79 years, were held Wednesday afternoon in the home of his daughter Mrs. C. R. Clapp on Temple street. Many friends attended. The services were simple and were conducted by Rev. Julian C. Jaynes pastor of the West Newton Unitarian Church. The burial which was private was in Forest Hills Cemetery.

COOLEY-REAT.

Dr. Arthur S. Cooley of Auburndale was married last Friday at Evanston, Ill., to Miss Elizabeth Leota Reat, the daughter of the late Robert Reat of Charleston, Ill. The ceremony took place at ten in the morning. Rev. William T. McElveen of the Congregational Church of that place officiating. A reception will be held on May 4 at the Cooley residence, Auburndale, where Dr. and Mrs. Cooley will be at home during May.

POLICE NOTES.

For the first time in many years it was not necessary to open the police court Wednesday morning, the docket being empty of offenders. This is unusual for a holiday when drunks usually predominate.

During the passing of the Marathon runners and previous to the time the first runner came in sight the local police had plenty of work to do at the junction of Washington street and Commonwealth avenue, where the contestants made the turn into the boulevard. Thousands of people were massed at this point while the constant passing of automobiles, carriages, cars and motor cycles on the cross roads completed the confusion. It was finally necessary to bar all vehicles off Washington street between the boulevard and Woodland road until the race was over. The excellent work of the police was evinced by the fact that not a single accident was reported at this point although there were several narrow escapes. Chief Mitchell, in the police automobile, drove over the course and superintended the work of his men.

BOY HURT.

Dennis Dulea, 15 years old, of 1328 Washington street, Boston, was run down by an automobile on Commonwealth avenue, West Newton, while watching the Marathon race Tuesday. He was not badly injured. The machine was driven by Albert Hart and was owned by George P. Brophy of 53 L. street, South Boston.

THE HIGHLAND GLEE CLUB.

The sixth concert of this organization is announced for Wednesday evening, May 18, 1910, in Bray Hall, Newton Centre.

The fifth concert was given Thursday, April 14, 1910, in the new Technical High School building, at which time the program of the January concert was repeated with some slight changes.

Since giving the January concert the club membership has been increased from 43 to 47.

The object of this club is "to promote the musical interests of this community" and its efforts have met with hearty support; the attendance at the January concert being approximately 750.

Announcement of soloists and program will be made later on.

able for this building to stand here;
the public-spirited citizens who did so much for the good of the city, and through whose efforts most undoubtedly we have this building so many years in advance of others.

I think that the time has come when we should educate not only mind, but also train the eye and hand, and that is what the Technical School stands for, that the children may go forth from school equipped and well fitted to cope with the world.

Undoubtedly large numbers of young men and young women will come from the grammar schools and take a course at the Technical School.
So let us all do what we can for this building to tend toward the common good of the people and to the good of the city of Newton.

The remarks of Dr. Prosser, Miss Arnold and Mr. Kirschner will be printed next week.

NEWTON AUTHOR

Miss Margaret Williamson of West Newton has written a book entitled "John and Betty's History Visit," which has just been published by Lothrop, Lee & Shepard of Boston. The title is an epitome of the book, to which might be added the statement that John and Betty are young Americans who visit an English boy and girl and are shown the historical places of England under circumstances which cannot fail to interest young and old alike. Miss Williamson is a splendid artist in word painting and the reader appreciates, indeed, almost experiences Betty's impressions of awe when visiting Westminster Abbey, her delight with the quaint little village of Clovelly, and her pleasure in resurrecting Robin Hood and his "Merrie men" in the beautiful forest of Sherwood. While the book is intended for juveniles and as such makes history read almost like a romance, it is also fascinating for older persons, who will brush up their knowledge of England with a keen relish while reading its pages. Incidentally it might be said that the cover is most appropriate with the English and American flags in colors, and the illustrations, of which there are 24, are beautifully executed and bear unhackneyed titles. Miss Williamson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Williamson and her future literary work will be watched with great interest by her friends in this city.

The publishers' statement is as follows:
 Not every American boy and girl can learn the past and present of "old old home" in England in so delightful a way as do this brother and sister who are sent to England to be shown the leading places of historic interest in company with an English brother and sister of their own ages, and under the wise and sensible direction of the mother of the latter. But every one can enjoy reading of the jolly trips taken by the four children and Mrs. Pitt, the mother of English Philip and Barbara, who proves to be the best of entertainers and travelling companions, and the whole happy idea of the "history visit" is so well worked out that it is almost like travelling one's self; and a great deal of useful knowledge is gained in so pleasant a way that no one thinks he has been doing more than getting acquainted with some very nice young friends. The photographic illustrations are well chosen and excellent. Large 12mo. Cloth, $1.25.

ACCIDENT.

A man and a boy had narrow escapes from serious injury Monday afternoon when the automobile in which they were riding struck a tree, turned completely over and balanced itself on the edge of a 10-foot embankment. The machine was badly damaged in its encounter with the tree. The accident happened at the junction of Watertown street and Wildwood avenue and was caused by a brace that supported the steering gear dropping from its place. When the man was questioned by the police he gave the name of Jasper H. Yetton of Lexington street, Waltham. Mr. Yetton is the manager for the Gibbs Express Company of Waltham and the broken machine is the property of that concern, but when questioned he declared he had not been in an accident and that the machine was supposed to have been in the repair shop at the time. Further inquiry brought out the fact that the chauffeur was W. H. Manzer, who runs a repair station on Robinson street, Waltham. He had said that his companion in the accident was Mr. Yetton's son, but this was also denied.

MINSTREL SHOW

Members of Dalhousie Lodge, A. F. and A. M., last Friday and Saturday nights entertained large audiences of society people of the Newtons, Brookline and Boston in Play-ers' Hall, West Newton, with an amateur minstrel show which was the equal of most professional entertainments.

So many societies, lodges and organizations adopt minstrelsy for their annual form of entertainment that it would seem almost impossible to think up a single original idea along such lines and such a thing as a brand new stage setting is almost a novelty, but the Dalhousie minstrels found something that was unique and they offered it to the public in a finished manner that reflected the utmost credit on those who drilled the performers.

Local "grinds" filled the entire program. No one escaped, from Mayor Charles E. Hatfield, who is also worshipful master of the lodge, down through the list of city officials to the most commonplace member of the fraternity. Bright songs, witty parodies and tuneful ballads filled out the program.

When the curtain rolled up the stage was revealed, set as a banquet hall in the far-off island of Komoko, in the Indian Island ocean, which had but recently been discovered and had succeeded in setting up an independent government. Mayor Hatfield was one of the first chief executives to recognize this independence by sending an ambassador to the island.

Ride Sanely and You'll Ride Always

Avoid the absurd mannerisms that once discredited cycling as a recreation. Sit up. Hold your head out of the dust. Grip the handles, keeping your arms apart and your lungs open. Throw shoulders back with back bone straight, thus giving heart and stomach plenty of room. Ride at a reasonable speed and for a reasonable distance. The IVER JOHNSON in our opinion is mechanically perfect. Its truss frame means easy riding, safety and long life. Come in and try it.

Women's Clubs

Edited by Miss Grace M. Burt.

Annual meetings are the order of the day during the month of April and early May. Already several of the clubs of the city have held theirs and the next two weeks will see practically the end of the club season. The annual reports bring into review the whole year's work and give so good an opportunity to judge whether or not the year has been worth while, that it is a matter of wonder to the Club Editor why so many organizations have found it necessary to resort to teas and luncheons in order to secure an adequate attendance at the annual meeting. Yet this was frankly admitted at the conference of presidents a few weeks ago. Some of the work of committees goes on so quietly that it is hardly realized how much was being done until all is brought together at this time. Then, too, there may have lurked some feeling of dissatisfaction, which is often dispelled when things are seen in their entirety. That we learn by our mistakes is without doubt true and commonplace, yet it is none the less a fact, and a fact that executive boards should bear well in mind. And the annual meeting presents the best opportunity for judging of many things. Let business be dispatched promptly and reports be brief and to the point. Then there should be no reason for complaint that the attendance is not what it ought to be.

On Monday afternoon, April 25, the Monday Club of Newton Highlands will hold its annual meetings with Mrs. Roy Guild of 84 Erie avenue.

At one o'clock on Tuesday the Newtonville Woman's Guild will meet for their annual luncheon. The business meeting will come at three, followed by a program of readings and music.

The annual meeting of the Social Science Club will be held at the Hummell Club on Wednesday morning at ten o'clock.

The members of the clubs belonging to the Newton Federation are reminded that luncheon tickets for the annual meeting, at sixty cents each, must be secured before April 30, and that they are in the hands of the club presidents. The morning session opening at 10:15 will be devoted to the usual business and in the afternoon members of the Abundant Review Club will present one of Moller's plays in English and Mrs. E. C. Cooper of the Pierian Club will sing a group of French songs. Those who saw the play when given at one of the meetings of the Review Club speak of it in highest terms.

At the meeting of the Newton Highlands Monday Club on April 18 a review was given of "Vanity Fair," followed by readings from the novel. A paper on "David Copperfield," prepared for an earlier meeting, was repeated owing to its not having been given before in entirety. This completes the work of the club for the present season.

The Pierian Club met with Mrs. E. C. Cooper of Boylston street, Newton Highlands, on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. C. F. Rogers, Jr., who was in charge of the program, read an entertaining paper on "Arts and Crafts." This was supplemented by an exhibition of skilful handicraft, which was examined with interest by the members. Mrs. Cooper's songs were a delightful addition to the program.

On Monday the Waban Woman's Club entertained guests with a musical program—"An Afternoon with Macdowell." Mrs. Helen S. Andrews gave an interesting sketch of this great composer's life and a number of his songs and selections for piano, violin and cello were ably rendered by outside talent. The playing of the Misses Natalie and Marjorie Patten upon the cello and violin was especially enjoyable, while Mr. Newton Swift's brilliant performance of several difficult sonatas brought the program to a close.

The hostess, Mrs. Archie C. Burnett served an attractive tea at which the pourers were Mrs. Scarborough and Mrs. Virtue.

On May 2 the club holds its last meeting for the year. After the election of officers a paper on "Browning" will be given by Mrs. Frederick H. Putnam.

decorated with jonquils and spirea. At 2.30 the business meeting was called to order by the president. The annual reports of the various officers, and reports of the chairmen of all committees of the club were read. The question of class-work for the coming year was discussed by the club at large. It was voted to continue the current events class and make it a third regular Thursday meeting, the remaining Thursday of each month to be filled or not, at the discretion of the board.

The following officers were elected to serve from 1910-1911: President, Mrs. H. J. Kendall; 1st vice-president, Mrs. N. A. Hallett, Jr.; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. M. B. Jones; Recording secretary, Mrs. A. M. Fowle; Corresponding secretary, Miss Helen F. Fells; Treasurer, Mrs. C. L. Smith; Auditor, Mrs. B. P. Gray.

An interesting account of the meeting of the Social Science Club is crowded out this week and will be printed next Friday.

The Pedlers' parade and dance held in Playboys' Hall, West Newton, last Monday evening for the benefit of the West Newton Women's Educational Club Building Fund was a most jolly affair. Sixteen pedlers sold tinware, fruit, candy, small wares, ice cream, horns, etc., and the parade was followed by dancing.

—A game on the 19th between the Waybuns and the Warbuns, two picked nines, resulted in an overwhelming victory, 18 to 4, for the former, due to the superior fielding of Rane and Marvin and the heavy hitting of Captain R. F. Williams, who got one home run.

—Mr. W. M. Thompson of Avalon road, one of the editors of the Globe and for many years one of Boston's best known journalists, spoke informally to the members of the Beacon Club on Wednesday on his profession and some of his intensely interesting and varied experiences when a reporter especially during the blizzard of 1898, the Spanish war and international yacht races. The club voted his talk one of the most interesting and delightful of the winter. Mr. T. H. Piser of Beacon street was host.

MR. MACOMBER DEAD.

Mr. Grenville B. Macomber, for many years a citizen of this city, died Wednesday after a long illness at his home, 61 Churchhill avenue, Newtonville. He was 66 years old. Mr. Macomber was born in Boston and spent many years in the wholesale boot and shoe business, being connected with the Boston firm of Johnson, Moody & Co. Several years ago he entered the insurance business in the office of his brother, Frank Gair Macomber, where he continued until a year ago when he retired.

Mr. Macomber was prominent in Masonry, having taken the 32d degree. He was a past master of Winslow Lodge, A. F. and A. M., of Boston, and was a life member of the Massachusetts consistory. ## CALEB STARK CHAPTER.

Caleb Stark Chapter, Junior Sons and Daughters, of Newton, met last Saturday morning at the home of the Misses Shumway, 29 Bowdoin street, Newton Highlands. The principal business transacted was the disposition of funds in the treasury, and the money is to be devoted to various patriotic causes, including the Sailors' Memorial at Annapolis, and the memorial which the Sarah Hull Chapter is to erect to the memory of the soldiers who went from Newton to defend the rights of the Colonies in Revolutionary times, also the Lincoln Memorial University and the tuberculosis work in Newton. At the last entertainment of this young chapter $50 was netted. Miss Eleanor Shumway was appointed to give the report, including the origin of the chapter's name at the state meeting on April 19. The chapter voted to have an outing in June.

BILL BOARDS.

The Newton Centre Improvement Association are agitating the subject of regulation of bill boards and have prepared a petition to be presented to the Board of Aldermen. The matter will be considered at the annual meeting of the association next Tuesday night.

SCHOOL GARDENS.

Through the generosity of one of our citizens the old Robinson lot on the corner of Centre and Pearl streets is being levelled and plowed and made ready for a garden on which the pupils of the Bigelow School may learn to appreciate their own home plots, how to beautify and enrich them, and thus indirectly learn a new respect for the property of others. Several smaller bits of land have been offered in Nonantum for the use of the pupils of the Stearns School.

The committee wish to hire a trained instructor for these gardens from the Amherst Agricultural College and it is hoped that there are enough public-spirited citizens in Wards 1 and 2 and 7 to raise the $250 necessary to defray expenses.

The money may be sent to Mrs. L. S. Drake, chairman, 24 Bennington street, Newton, or to any member of the committee which consists of Miss Fannie Adams, Mrs. George Angier, Mrs. J. F. Boitfield, Mrs. J. L. Colby, Mrs. F. A. Day, Mrs. H. O. Marcy, Jr., Mrs. G. W. Priest, Mrs. C. O. Tucker and Mrs. F. H. Tucker.

Through the editor of the Newton Graphic the following amounts are gratefully acknowledged by the committee:

Castle Square Theatre—Everybody who saw "The Prisoner of Zenda" at the Castle Square this week will surely want to see "Rupert of Hentzau" next week. It contains the characters that give diversity to "The Prisoner of Zenda" and its successive scenes continue its action with a variety of still more exciting and heart-appealing incidents. The events take place once more in the mythical European kingdom of Ruritania; Rudolf Passendyll is as astute and as daring as ever, Queen Flavia is beautiful, Count Rupert as villainous, and each and every one of the characters holds the attention of the audience continuously for four acts in one way or another. "Rupert of Hentzau" will be acted at the Castle Square by the John Craig Stock Company, and Mr. Craig will of course appear in the dual roles of Rudolf Passendyll and King Rudolf the Fifth, his success this week promising well for an equal triumph next. Mary Young will appear as Queen Flavia, giving distinction to that character by her personality.

The best way to carry Ashes is in a Hod!

Crawford Ranges

Have an Ash Hod in the base into which all the ashes fall far below the fire. They can't bank against the grates and warp them, and they can be emptied easily without spilling.

The Coal Hod is alongside the Ash Hod—out of the way. This feature is a wonderful labor and trouble saver and is patented.

Another trouble-saver of the Crawford is the patented Single Damper. One motion—slide the knob to "kindle," "bake" or "check"—the range does the rest. No damper mistakes.

The Oven has cup-joint heat flues that heat it alike in all parts.

Ask the Crawford agent to show you and write us for circular.

G. A. R. POST BANQUET

One year ago there was inaugurated a new project by the local G. A. R. Post and termed an annual dinner. It was then designed to depart from the usual so-called campfire features of old veterans, and to hold instead a meeting where the comrades and their families and friends could enjoy the sociability which such an assembly would bring. It was also deemed wise to have this new feature self-sustaining regarding expense, therefore 50 cents per plate was to be charged to participants. Tent 2 Daughters of Veterans, kindly proffered their services to provide and serve the dinner. The success attending the initial dinner prompted another trial, and it would appear, from the large number of comrades, their families and friends who assembled in Temple Hall, Newtonville, last Monday evening, that the experimental stage of the project had passed and that an annual dinner of Post 62 was an assured feature for the future. The Post realizes more and more the grand support accorded it by the Camp of the Sons and the Tent of the Daughters of Veterans, who vie with each other in their desires to be of assistance to the fathers, and such services are highly appreciated by the Post.

Following the dinner, Commander Kingsbury in his usual happy manner opened the after-dinner program with remarks of welcome and good cheer.

Mrs. Wilder, daughter of Comrade Sawyer, by request, sang "The Star Spangled Banner," the audience joining heartily in the chorus, and later on also sang "Marching Through Georgia." East Department Commander Wetherbee was introduced to "start the ball rolling" in the speaking line and was followed in turn by the Rev. F. B. White, pastor of St. Mary's Church, Newton Lower Falls; Mr. Samuel Ward of Newton Centre, who was introduced as Comrade Ward; Colonel E. H. Haskell and Comrade Sawyer. The remarks of these several speakers were of a very interesting character and highly instructive.

President Lincoln's proclamation and first call for troops in 1861 was read by Comrade Wetherbee, was listened to with marked attention by all, reviving the memories of the comrades to the stirring events and times of the long ago. Comrade Wetherbee counseled a continuance of this annual dinner feature and gave laudatory expressions of the great good already accomplished and continued in practice by the Grand Army of the Republic and also of the standing of its members as exemplar citizens. Mr. Ward spoke in a reminiscent vein, recalling the names of Kingsbury, Hyde, Cousens and others of the Thirty-second Regiment and others of the Forty-fourth Regiment and expressed his appreciation of the work carried on by the Post which bore his brother's name.

Comrade Sawyer gave a description of the St. Cloud colony in Florida as learned and observed by him during a recent visit to that locality. Comrades should be very cautious about investing money there for homesteads and farms. Matters there do not appear to be as rosy as the printed reports would lead one to believe. From the swamp farms of Florida we are taken by the remarks of Colonel Haskell to the fertile and beautiful country of California where one can see the great variety of fruit and vegetation in growth at one glance and the snow-capped mountains afar by another glance. The little G. A. R. button is much in evidence out there, the colonel reports and the organization of the G. A. R. appears to be in a flourishing condition. Some Posts having representatives from all of the northern states while he heard of one Post having a membership of about 400 and representing as many army organizations. Master White gave a fine vocal rendering in French of the Marseillaise. Adjutant Haynie read an original, appropriate poem and Comrade Reid gave a brief talk on a visit to R. E. Lee Camp of Confederate Veterans of Richmond, Va., after which the singing of America closed an enjoyable affair.

"Made as it should be" is the proud boast made of the "WINCHES-TER" heater. Results corroborate this statement. The expectation of the owner is never disappointed. Made for steam and hot water heating. Smith & Thayer Co., 236 Congress street, Boston, Mass.

POLICE NOTES.

For assault with a dangerous weapon, Charles Smith, 20 years old, a Poland, living on Concord street, Newton Lower Falls, was fined $10 by Judge Kennedy Monday morning. He pleaded guilty and paid the fine. Smith attacked Stanislaw Janickiewicz with a knife in Nonantum square early Sunday morning and stabbed him several times in the back, as the result of an argument. The victim lives in Stoughton.

The police are investigating a break that occurred recently in the home of Thomas Weston on Franklin street. The family is travelling in Europe and the thieves smashed an entire window in the rear of the house. With the exception of the furniture everything of value had been removed from the house and the intruders got nothing for their trouble.

MR. MEAD'S LECTURE

The lecture given at the Newton Club house last Sunday evening, under the auspices of the young men of St. John's Episcopal Church, was by Mr. Edwin D. Mead, of the United States as a world power, and was most interesting and instructive and much appreciated by those present.

Mr. Mead, in opening, declared that the references to the United States as a world power seems these days to be fashionable, the newspapers and magazines containing much upon that subject. If often seems as if the minds of many of the writers and speakers first turned toward this country as a world power when, a few years ago, it showed its power to sink a few Spanish gunboats in the Pacific Ocean and the Caribbean Sea.

"This is a very cheap view of world power," said Mr. Mead, "and it is a very cheap view of the United States. The United States began to be a world power as soon as it began to be at all, and from that time to this it has been the greatest power among the nations. On the whole, it has been a good power among the nations, and the only power that any of us should be proud of or care about is good power. The powers that make for peace and not for conflict, the power that makes for ideals and international morality—no other power is to be boasted of."

"Gladsone once pronounced the Constitution of the United States the most important document ever created at a single time by the hand of man. From the time that Constitution was established down to the present there has been no important Constitution from anywhere in the world which has not shown its influence and somehow bore its impress. All South America was almost immediately made over upon similar lines. England's own colonies follow essentially its plan; and all Europe has been affected by it. This is one exercise of world power, beside which the sinking of a few gunboats is cheap indeed."

Mr. Mead then referred to American influence in Bulgaria and Turkey. He said: "When self-government was established in Bulgaria 30 years ago, the leaders in the new movement were all young statesmen who had been educated at Robert College at Constantinople. Turkey is full of little American colleges, and the progressive statesmen of the Young Turk party who have now come into power there pay warm tribute to the persuasive influence of American education and political ideas throughout the empire. The strong and beneficent influence of America in Japan and China was then noticed. It was the United States that opened Japan to the world; and the president of the University at Kyoto has just been bearing witness in speeches in Boston and elsewhere to the immense power of America in shaping Japanese education. The leading representatives of Japan at Portsmouth, where five years ago the treaty with Russia was concluded, were men who had been educated at Harvard University."

"America is playing a leading part in the awakening of China. China has a quarter of the population of the world. She will advance as rapidly in the next 50 years as Japan has advanced in the last 50 years. It is fundamental that the kind of power we exercise there should be the right kind. As a result of the return by us of the surplus indemnity money to China hundreds of picked Chinese students are to be sent regularly to study in our American colleges; and they will return to help weave the web of good understanding and fraternity between America and the Orient, which is so imperative."

As illustrations of contrasting kinds of world power, Mr. Mead referred to the opium war, in which England forced opium upon China at the point of the bayonet, and the work of the splendid group of English scholars at Shanghai who had already translated more than 200 English books of travel, science, history and biography into Chinese, and circulated them widely throughout the empire, to acquaint those people with the best western thought. This is the exercise of a true kind of world power.

The speaker described with warm enthusiasm the new Cosmopolitan club movement among our American university students. In the last half dozen years Cosmopolitan clubs have been formed among the students of 30 American colleges and universities. The Harvard Cosmopolitan club has 200 members, only one-third of them native Americans. It is a condition of these clubs that two-thirds of them shall be foreigners. President Eliot recently called the Harvard Cosmopolitan club the most interesting club in the university. There are now 2000 students enlisted in this movement in our various American universities, all leagued together to promote good understanding between different peoples, and international fraternity. The federation publishes a year book, holds annual conventions, and is about to start a monthly magazine, to give a record of international activities among university students the world over. There is a similar movement among European students, and the two movements are being affiliated.

"The United States itself," said Mr. Mead, "is the greatest Cosmopolitan club in the world. We have 20,000,000 people of English blood, 18,000,000 of German blood, 13,000,000 of Irish and 14,000,000 of other races. Peoples of every race here mingle together, and the men migrating here from European countries are sending letters home about the principles of free speech, free schools, free churches, free libraries and a free press, which are here in control. Through these influences the United States exercises world power in the best sense."

"It was in this country that the peace movement, as organized in the world, was first established, in 1815. The first peace societies in the world were those established in New York and Boston in that year. The founders of our republic, Washington, Franklin, Jefferson, were the illustrious champions in their time of the settlement of international differences peacefully instead of by force, and the influence of the United States from that time to this in promoting international arbitration has been a commanding influence. The United States Supreme Court is a prototype and prophecy of the supreme court of the world."

"All that the world needs is to apply to international organization the same relationship which exists between the states in our American federation. At the present time we can, if we will, exercise a determining power in stopping the mad rivalry of navies, in hastening the reduction of armaments, and in leading the nations to a policy of universal arbitration, releasing for constructive purposes the enormous sums now wasted upon great armaments."

"War answers only one question, which of the two fighting powers is at the time the stronger. The organizations of the future must enable nations to determine simply what is just. A nation is not great because it is large and has great armies and navies. The true grandeur of nations lies in moral and intellectual power. Palestine and Greece were world powers whose influence we feel today, when big Babylon and big Assyria are almost forgotten."

"Our little Commonwealth of Massachusetts has been a world power because it has been the home of men of moral and intellectual leadership. Our duty today is to surmount the temptations of materialism and to keep our Commonwealth a world power and our nation a world power of the right kind."

THEATRES

Boston Theatre—"Three Twins."
The musical adaptation of the time mellowed farce "Incog," returns to the Boston Theatre Monday, the 25th instant. It has the backing of clever complications of the original plot, a jolly imposter making up as an extra twin, and of the singing and dancing of a capable company. Heading the cast is Clifford Crawford, who keeps the fun in motion throughout the two acts of the beach at Sea View and at Dr. Hartman's sanatorium, and the monologue which is introduced hints at his lateral abilities as an actor outside the role of "Tom Stanhope." Brilliant Mayme Gertrude, of musical comedy fame, is the "Yama" girl. The music, which was contributed by Karl Hoschna, is bright and tuneful, well suited to the hilarious mood of the piece. Arrangements have been made whereby the attaches of the Boston Theatre box office will have the opening performance of "Three Twins" on the 25th instant for their annual benefit.

American Music Hall—Another big aggregation of all-star features next week makes it a very difficult task to select any one of them for the headline position. The sporting interest, however, will probably centre in the appearance of James J. Corbett, the one time champion pugilist of the world, who will this time present his big vaudeville success, "A Thief in the Night," a one-act playlet which is really a classic in theme and dialogue. After many disappointments Henry Lee, the great impersonator of historical personages, will positively appear at this house next week. Some of the world famous people, past and present, portrayed by Mr. Lee are General Grant and Lee, Pope Leo XIII., George Washington, Theodore Roosevelt, Mark Twain and Uncle Joe Cannon. All of the artist's lighting changes are made in full view of the audience. Cliff Gordon, the German senator, is too well known as a monologist to need any comment. Other big acts on this bill will be Miller brothers, a pair of comedy bar acrobats; Jere Sanford, a very clever whistler and musician; Alva York, a singing comedienne who has just returned from Europe, where she made a big hit, and other features of similar quality.

Keith's Theatre—The greatest of the legitimate stars to appear at Keith's is Mrs. Patrick Campbell, the English emotional actress who comes to Keith's next week for an engagement that will probably mark the height of a remarkable season at this house. Mrs. Campbell presents a one-act play, called "Explosion," and tells the story of a beautiful Russian woman whose husband has become associated with the nihilists and is put to death. The entire play is thrilling from start to finish and affords Mrs. Campbell one of the best opportunities she has ever had to display her wonderful powers as an actress. She will be surrounded by an exceptionally strong bill, a comedy feature of which will be Bowers, Waters and Crocker, "The Three Rubies." Another is Warren, Lyon and Myers, who will make their first appearance in Boston with their musical comedy sketch which has proved one of the hits of the season. Other features will be the Flying Bananas, a big aerial acrobatic act; the Three Vagrants, European street singers; Hilda Hawthorne, the female ventriloquist; Brady and Mahoney, in a comedy sketch; the Daleys in a roller skating specialty, and others.

Tremont Theatre—Raymond Hitchcock and his merry band of comedians, comedienne, singers, dancers and show girls announce the last three weeks of their Boston engagement which closes on Saturday, May 7, at the Tremont Boston theatre-goers have found Hitchcock at his best in "The Man Who Owns Broadway" and they agree also that this musical play is quite the best thing yet credited to George M. Cohan. Flora Zabelle, Scott Welsh, Lora Lieb, Stanley Forde, George Lydecker, Frances Gordon, Mark Sullivan and Maude Morris have each scored personal hits in the support of the lanky and inimitable star. The chorus is intelligent, active and entertaining to a high degree. If you care for a regular West Point tornado of song and dance, music and patter, hasten to the Tremont during these last weeks. THE LITTLE KNIGHT OF THE X BAR B.

By Mary K. Maule.
(Illustrated by Maynard Dixon, 12mo. Cloth $1.50.)

This is, as its name suggests, a novel of ranch life, but wholly different from any others of its kind. The humor and pathos of the characters and situations move the reader as did similar narratives of golden hearts under rough exteriors when told by Bret Harte. The story centres about a mysterious lad of gentle breeding who is brought to the X Bar B by the owner, whom no one dares question. He becomes the pet of the men in the most delightful comradeship, and, young as he is, infuses a spirit of chivalry into his rough yet tender friends from his recollection of stories of knightly days learned from his mother. It is only at the close of the book, when, as a well-grown young man he has been through many thrilling adventures, and seen all the phases of the picturesque life that is so rapidly passing away, that the mystery—by means of a bold and striking denouement—is cleared away. The author is a Western woman who knows her ground thoroughly. Her descriptions of the ranch and the prairie country are photographic in their reality, and her dialect and characters are those of real people, not stage settings. The story is so much out of the ordinary that hard must be the heart it cannot touch, and dull the mind it cannot interest.—Lithrop, Lee & Shepard Co., Boston.

AHERN-HAYES.

A very pretty wedding took place at St. Mary's Church, Newton, on Tuesday afternoon, when Miss Catherine J. Hayes of Newton was united in marriage to Mr. Thomas J. Ahern of Waltham. The bride looked well in a dress of white Shantung silk. Miss Mary M. Hayes, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Mr. Peter J. Ahern, brother of the groom, acted as best man. After the ceremony a reception was held at 20 Gorham street, Waltham, where the happy couple, amidst hearty wishes and congratulations of their numerous relatives and friends, were the recipients of many costly gifts, including cut glass, bric-a-brac and silver, etc.

AN ESSAY ON NEWTON

The American people of today are noted throughout the world as progressive, eager for research and patriotic. Each year brings to us inventions of our studious men, writings and records of those who desire the happenings of these years to live for our posterity. Some years are far more important than others in forming these records, but each has its place in revealing a certain amount of good to future generations. These records we call history. Emerson says, "Man is explicable by nothing less than all his history."

If we read intelligently the history of our ancestors, we live for the time, in the sphere of those about whom we are reading. We can picture the power and skill of the Greeks, the Roman Empire and its fall, the invasions of the Ayrion family, the Renaissance and finding of the New World. We live then for each other in this universe only to become a small part of the whole.

History in itself becomes a vital part of our education. The child in the primary and grammar school reads eagerly the lives of our American heroes. We become acquainted with the historical places in our country and visit them in our travels to certify the words of historians. We sometimes go a distance to explore a temple of fame while in our midst we have the sites dear to many an American.

How many of us are versed in the history of more than one nation and yet do not realize that the place of our birth has a real history which ought indeed to be interesting to us? We think that this city of ours had a beginning and has been growing each year? Can we associate ourselves with the pioneers of Newton, "the garden city of the Commonwealth," and experience in a measure their struggle for existence?

Like the seven hills of ancient Rome, seven principal elevations mark the surface of the city of Newton, with the difference that the seven hills of Newton are much more distinct than the seven hills of Rome—Nonantum Hill, Waban Hill, Chestnut Hill, Bald Pate, Oak Hill, Institution Hill and Mount Ida.

The early history of Newton is closely connected with that of Cambridge and Boston. The settlement of Newton or Cambridge began in 1631. Its records were commenced a year later and the proprietors' records in 1635. "Newton" grew out of the facts and circumstances attending the first settlement.

When several towns about Boston had been settled, it was thought necessary for the safety of the colony of Boston to have one fortified town. This the citizens decided to build on the north side of the Charles River, at the place now occupied by Harvard College. This beautiful little town was built, protected by one general fence about a mile and one half in length.

After 1634 the court soon obtained large grants of land, and owned in a short time what is now Brighton and Newton. This new tract was called "Nonantum."

After Harvard College was built the people decided that Newton be

Mortgagee's Sale of Real Estate

By virtue of and in execution of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by James H. McDaniel and John F. McDaniel to Elton F. Penney, dated November 12, 1902, and recorded in Middlesex South District Registry of Deeds, Book 3004, page 317, will be sold at public auction on the premises on Monday, the twenty-fifth day of April, 1910, at three o'clock in the afternoon, for breach of the conditions of said mortgage, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage deed and therein described as follows:—A certain lot or parcel of land situated in that part of Newton in the County of Middlesex and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, called Newton Centre, and being part of Lot No. twenty (20) on a plan of Real Estate situated in Newton Centre, mostly owned by Z. E. Coffin, dated November 24th, 1871, drawn by M. S. Rice and recorded with Middlesex No. Dist. Deeds, Book of Plans 19, and bounded as follows:—Beginning at a point on the north line of said Decatur street, thence running southerly by said line of Decatur street, sixty-seven and 8-10 (67.8) feet to the east line of a proposed street; thence running north by a true curve, the radius of which is nineteen and 9-10 (19.9) feet, thirty-one and 3-10 (31.3) feet to the east line of the said proposed street; thence running north by a right angle and running easterly eighty-eight and 4-10 (88.4) feet to land owned by Boston and Lowell, thence turning southerly bounded easterly by the said Dickerman land, sixty-nine and 7-10 (69.7) feet to the point of beginning on said line of Waldorf Road, said lot containing six thousand and seventy-four (6074) square feet.

Subject to the following restrictions, viz: No buildings other than dwelling houses and barns with their usual and necessary outbuildings, shall be erected on the granted premises; that no low class houses shall be erected thereon and that no house shall be erected thereof of less cost than $2000 or within fifteen feet of any street.

Being the same premises described in said mortgage deed, and being subject to any and all unpaid taxes, tax sales, and assessments, if any, and to the restrictions above specified. $100 will be required to be paid in cash by the purchaser at the time and place of sale, at twelve o'clock, noon, at the office of Mason H. Stone, 28 State Street, Boston, Mass.

called Cambridge from the place where many of the fathers had been educated in England.

In the meantime many others had come to Nonantum with their families. In 1691 the General Court passed the order that the land lying on the south side of the Charles River be called "Newton." It was afterwards spelled "Newton" by the town clerk, Judge Fuller.

About ten years later the boundaries between Newton and Watertown were settled and still remain about the same.

Up to this time the inhabitants had thought little about education. Many went to schools, but the people had been busy in building their town, and most children had to be educated at home. The following extracts are taken from the town records, 1698: "The town voted to build a schoolhouse as soon as they can, 1699," voted, to build a schoolhouse, sixteen by fourteen, before the last of November."

From time to time new schoolhouses were built and were in season only a few months of the year. In the last part of the eighteenth century there were but one hundred and ninety-seven male residents and one hundred and seventy-five houses in Newton and of these only two were valued at over $2000.

The first town meeting under the Constitution of Massachusetts for the choice of the first Governor was held Sept. 4, 1780, and eighty-six votes cast for Governor at the last state election held in Newton, which was 4499.

When Newton became a city in 1874 we received our first city charter. The legislative and executive branches of our city government are separate. The Mayor under the former charter was the presiding officer of the Board of Aldermen, while under our present charter the executive powers of the city are vested solely by the Mayor and may be exercised by the Mayor personally or through the several officers or boards of the city in their departments, under his general supervision or control.

The School Board consists of the President of the Board of Aldermen, ex-officio, and two members from each ward. We have at present twenty-five school buildings.

The total population of Newton at the present time is about 40,000; total valuation is nearly $71,000,000, while our net debt is about four million dollars. We have about one hundred and sixty miles of accepted streets, about one hundred and five acres of public parks and squares, about one hundred and three miles of main sewers and one hundred and forty-six miles of water pipe as well. Our tax rate last year was $18.20 per thousand, which is an average of about sixty per cent of the municipalities of the same size throughout the state. The total tax levy for maintaining all city departments for last year was $1,150,000.

We have nine fire stations and one of the best call departments in the state, also a police department consisting of about sixty-five men at present giving good satisfaction.

This city has given to the country many brave soldiers, a general to the War of 1812, senators and representatives, as well as a Governor to the state. We are living in a city of beautiful streets, of famous parks, and it is so situated that it affords many places of amusement and pleasure. Let us be proud of our city, eager for its improvement, and desirous ever of making it compare favorably with any city of the Commonwealth.

Wells, chairman. The memorial is a handsome white marble bust, life size, and is the work of Cyrus E. Dallin, the sculptor.

ENTERTAINMENT CLUB.

The third and last dramatic production of the Entertainment Club was given in the parlors of Channing Church Monday evening before a representative audience. The club has seldom done better work, the program was an excellent one, and the casts were well balanced, each character part showing much care and study. "Yellow Roses," a sentimental sketch in one act, was well presented by Dr. L. H. Naylor as the old lover, "Colonel St. Clair," and Mrs. A. C. Cummings as the widow, "Mrs. Peveril." The second part of the program was the very funny one-act comedy entitled "Owin to Maggie." The cast included John W. Webber, Dr. L. H. Naylor, Miss Carolyn B. Brown, Mrs. Howard North, Mrs. Morton W. Hadlock, Mrs. Ralph W. Bartlett and Mr. Channing Haywood. Both plays were given under the direction of Mrs. A. C. Cummings and music was furnished by Miss Dorothy Emmons, piano, and Miss Ruth Ivy, violin.

MR. MACOMBER BURIED.

Funeral services for the late Grenville B. Macomber were held at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon in his home at 66 Churchill avenue, Newtonville. There was a large attendance of friends and many floral tributes. The officiating clergyman was Rev. Jay T. Stocking, pastor of Central Congregational Church of Newtonville, and a male quartet sang "Thy Will Be Done" and "Passing Out of the Shadow." The body was taken for cremation to Mt. Auburn Cemetery. The pall bearers included Commander I. F. Kingsbury and C. C. Patten of Charles Ward Post No. 62, G. A. R., and Messrs. George T. Coppins and H. M. North of Winslow Lewis Lodge, A. F. and A. M., of Boston.

LASELL SEMINARY.

Rev. Francis E. Clark will lecture at Lasell Seminary on Thursday evening, May 5, at 7:45 o'clock. Subject: Story of Life in Japan, a Visit at the Woman's University, and an audience with the Emperor. The public is cordially invited to attend.

NEWTON CLUB.

The department heads of the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway Company, evening at which Mr. Pitt S. Drew, the claim agent of the company, gave an interesting talk. Mr. W. J. Follett celebrated his return from camp on Monday night with some good fish stories.

LECTURE

Rev. Frank W. Gunsaulus, pastor of the large and important Auditorium Central Church, Chicago, will be in Boston and vicinity with his celebrated choir early in May. He will give his lecture on "Life as Illustrated in Music" at Central Congregational Church, Newtonville, Tuesday evening, May 10.

This lecture is illustrated by songs rendered by the Auditorium Church choir, songs of nature, love, immortality and life, making an artistic, literary and musical evening of rare enjoyment.

Dr. Gunsaulus was pastor of the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville, from 1883 to 1885, and his oratorical and poetical abilities need no word of commendation to the residents of Newton. When the new church on Walnut street was dedicated in 1895, Dr. Gunsaulus preached the sermon to an audience which completely filled the large auditorium.

This occasion should again fill Central Church, for Dr. Gunsaulus has grown in power as an orator and in fame as a preacher, since he left here to take up his work in the West.

The entire proceeds will be given to Central Congregational Church for its debt fund.

LODGES.

Newton Lodge 92, I. O. O. F., gives an entertainment this evening in its hall at West Newton, at which Mr. J. A. Clark, humorist, musician and singer, will be the attraction.

KATHADINS

The annual dinner of the Kathadins Club will be held at the Newton Club next Wednesday evening. An informal reception will be held at 6 and dinner will be served at 6:30. The special guest will be Professor Daniel B. McMillan, who went to the North Pole with Commander Peary, who will give his lecture on "With Peary in the Arctic." The lecture will be illustrated by a large number of stereopticon slides.

THEATRES

Boston Opera House—There is no longer any doubt of the long-disputed fact that Boston is a great musical centre, nor of the possibility of presenting grand opera at popular prices in a worthy manner, since the unprecedented success of the Aborn English Grand Opera Company in its first three weeks at the Boston Opera House. Large audiences have been the rule at all performances, some of which have tested the full capacity of the big auditorium. For their fourth weekly offering, Gounod's celestially beautiful and deeply inspiring "Faust" will be given, occupying the eight performances starting Monday night, May 2, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday as usual. Like the other selections for the Aborn repertory, this is an ideal opera of the people, possessing all of those qualities which endear themselves to music lovers of all grades of musical culture or the lack of it: Sweetness and pleasant melodiousness typical of Gounod's irresistible sort, varied and original ideas, ranging from the purely ecclesiastical to the poetic and romantic; from excessive tenderness to dramatic heights. It is a perfect musical depiction of the first part of Goethe's greatest drama of the same name.

The next offering, for the week beginning May 9, will be an elaborate production of "The Bohemian Girl."

American Music Hall—Next week will mark the return to the American Music Hall of that greatest of all portrayers of feminine characters, Julian Eltinge, who has won a success on the vaudeville stage second only to that of the great Harry Lauder. During his engagement he will make use of new songs and new costumes. Another act which will quickly launch into favor is that of Emmet Devoy and company, presenting a screamingly funny farce, "The Saintly Mr. Billings."

The announcement that Al Fields and Dave Lewis will be held over for another week will please every theatregoer who is fond of a good hearty laugh. The balance of the bill will include Violet McMillan, a diminutive girl 57 inches tall, who sings as well as a grown woman; Miller brothers, gymnastic comedians and burlesque wrestlers; Adams and Mack, and others.

Castle Square Theatre—It was in "The County Fair" that Neil Burgess made his greatest success as a female impersonator, and John Craig may be expected to make no less a bit with that play when he produces it at the Castle Square next Monday. In Mr. Craig's production of "The County Fair" the role of Aunt Abby will be played by Donald Meek, than whom there is no more versatile comedian known to Boston theatregoers. The play itself is homely and entertaining. It is wholesome and pure throughout, and it gives opportunity for amusing acting on the part of every member of the John Craig Stock Company. Not the least amusing episode is the courting of Aunt Abby by Otis Tucker, the most bashful of lovers. Mr. Craig and Mary Young will of course have leading roles and in addition to them and to Mr. Meek, the cast will include Gertrude Binley, Mabel Colcord, George Hassell, Walter Walker, Bert Young, Wilfred Young and Al Roberts.

Women's Clubs

Edited by Miss Grace M. Burt.

Official bulletins have been received from the press committee of the biennial convention of the (General) Federation of Women's Clubs. Plans therein announced recall vividly scenes enacted among us two years ago. The hosts of those who served on similar committees at that time go out in sympathy to those who are doing the work now. Instead of being the guests of the State Federation as was the case with the Boston biennial, the local club of Cincinnati is the hostess, except that a concert will be proffered by the Ohio State Federation on the evening of Tuesday, May 10, the evening previous to the opening of the convention. The official program has not yet been received, but morning sessions with afternoon conferences as in Boston have been adopted as the general plan.

The Massachusetts delegation go under the direction of Raymond & Whitcomb as in former years and from announcements made at the recent conference of presidents they are assured of comfort—something that some others are likely to be obliged to forego. Miss Bacon announced last week that all bookings

The Waban Woman's Club will hold its annual meeting on Monday afternoon, May second.

The annual meeting of the Newton Federation will be held Tuesday, May 3, at 10:15 a. m. Business session and election of officers. Lunch will be served at one o'clock. In the afternoon there will be music by Mrs. E. C. Cooper of the Pierian Club and members of the Auburndale Review Club will read in English Mollere's "Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme."

At the last meeting of the season of the Social Science Club on Wednesday, May 4, Mrs. J. C. Ferguson will give a paper upon "Home Life in China."

The Newton Ladies' Home Circle will meet on Thursday, May 5, at 2:30 p. m., in G. A. R. Hall, Newtonville.

The date of the annual meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation will be announced in a few days. The place is Lynn and June is selected owing to the delegates being absent at the Biennial so large a part of May. Special delegates' tickets will be necessary for this meeting.

On Monday afternoon of this week the Monday Club of Newton Highlands held its last meeting of the season. During the year the club has made contributions to Pomroy Home, visited the Newton City Home at Christmas time carrying entertainment and gifts with them. Several groups of the Consumers' League exist in the club. At this meeting sums of money were voted for the Frances Willard Settlement in Boston and the Mothers' Rest Association of Newton Centre. The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Clara J. Bartlett; vice-presidents, Mrs. Margaret C. Miller, Mrs. Annie P. Sweetser; recording secretary, Mrs. L. B. Luitweiler; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Florence L. B. Robbins; treasurer, Mrs. Mary B. MacCallum; auditor, Mrs. Retta W. Wetherbee; directors for two years, Mrs. Ellen A. Eagles, Mrs. Martha B. Miller.

As a conclusion of the literary program of the year several of Thackeray's ballads were read by Mrs. Margaret C. Miller. Refreshments were served by the hostess during the social hour.

The Newtonville Woman's Guild held its annual meeting on Tuesday, April 26. A large number of members attended the luncheon, which was served at one o'clock, in charge of Mrs. W. C. Richardson, acting chairman of the social committee. After this came the business of the annual meeting, which was followed by a program of readings and music. Mrs. G. R. Pulsifer rendering two groups of songs and Mrs. A. D. Sallinger reading a story entitled "Just Like Other Folks."

The reports showed that the Guild has been continuing its usual good work and adding some other features. This year it has contributed $200 for books for the library in the new Technical High School in addition to its usual gifts.

The Guild is fortunate in having kept in office for a long time several very faithful officers. This year Mrs. G. P. Cooke retired after 22 years' service as treasurer, while Mrs. Mary R. Martin read her 24th annual report as recording secretary.

These officers were elected for next year: President, Mrs. Eunice C. Adams; vice-presidents, Mrs. J. H. Willey, Mrs. J. A. Penno, Mrs. W. T. Rich, Mrs. E. P. Hurd, Mrs. E. P. Hatch, Mrs. E. J. Fessenden, Mrs. A. H. Terrell, Mrs. W. H. Allen, Mrs. A. G. Sherman, Mrs. E. E. Hopkins, Mrs. F. E. Spaulding, Mrs. E. K. Hall; recording secretary, Mrs. Mary R. Martin; corresponding secretary, Mrs. H. W. Thayer; treasurer, Mrs. J. W. Byers; assistant treasurer, Mrs. H. R. Gibbs; directors for four years, Mrs. A. D. Sallinger, Miss Lizzie Allen, Mrs. H. H. Carter will serve as chairman of the finance committee.

At the annual meeting of the Social Science Club on Wednesday morning a letter of greeting from Mrs. H. H. Powers, the retiring president of the club, was read. This was dated in a tent on Mt. Hermon, between Damascus and Jerusalem, and brought a tender and affectionate farewell to the club. The reports of the year showed much good work accomplished. Perhaps that of the Stamp Savings committee gives as good a showing as any of real practical work done. During the year there have been 221 deposits and over $400 has been saved by the school children. While considerable of this has been drawn out, a large number of children have opened accounts in the savings bank, some was used for presents at Christmas and some for clothing.

The philanthropic fund reached $666.59 and from this there has been given $225 to Stearns Neighborhood House, $50 to the emergency fund of the Newton Federation for tuberculosis work, $175 to the Newton Hospital, $70 for the scholarship at Hampton Institute, $25 for the children's gardens. From the club treasury $25 was added to the last item, making $50 in all for the gardens, and $100 was given from the general treasury for the Y. M. C. A. building.

As the next year will be the 25th of the club it has been decided to make it a vice-presidents' and ex-presidents' year and let them preside in turn during the year. On this account no president was nominated. The following is the list of officers elected for the ensuing year: vice-presidents, Mrs. H. H. Powers, Mrs. Wolcott Calkins, Mrs. Cornelius Patton, Mrs. F. E. Stanley, Mrs. Sterling Elliott, Mrs. Joseph L. Colby; recording secretary, Mrs. F. S. Drake; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. F. Bothfeld; treasurer, Mrs. H. K. Hobart; auditor, Mrs. George Angier; directors, Mrs. Frank A. Pickernell, chairman, Mrs. George Angier, Mrs. C. O. Tucker, Mrs. H. I. Harriman, Mrs. W. F. Garcelon.

The annual meeting of the West Newton Women's Educational Club was held on April 22 at the Brae Burn Country Club. The morning session was given up to the election of officers and other business of the club, including the annual reports of the officers and of each of the chairmen of the standing committees. The election of officers for the coming year closed the morning. Luncheon was served at one o'clock.

At the afternoon session Mrs. Alvin H. Clifford, the retiring president, was given a basket of magnificent roses, Mrs. George G. Phipps, honorary vice-president, presenting it on behalf of the club. A most enjoyable entertainment by the Beardsley Concert Company followed, the artists being Mrs. Grace Leutz at the piano, Mrs. Grace Kelly, violinist, and Miss Irene Bewly, reader. The last number on the program was an original poem entitled "Our President," written by Mrs. Alice Early and read by Miss Bewly.

"C harming, clever, courageous and capable, too;
Loyal and loving to all who are true,
I inspired and inspiring she goes on her way,
F eely giving the things we never can pay;
F althful service, wise judgment, never failing good taste;
O ur meetings more brilliant by her presence graced,
R esplendent in grace, beauty, majestic mien,
D eclare her of all W. E. Club members, Queen."

The following members were elected to office: President, Mrs. Thomas M. Elwell; vice-presidents, Mrs. Electa S. Munroe, Mrs. Anna M. Jones, Mrs. Minnie E. Hill, Mrs. Minnie B. ## NEW PRESIDENT.

The annual meeting of the Newton Centre Improvement Association was held Tuesday night in the library of the Mason School. Reports were read and retiring president A. E. Alvord gave a brief review of the work of the past year. The principal item was the analysis of the water and ice of Crystal Lake, which had been subjected to much criticism. Printed reports were issued, bearing the findings of the officials of the bacteriological department of M. I. T. The majority of residents of the district have been surprised to find that the water is of good quality and that the ice compares favorably with that cut in the New Hampshire lakes and on the Kennebec River. Officers were elected as follows: William H. Rice, president; Stanner Clement, vice-president; George C. Ewing, treasurer; George W. Pratt, secretary; A. E. Alvord, Morton E. Cobb, Allen Hubbard, A. C. Burnham, H. J. Kelway, M. S. Buckley, Howard Emerson, F. R. Johnson, Sidney R. Porter, executive committee; Charles Copeland, auditor. Following the election open discussion was held and plans for the Fourth of July celebration discussed, the sentiment apparently leaning toward a smaller demonstration than ever before.

Many persons present were in favor of the "safe and sane Fourth" and several outlined a celebration that would only occupy the morning hours, consisting of a ball game, race, band concert and kindred attractions. The Brae Burn Country Club has annually given a mammoth display of fireworks which can be witnessed by the public from the street and the argument was advanced that those who wished to witness fireworks could readily go there. Opposed to these plans was a statement to the effect that the future growth of Newton must be toward the south side and that it would scarcely be good business policy to abolish an annual feature that proved to the city at large that the south side was very much alive.

Women's Clubs

Edited by Miss Grace M. Burt.

A lecture of more than ordinary interest was given before the Social Science Club on Wednesday, April 20, by Mr. Francis E. Stanley, whom the club is proud to count as one of the "club-husbands." Mr. Stanley's subject was "Navigating the Air: Aeroplanes, Airships and Dirigible Balloons." Modern methods of locomotion, he said, have practically changed the earth. The automobile industry has developed to enormous proportions and has furnished employment for a very large number of persons. Up to a comparatively short time the new methods of propulsion have dealt with the same elements, the horse has been displaced by steam, and steam in turn by electricity and other kinds of power, but the vehicle with wheels has remained.

Navigating of the air is the last method to be solved, though it has been tried for many years. Mr. Stanley referred to the humorous poem by J. T. Trowbridge, "Darius Green and his Flying Machine," and then traced the historical development of these so-called flying machines from the invention of the balloon, which was made possible by the discovery of Henry Cavendish of the lightness of hydrogen gas. A Frenchman, however, constructed the first balloon, a hot-air one, which in 1782 was made to rise by itself a few feet into the air. The next year one was made to rise 1500 feet and the first passengers carried were a sheep, a cock and a duck. In November of the same year, 1783, the first man made an ascent and in December the first scientifically complete one was constructed, which curiously enough contained all the essentials of the modern balloon. In fact, Benjamin Franklin foretold practically all the uses to which the balloon has been put up to the present time. So far in the development the only motion that could be controlled was that of rising or falling by throwing out ballast or letting out gas. But for horizontal motion it was practically at the mercy of the wind.

It was not, however, until one hundred years after the invention of the balloon in 1883 that a dirigible one of cylindrical form was constructed. Count Zeppelin of Germany invented a large dirigible balloon in 1900 and since that time a great improvement has been made in the construction of this type. These, Mr. Stanley considered hardly practical, but thought they might prove useful in time of war.

He then turned his attention to what he called the heavier-than-air type under which are included the gliders and aeroplanes. Men of science, he said, had stated that it was impossible for anything heavier than fifty pounds to fly, but practical, uneducated mechanics have come along who did not know enough to know that it was impossible, and have solved the problem. He told of the work of foreigners in this line and then turned to that of the four distinguished Americans who have done the most in this line, Maxim, Langley and the Wright brothers. Maxim's experiment ended in disaster. Langley discovered little that was new, but gave it a scientific character. Could he have continued his work, he certainly would have succeeded. He then turned to the successful efforts of the brothers, Wilbur and Orville Wright.

Mr. Stanley in summing up said that so far as safety, reliability, comfort and convenience, and economy are concerned, these methods would never take the place of locomotion by means of vehicles with wheels, though they doubtless might be of great service in exploration and in time of war.

The school committee is improving and is to be congratulated on the fact that its new secretary has resided in this city for at least eight months. His first choice, it will be remembered, last summer, was a non-resident; it now chooses a person who at least resides here at the time of election, and it is not beyond the bounds of hope that in the dim future it may be possible to spend the taxpayers' money for this office to one who has lived here long enough to be identified with Newton institutions, and the committee may even go so far as to take a person who has been educated in the Newton schools.

Seriously speaking, however, it does not add to one's sense of civic pride to have publicly elected officials pass by two young women who have been educated in our schools and whose records show that either has ample ability to fill the office, and take practically a non-resident. The office is not one demanding especial talent or education and all things being equal, it belongs to our own citizens.

Company C is to be congratulated on its proposed new armory.

NEW ARMORY.

Company C, Fifth Regiment, M. V.
M., after years of effort, is to have a new armory, which will probably be dedicated before next Christmas.
The Armory Commission of the state, of which Quartermaster General William B. Emery of Newton is a member, has selected land owned by the Newton Street Railway Company on Washington street, West Newton, immediately adjoining the old car barn. A lot of 160 feet front and 220 feet deep has been chosen and work will be commenced as soon as the deeds are passed and the contract awarded, probably within 30 days. The commission will erect the usual one company armory similar to what has already been erected, or
to what has already been erected, or Greenfield and Attleboro, Newton being the fourth place to receive a state armory. The total expense for land and building is limited to $50,000.

DUDLEY STREET L STATION IMPROVED

Capacity and Convenience Increased.

The Boston correspondent of the Fall River Herald discusses, in that paper, what has been accomplished by the changes at the Dudley street
"L" station as follows:—

A street railway station on whose platforms more passengers can be landed simultaneously and comfortably than at any other urban transportation station in the world is about completed in Boston, and a greater volume of newspaper protest than ever before rolled up is grimly awaited by the traction officials.

The expectation is not unreasonable. At Dudley street, Roxbury, where the Apostle Eliot once translated the Scriptures into strange Indian languages unscriptural words in many languages have been represented by the sensational newspapers as flaring continuously ever since the service was improved a few months ago by the opening of an extension to Forest Hills and a remodeling undertaken of the former terminal, now serving as way station and terminus both. From cartoons and lurid descriptions that have been published the outsider would get an idea that where one saint anciently converted the heathen a legion of strange devils now possesses a million civilized people. Roxbury is the Hub's Harlem; the nearer it is brought to the heart of the city the further are the people from contentment, according to some press comments, now that a rearrangement of the facilities at Dudley street is about to be opened, a rearrangement of the engineering experts is in order.

The case for libel which a community of a million and a half people might bring against some of its newspapers would get strong support from an exhibit of the caricatures of the community's intelligence published under guise of criticism of the newer transit facilities. Any one who knew the Boston urban transportation scheme only from reading comments on it in the yellow journals and the jaundiced organ of gentility would infallibly get a notion that it is tending toward a tangle to be straightened out only by the introduction of the aeroplane as common carrier.

Yellow Journals Piqued.

Such a person's mental picture would indicate that while more people may henceforth land simultaneously at one of the stations of the Boston Elevated Railway Company
than at any other set of platforms anywhere, fewer of them will know where they are going or how to get there, and that having started with a bad situation the engineers have made it worse by not seeking the advice of newspaper critics before trying to improve it. Since the days of the "sixteen" puzzle, the outside observer would conclude, no prize puzzle has ever surpassed the one in Roxbury.
It is a labyrinth to which each evening the Boston Elevated Railway Company takes thousands of weary workers and makes them much more by shuffling them around like pigs in a blind poke. Uncle Joe Cannon's paraphrase dog with the celluloid legs would have an easier task, it might be imagined, in overtaking an aspe-ctus cat in the infernal regions than the average Bostonian in catching the car he wants to get out of Dudley street. It is a place for abandonment of all hope of home and hearthside.
The gate of opportunity is everywhere closed and a large lettered sign recommends the wayfarer to go further. Every path is open except the one which might bring you out somewhere. The Boston Elevated company, it has been suggested, ought to advise its patrons at Dudley street:—
"Don't go wherever you're going,
But go wherever you wouldn't."

The other way is the only right way;
this way you shouldn't and couldn't.
Generalizing, the investigator of say a century hence, in outlining his picture of transportation conditions in Boston from study of files of certain newspapers, might conclude that in 1910 the Puritan capital had an admirable transportation system for the encouragement of long distance walking. He who rode regretted.
The safe plan, to get anywhere, was to take a taxi and implore the driver to avoid colliding with the trolleys.
The anti vivisection cult and the peace movement flourished in Boston because of the horror of the inhabitants who had seen their fellow citizens torn limb from limb while trying to board street cars. Lost lives were as common as lost tempers.

These conditions, it might be related in 2100, made for a grasping monopoly's profit. The harder the transportation company thrashed the public down the softer grew its job of rifling their pockets of spare change.

Company's Side.

Examination of some of the plans for further improvement of the transit system, a personal visit to the reputed labyrinth at Dudley street and consideration of the statement put forward by the officials of the Boston Elevated Railway Company in explanation of their reasons for doing some of the things now in process might conceivably modify the impression of the visitor from Altruria. Out of condor he would have to recognize that without its present highly developed rapid transit facilities the collection of commuters at the head of Massachusetts Bay would be Bedlam; with them it is just Boston.

For the queer little city on the hill, as everybody knows, never accepts without questioning and at least a little carping. Some of its people there are who hate to watch Boston grow; in the process there seems to be some reflection on their own mental condition. Possibly in no community are there relatively so many lay persons who from desultory reading, and profound conviction know more of medicine than all the physicians; of law than the most eminent jurists;
of journalism than the ablest editors;
and of transportation than the competent traction specialists who have built up in their oddly unsystematic town a harmonious, well articulated street railway system which specialists from other places have pronounced a model of its kind.

No other American city, doubtless,
has so many malefactors of modernity who have no business to be there, wealth who having no business to which they must attend for a livelihood are free to offer gratuitous service in regulating the affairs of the universe and the local public service corporations. There is a typical modern Puritan saint, much in evidence at clubs and public gatherings, who is transported with delight if ever he happens to be transported in discomfort; the occasion gives him a chance to write a letter of complaint to his favorite newspaper.

Changes Annoy.

As in every community, the Boston crowds dislike to have their automatism disturbed and to be put into a situation where intelligence must be used to get in out of the rain or to avoid payment of an extra nickel for carfare. The invitation to "move quickly" nearly produced a riot in Boston some years ago; the transportation company has never had the hardhood to repeat it. (Cynical traffic men will tell you that it is only the local public of the most common school, not to say cultured, American city who do not know how to read.)

Fifty thousand strangers descend upon the town at the time of a convention. In half a day, helped by guards, guide books and gumption, they know how to find their way around. Fifty thousand suburbanites, who drift back and forth with regularity of a tide and the thoughtfulness of a trade kind, discover with annoyance some slight change, believed by the experts to be for the better, in their customary route, and straightway 23 of them, a number magnified by the yellow journals into an immense gathering, hold an indignation meeting to demand that an ancient status be restored. Most of the crowd, after a few days of grumbling, becomes confirmed in a new habit
from which they will with equal difficulty be shaken when another change must be made. Some of them are perpetually in the state of mind of a Rip Van Winkle who went to sleep before the telephone, trolley and motor car were invented and now rubs his eyes among unfamiliar wonders.

Because the realizations of the station at Dudley street corrects difficulties imposed by the layout of the city in that section and has been accomplished at large expense and exercise of engineering skill a newspaper agitation may well result which will equal that of December, 1908, when the service was speeded and the comfort of business men and shoppers increased by the opening of the Washington street tunnel.

A statement of what has actually been done at the terminal suggests improvements that would be highly appreciated in any American city—as say, it put into operation about the Manhattan terminus of Brooklyn bridge.

Now provisions for the comfort of passengers have been adopted while no privileges to which they were formerly entitled have been taken away.
The annoyances caused heretofore by loading and unloading cars on the same platform have been removed.
The platform areas have been increased and ample waiting room accommodations introduced. Transfer is accomplished bodily, by walking from car to car, with none of the annoyances attendant upon use of paper transfer slips. Clearly worded signs have been provided abundantly.

Suitable attendants are on duty at all hours. Some of the ticket offices have been replaced in the interest of public convenience, the construction has been made of the best materials, with due regard for the decencies of appearance of which American street car companies are sometimes accused of being negligent. Such work as has been done was effected without stopping business at this important junction.

The operation of the trains and surface cars has been greatly facilitated.
The movements of the cars on the lower levels have been simplified so that all cars on the south side go to the south, and all cars on the north side go to the north.

Largest Terminal in World.

The station at Dudley street, when completed, will be in point of traffic handled, one of the largest terminals in the world—if not the largest. It will take care of one thousand four hundred and twenty (1420) cars an hour or twenty-three and a half (23 1/2) in one minute. As a basis of comparison the South Terminal station, Boston—the largest in the world up to the completion of the new Pennsylvania station in New York city—handles daily 817 trains, averaging six cars to a train, or a total of 4902 cars per day. This total may be set against 1420 cars in single hour at Dudley street.

This great number of cars is simply divided; on elevated tracks going north and south, with loop tracks for surface cars on the upper level (one on the east side and one on the west side) and with all the lower level tracks divided between cars going north and cars going south, each of the above loops serving both a loading and an unloading platform. The distances which passengers have to walk in transferring from surface cars to elevated trains or vice versa have been made as small as is geo-metrically possible. It has been found necessary to provide three-fourths of a mile of track within the area enclosed by the station in order to accommodate the traffic. It is obviously impossible to handle the present immense traffic in the limited area which was suitable before the business reached its present proportions but no unnecessary expansion has occurred.

A certain overcrowding of cars and stations is inevitable in every street railway system. The traffic cannot be distributed through the day, but must be concentrated at certain hours. The straphangers morning and evening pay for the empty seats at other periods of the day. General William A. Bancroft, president of the Boston Elevated Railway Company,
in a recent address in Cambridge, cited figures to show that even if the cars bumped noses on the existing lines in and out of the city it would be impossible to give every passenger a seat at every hour of the day.
Such provisions, however, as those made at Dudley street, and to be made shortly at the Sullivan Square terminal in Charlestown, will alleviate the congestion even while they aggravate the newspaper complaints. That doubtless is why the experts think it worth while to spend thought and money and to remain discreetly silent under the abuse and vilification.

—Mr. Charles E. Lauriat was among the passengers on the steamship Meganthe of the White Star line, sailing from the Charlestown dock on Tuesday noon. Mr. Lauriat was accompanied by his son, Charles E.
Lauriat, Jr., who will assist his father in the search for good things in the way of new and old books to enrich the collection in their Washington street store, besides executing some special commissions for wealthy New York and Boston collectors.

NEW SECRETARY.

At the regular meeting of the school committee, held Wednesday evening, the action of the superintendent of schools in selecting Miss Cella M. Chase as secretary of the committee was endorsed, the ballot being unanimous. The new secretary resides at Newton Highlands and came to this city last fall in order to enter Simmons College. Her health caused her to abandon college work and she has served as temporary secretary since about the first of March.

The committee also approved plans for walks and driveways about the Technical High School building after City Engineer Rogers had made an explanation.

Following a report from the superintendent, orders were adopted authorizing all advanced eighth grade pupils who meet the requirements of that grade to be graduated in June, and authorizing the superintendent to transfer certain eighth grade pupils to the Technical High School next September.

The resignation of Miss Lucy E. Woodward of the Emerson School was accepted.

Mr. A. E. Elwell was appointed to serve as a member of the executive committee of the Playground and Social Service League.

The drinking fountains presented to the Rice School by the Newton Centre Woman's Club and to the Wolcott School by the Waban Woman's Club were accepted.

DOUBLE WEDDING.

A pretty double wedding took place Wednesday at "The Beeches," the home of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Mellor, with their twin daughters as brides. Miss Ethel Louise Mellor married William Rudolph Owings of Newton Highlands, while Miss Edna Bentley Mellor became the wife of William Gowdy of Springfield.

In the presence of the immediate families Rev. Charles E. McKinley of Rockville, Conn., performed the ceremony in the parlors of the home, assisted by Rev. Melvin Brandow, pastor of the First Church of Plymouth.

The grounds and estate were elaborately decorated. Along the driveway were Japanese lanterns and the arches supporting the piazza of the house were outlined with lanterns. Palms, potted plants, trailing vines and cut flowers were used in the house.

The brides wore white satin with duchess lace and pearl trimmings and carried large bouquets of bride roses. Miss Ethel Mellor was attended by Miss Elinor Polk Owings of Newton Highlands, a sister of the groom, and Miss Edna Mellor by Miss Ruth Mellor, her sister.

James Chatham Hobart of Boston was best man for Mr. Owings and Albert Lincoln Mellor of Plymouth, brother of the brides, acted as that capacity for Mr. Gowdy. Little Katherine Dickens was flower girl.

The ushers were Henry Putnam Pratt of Tacoma, Wash.; D. Clark Owings, Jr., of Newton Highlands; Joseph K. Schofield of Boston; Percy M. Schofield of Pittsfield; Herbert M. Schofield of Washington, D. C.; and Clifford E. Mason of Cambridge.

The reception was held in the music room where the young couples were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Mellor and the maids of honor.

Mr. Owings is a well-known lawyer in Boston and is a member of the Newton Boat Club. At one time he was private secretary to Hon. John N. Cole of Andover. Mr. Gowdy is connected with the New England Telephone Company at Springfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Owings will reside at Newton Highlands and Mr. and Mrs. Gowdy at Springfield.

MR. JAMES DEAD.

Mr. Nathaniel N. James, an old resident of Newton, died at his home, 298 Ward street, Newton Centre, last week Thursday. He had been an invalid for several years. Mr. James was born in Brighton and was nearly 80 years of age. He is survived by a daughter, Miss Emma L. James.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon in his home and many friends attended. Rev. Edward M. Noyes, pastor of the Newton Centre Congregational Church, officiated and the burial was in Newton Cemetery.

ELECT OFFICERS.

The annual meeting of the Newton Equal Franchise Association was held yesterday morning at the residence of Mrs. G. F. Lowell, 525 Walnut street, Newtonville. The following were elected officers for the coming year: President, Mrs. Mary Atherton Howe; first vice-president, Mrs. S. L. Eaton; second vice, Mrs. James I. Wingate; recording secretary, Mrs. Harriet B. Harrington; corresponding secretary, Mrs. F. D. Sampson; treasurer, Mrs. Fred B. Young; press correspondent, Mrs. W. E. Birdsall; auditor, Miss Anna Whiting; board of directors, chairman, Mrs. W. E. Birdsall, Mrs. Fred A. Wetherbee, Mrs. C. W. Hizer, Mrs. R. M. Holt.

Mrs. G. F. Lowell, who has served as president for several years, was made honorary vice-president, with Alice Stone Blackwell as honorary president. The organization voted to re-enter the state organization and to hold two regular meetings monthly, beginning with October.

In the saving of time, trouble and labor and in superior cooking ability, no other range can compare with them.

The Single Dampers (patented) is the only perfect fire and oven control; one motion—slide the knob to "kindle," "bake" or "check," and the range does the rest.

The Two Hods in the base (patented) is a wonderful trouble-saving feature. One Hod for ashes, instead of the old, clumsy ash pan; the other Hod for coal.

The Oven with its cup-joint flues is heated all over alike; no "cold corners," no "scorching spots".

The Patented Grates save trouble and money.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME.

While the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs has given leave to withdraw on the petitions of the cities of Newton and Waltham to improve the condition of the Charles River, Senator Harvey of Waltham has presented a resolve requesting the Metropolitan Park Commissioners to give public hearings and investigate and report their recommendations in writing to the Legislature on or before the second Saturday of January, 1911, upon the petition of Mayor Walker of Waltham and of ex-Mayor George Hutchinson of Newton, with the accompanying bill before the house, that the river be dredged for sanitary purposes. It will come up for a vote before the Senate within a few days.

Governor Draper has signed the appropriation bill for the Metropolitan Park Commission carrying a total of $360,000. While this matter was pending before the legislative committee the Metropolitan Park Commission most unwisely discharged many of its employees on the pretext that it had no money with which to pay them, notwithstanding the general law which authorizes state departments to carry on their work until the Legislature makes the annual appropriations. It was noticed, however, that the discharges were of men who lived in the cities or towns, from which members of the Ways and Means committee came and it is more than suspected that it was the intention of the Park Commission to bring the pressure of the men and their friends upon these members of the House. It was a contemptible trick by a state commission.

Newton is deeply interested in the personnel of the commission just appointed by Judge Rugg of the Supreme Court to determine the apportionment of the metropolitan park expense during the next five years. The last apportionment, thru the efforts of Mayor Weed, was quite favorable to Newton, and fair to the rest of the district. Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston, however, is on the warpath this year to reduce the assessment to be paid and if successful will probably increase the amount Newton will have to pay. The commission consists of Ernest H. Vaughn of Worcester, Charles G. Baneroff of Natick and Fred S. Hall of Taunton.

The bill to provide for the direct nomination of state senators and representatives passed the House overwhelmingly last week and has been assigned for next Monday in the Senate. Among the amendments pending is one to include county officers within its provisions.

The resolve demanding an amendment to the United States Constitution so as to provide for the direct election of United States senators passed the House this week 109 to 98, all the Newton representatives being in opposition. Another radical amendment to our state constitution received a majority in the House, although a two-thirds vote was necessary to pass. This amendment was the socialistic measure of the initiative and referendum. All our representatives voted against this measure, the final vote being 112 in favor and 102 opposed.

Representative White has dissented from the action of the Ways and Means Committee in reducing the salaries recommended by the Public Service Committee for the Gas Commissioners. The Public Service Committee recommended $6000 for the chairman and $5500 for the other two members, and the Ways and Means Committee reduce these figures $1000 each. The new figures are $1000 higher than the present salary. Ex-Mayor Weed of Newton is one of the commissioners.

Mr. White voted for the bill to make Oct. 12 a legal holiday, to be known as Columbus Day. Mr. Ellis voted against this bill and Mr. Bothfeld is not recorded. Both Mr. Ellis and Mr. White voted for the bill to provide an additional elevator for the Senate, although the bill was defeated in the House.

MANDELL.—At Newton, April 27, Elizabeth Close, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Mandell.

Keith's Theatre—Aside from the fact that Mr. Keith is playing at his Boston theatre a number of unusually important headline features, such as Mrs. Patrick Campbell, Gertrude Hoffmann, Denman Thompson and others who have made the season a memorable one, the bills have really been noteworthy for the excellence of the all-round vaudeville and it is remarkable that during the entire season not more than two or three acts have been repeated and these only because of the great demand for them on the part of the public. The principal feature of the show for the coming week is not yet announced, but the surrounding bill is one that in itself would attract attention. It will include Mary Norman, than whom there is no more accomplished society entertainer in America; Tom Waters, a newcomer whose piano solos and songs have been making a tremendous hit in other cities; World and Kingston, who have made a reputation as entertainers around the entire world; Trovillo, the ventriloquist who appears in an entire production; the Gasch sisters, two of the most accomplished lady acrobats that have ever come to this country; Cotter and Boulden, and Dick Lynch, with his unique methods of showing character.

TECHNICAL HIGH SCHOOL

The following remarks, made at the dedication of the Technical High School last week, were crowded out of our last issue:—

This school was opened Sept. 13 last with an enrollment of 500 regular pupils. About 300 of this number are now registered in the commercial course, a department transferred from the Newton High to this school.

Of the remaining number the majority are registered in the Technology College course, a four-year preparatory course for colleges and higher schools of technology. The others are enrolled in one of the following courses: Technical course, giving an all-round technical academic training. Extra technical course with 50 per cent more technical work than the other courses and preparing for work in the productive industries. Fine arts course, with related studies about the art work as a motive, a course I am told not found in any other high school in this country. During the winter we have had under instruction in this building a number exceeding 1200. This increase is due to our regular students numbering 500 has come through the courses we have offered to graduates and pupils of the Newton High School, to teachers of the public schools, to grade pupils and evening classes formed. On account of the lack of equipment we were unable to meet all the demands put upon us. The demands that we have been able to meet and the demands that are still to be met, warrant the prediction that this building was planned none too large.

It is with a great deal of pleasure that I welcome the citizens and taxpayers of Newton to these exercises this evening. It is due to your pride in your city, to your love for the children of Newton, to your faith in your school committee that has made this magnificent school a possibility. The city of Newton recognizes as does no other city more, that her greatest asset is her boys and girls, and that this asset grows greater and stronger depending upon the schools in which these young people are trained.

We have arranged this evening to have a number of boys and girls at work in the shops and laboratories that you might get an insight into the kind of training these pupils are getting during their regular school hours. Such formal school work as class work in English, science, mathematics, etc., is omitted because it could not be successfully or intelligently done upon an occasion like this. I realize that a visitor this evening, after viewing only the technical work, may leave with a wrong impression and misunderstanding as to the character of this school. (Recently a prominent lady in this city expressed surprise upon learning that English was one of the subjects taught here. We hardly dared tell her that French and German were also taught and that there were several classes in Latin! This mistake is a very common one, and I account for it in this way.)

During the past six or eight years much has been said and written about industrial and trade education. Just about the time, three years ago, when the discussion of industrial education was at its height, it was decided to build this Technical High School. The result is that almost daily I meet people in this community who believe that this is an industrial school. This whole problem of industrial education was considered and the committee decided that the pressing need in Newton was not an industrial school, but an extension of the high school. Also that the influence, needs and possibilities of an overcrowded high school could best be met through a new school, technical in character and requiring special equipment in the way of various kinds of shops and laboratories, and known as a technical high school.

A technical high school is one in which the study and practice of the Mechanic Arts and Household Sciences are introduced, along with the other subjects usually found in a high school. These technical subjects are so interwoven into the course of study and so co-ordinated and associated with the other studies, rather than standing as abstract subjects with no relation to the other work.

Drawing, for instance, is made subservient to all the other work of the school. The sewing department wants a monogram for the school table linen that the girls are making. The designing of a monogram becomes a problem in the drawing department. A decoration is wanted on some draperies in the dining room, the drawing room furnishes the design. A poster is wanted to announce an entertainment; again the drawing room prepares the design. Indian clubs, dumbbells, jewel boxes are to be turned out of wood in the wood-turning room; the drawing room must furnish the proper designs and proportions. Can you not see how different a subject drawing becomes when treated in this way. The same is true of much of the other work of the school.

Because a boy studies science in a high school it does not hold that the boy is to become a scientist. If he studies French and German that he is to become a linguist. If the boy studies mechanical operation and runs a machine that he is to become a machinist, or if a girl studies the most scientific methods of conducting household affairs that she is to become a servant. All such work makes for general education and training, broadening one's horizon and not narrowing it. There is a peculiar kind of power and knowledge to be derived from each one of these subjects not found in the other. The work is educational in the broadest sense, offering opportunities and experiences not to be had from books alone. There is also a degree of skill developed in the hand work that makes the work more than an academic subject.

With the advancement of civilization we find science and invention playing an important part. In whatever direction we turn we see evidences of scientific principles and influences shaping man's methods of thought and action. Science is broadening man's outlook and is developing man into an undreamed-of power. These technical high schools are a natural development in our system of education. With an admixture of science, literature, mathematics and technical work in the proper proportions, the school is abreast of the times. It is offering a training to such boys and girls who today would not receive the best development in a purely literary type of school.

The daily doing of needful things with regularity and efficiency is a habit that all high schools are trying to develop within their pupils. The introduction of technical work requiring careful thought, observation and physical effort offers one of the best means of creating this desirable habit. As a by-product, yet none the less important, the boys and girls grow to feel the dignity and importance of honest manual labor—and in turn to enjoy the stimulus that comes from achievement of work well done. This school, offering new opportunities to the boys and girls in the grades will encourage many of them to continue their studies into the high school.

Finally, this type of school is not for all boys and girls, and today an efficient grammar master must do more than simply send a pupil to the high school. He must be capable of advising parents and pupils intelligently, as to the best course for the boy or girl to pursue in one or the other of Newton's high schools.

Dr. C. A. Prosser.

Dr. Prosser said: This is my first appearance before a Massachusetts audience and I feel it an honor to take part in the dedication of this school in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, which excels in the great methods of this country.

I congratulate you upon this splendid building. You may well be proud of it. To me this building means that Newton is to further the future industrial supremacy of Massachusetts and to establish a new center of unlimited power. All through these years she has been able to maintain her place as the leading industrial state of this country. It is wonderful that without natural resources, Massachusetts has been able to do this, taking the cotton from the South, bringing it here to New England and selling it, taking iron from Pennsylvania and finishing it into mechanical devices, and it is astonishing that she is able to take the hide from off the cattle of the West and make of it leather again, and it is this commercialism which is an art and demands trained business workers as it never did before.

In order for a country to have success there are three things necessary to develop skilled industrial life in the future. In the first place, there must be a body of intelligently trained men who are to do the thinking, who are to develop the commercial and mechanical processes. In the second place, there must be a well trained body of workers to serve on these machines and serve well. In the third place the business man who must come to the front and work between the other two great bodies and he must know something about industry. He must know something about machinery, he must know something about commerce. And I take it that this school will be able to turn out well trained men who are competent to come to the front and stand for the industry of the future. They will be one of the saving graces in the industrial competition of the country.

So I congratulate you upon this school because of the industrial age and because of the emphasis that the nation has laid upon industrial judgment, that you have built here a school for this purpose. A school that appeals to the practical type of mind. To one who finds expression in doing, more insight in machinery than he has in abstract theory—to accomplish things by his hands. You have rendered a service that will be to the uplifting of your city, state and country, and whereby you have served, will you be served.

Miss Arnold.

Miss Arnold, dean of Simmons College, said:

It gives me great pleasure to be with you tonight and have been reminded of the story of the man who comes home and tells his wife and children that he has been made a corporal. Soon they are all marching around shouting, "We are corporals," but the mother interrupts and says, "No, children, your father and I are corporals." We all share in this gift of the people of Newton to their children, and I am glad to be with you and be of you tonight.

It has been very evident as we have listened to the wise words that have been spoken so far, that we are thinking mostly of the boys and that must be so, and for that reason I am sure you will think that I am justified if I speak of the girls. I agree heartily in connection with the speakers' prophecy that this school is doing more for the welfare of our boys and girls than we can readily realize. Now it seems to me that we are doing more of that class of work in opening up our Technical High School for boys and girls. We are turning toward that, so far as we can, giving an opportunity to each one in an unsettled stage, and to develop amongst a variety of scholars a variety of trades and help them to lead their better up to be.
